Student Kills Self After Two Are Wounded

Police Mystified By Tragic End Of Frat House Party

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., May 15 (AP)—A blaze of gunfire following an all-night beer party in a University of North Carolina fraternity house today left one student dead and two in the university hospital.

Sheriff Sam T. Latta reported that one student, Putnam Davis Jr., of Larchmont, N.Y., apparently shot William H. Joyner, about 20, of Summit, N.J., and Allen B. Long, 21, of Chevy Chase, Md., and then turned a short-barreled .22 caliber pistol on himself.

The 23-year-old Davis, an art student and the son of a Larchmont manufacturer, was found dead in bed on the third floor of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house, a pistol clutched in his hand.

Police could not explain the triple shooting. They quoted Long, who was shot in the shoulder, as saying Davis started shooting "for no apparent reason" while the three were in the bedroom.

Sheriff Latta said "between 40 and 50 beer cans" were in the room and he quoted other students as saying the three had been drinking beer in the room through the night. Davis had left a date about 1 a.m., the sheriff said.

Joyner was shot in the chest but a surgeon said he would recover if complications do not set in.

Other members of the fraternity were asleep in the three - story house in this tree-shaded university village. One student, Don Harley of Haddonfield, N.J., who roomed on the same floor as Long and Joyner, said he was disturbed by a noise about 7 a.m. but he thought it had been caused by firecrackers and he did not investigate.

Matthew Mason, the fraternity's Negro house boy, found the three students a few minutes later and summoned aid. He said he was on the second floor and heard a voice from upstairs calling, "Come get me, I've been shot."

He found Joyner on a hall floor, Long in the bathroom and Davis dead on a bunk dressed in shirt, trousers and shoes. Police quoted Long as saying that he and Joyner fled the room when the shooting started.

Assassins Slay Second Member Of Narcotics Ring

CHICAGO, May 15 (AP)—Remaining members of an alleged narcotics ring trembled tonight in fear of sudden death.

Two of the group have been cut down by slayers who rode with them in automobile and fired from the back seat.

Frank Coduto, 47, was killed last night, as he told police he would be.

Anthony Pape, 40, alleged leader of the ring, was fatally wounded and his brother James, 36, was killed April 10 as they rode in the front seat of James' car. James was a postal employe and apparently had no connection with the ring, investigators said.

Police said they have no clue to the slayers, who are believed to be syndicate gangsters anxious to force the ring out of the narcotics racket.

Anthony Sperna, 34, under indictment as a member of the ring, told police today, "I wouldn't ride in a car with my own brother-in-law after this. I'm scared."

Sperna, oseph Iaculio, 34 and Anthony Ponzi, 38, have been threatened with death, police said.

The five men were among 11 indicted last month by a federal grand jury on charges of possession, concealment and sale of heroin and with the sale of counterfeit money.

Bond Issues, Gambling, Public Welfare Now In Legislative Spotlight

BATON ROUGE, May 15 (AP)—The Louisiana Legislature starts its second week Monday night with bond issues, gambling and public welfare already raising storm flags.

Board Recommends:

$150 Million In Yearly Benefits For Rail Workers

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP) — A presidential board today recommended that the nation's railroads give a million rail workers welfare, vacation and holiday benefits worth 150 million dollars a year.

The workers involved are clerks, yard, maintenance, construction and other non operating employees.

The board, named by President Eisenhower to head off a possible nationwide strike during the last Christmas holidays, turned down the 15 unions, most of them affiliated with the AFL, on a number of other requests and granted a half dozen employer demands.

The board, headed by former Chief Justice Charles Loring of the Minnesota Supreme Court, estimated in its report filed at the White House that the cost of its settlement recommendations would be equal to a seven- or eight-cent hourly wage increase. No pay boost demands were involved in the case.

The estimated worth of the board proposals about equals the average of what unions in other industries have been getting from employers in collective bargaining. It is also similar costwise to wage settlements recently negotiated by the railroads for most of their 250,000 operating employees — those who run the trains.

For the nonoperating employes the board recommended:

1. Medical, hospital and surgical care insurance jointly paid for by workers and employers. Details were left to be negotiated, "with reasonable limits on benefits." The unions had asked for an employer-paid plan covering workers and their families, but the families are not included in the board recommendation.

2. An extra week of vacation. The board recommended three weeks' vacation after 15 years service, compared with the present maximum two weeks. The unions had asked for four.

Welfare took the spotlight the first week, brushing aside the much-heralded right to work bill as a major springboard of controversy.

Gambling also shoved into the headlines on the strength of public bribery charges filed by state Police Supt. Francis Grevemberg against alleged gamblers and two bills aimed at night racing and race track gambling.

But none of the expected legislation to restrict state police activities to the highways was introduced.

The right to work bill also was not submitted in the first week.

A resolution-opposing any downward revision in the old age assistance program—swept through the House Tuesday by a better than two to one margin.

In the Senate the following day, it met tougher going and was referred to committee by a 20-15 vote.

In both houses the resolution stirred stormy debate. It was aimed primarily at blocking family responsibility and lien and recovery laws recommended by the Public Affairs Research Council, which made an extensive study of the welfare program, and the state Board of Public Welfare.

J. B. Carpenter And Dale Paul Pinned In Craft

Large Crowd Sees Publicity Stunt End In Tragedy

JENA, May 15 (Special)—Two Jena men were killed today when the light plane they were using to release guinea hens as a publicity stunt apparently developed mechanical trouble and crashed about a block from the main business district here.

Dead are J. B. Carpenter, 36, drygoods store operator and owner of the plane, and Dale Paul, 27, oilfield worker and pilot of the ill-fated craft.

Carpenter and Paul were flying over the town dropping out the guinea hens, each of which had a tag tied to one of its legs which was worth so much on purchase of merchandise at a sale Carpenter was having at his store.

Eyewitnesses to the crash said the plane developed "some kind of trouble" and made a tight turn to get away from the town. It was seen to "side-slip" and dive into a vacant lot behind the Jena First Baptist Church.

The plane hit the ground about 50 feet from the home of I. N. Cooper, who was in his yard at the time. Cooper said the plane's motor was still going when it crashed but there was no fire. Hundreds of persons who were in town doing Saturday shopping, rushed to the scene and volunteers pulled the two men out of the wreckage.

Both were badly mangled. Carpenter apparently died instantly, and Paul died a short time after reaching the hospital. Carpenter was said to have died of a broken neck and internal injuries.

LaSalle Parish corner, Dr. F. A. Thomas of Urania, held an informal inquest at the crash scene, but no statements were issued on its outcome.

Both men were veterans of World War II. Carpenter was chairman of the airport committee of the Jena Chamber of Commerce and had led in the establishment of Jena's municipal airport, which was opened for use about six months ago.

Carpenter is survived by his wife and three daughters, Juane, 13, Jo Marline, 8, and Brenda, 5. Paul is survived by his wife and two daughters, one three and one two years old.

Carpenter appeared on a Monroe television station Friday evening, where he displayed a seven-pound bass, frozen in ice, that he had caught on a fishing trip.

Funeral arrangements Saturday night were incomplete, but will be handled by the Kinner-Stevens Funeral Home of Jena.

Army-McCarthy Row

Refusal To Bare Details Of Secret Meeting Expected

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—A high Republican official predicted today the Eisenhower administration will stick by its refusal to bare details of a Jan. 21 Cabinet-level conference that paved the way for Army charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The official, who asked that he not be named, said he expects the refusal to bring a fight with Democrats on the Senate subcommittee investigating Army accusations that McCarthy and his aides sought favored military treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former consultant.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) and other Democrats have demanded full information about the conference, attended by Atty. Gen. Brownell, Deputy Atty. Gen. William Rogers, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, White House chief of staff Sherman Adams, presidential assistant Gerald Morgan and Army counselor John G. Adams.

John Adams testified that at the meeting, held in Brownell's office, Sherman Adams suggested he put in writing incidents of alleged pressure by McCarthy and his aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, to get favors for Schine. From this chronology later developed the Army's formal charges against the McCarthy group.

McCarthy, who has charged Secretary of the Army Stevens and John Adams with holding Schine as a "hostage" in an effort to halt an investigation of alleged Communists in the Army, has called for the "complete story" of what happened at the meeting.

A Republican official said he expects the administration to stand on the grounds that executive department business was being discussed and refuse to permit John Adams to detail it.

There was a feeling among some administration officials that President Eisenhower might issue a pronouncement asserting what these officials called the prerogatives of the executive branch. In their view, the operations of the executive branch could be hamstrung if Congress could inquire into details of conferences leading up to decisions.

They said they recognized the right of Congress to know about decisions, and inquire into the broad justification for them, but they held that it was beyond the power of the legislative branch to ask who said what at conferences leading up to the decisions.

On the other hand, Democrats on the subcommittee took the view that John Adams himself introduced the subject of the high level meeting, and that having done so there was no justification for withholding a full account, which might be favorable to one side or the other in the McCarthy-Army row.

The Army counselor has been ordered to produce before the subcommittee Monday a written version of oral orders he said he got from Acting Secretary of Defense Robert B. Anderson not to go further into the conference story. The orders aparently came to Anderson from higher up.

France Sending 3 Top Generals To Indo-China

PARIS, May 15 (AP)—France ordered three of her top generals to Indochina today to build a new strategy to meet the expected onslaught of Vietminh troops spurred by their victory at Dien Bien Phu.

The decision was announced by the National Defense Council after a two-day session in which the whole problem of Indochina, political and military, was reviewed under the chairmanship of Premier Joseph Laniel.

Heading the trio will be Gen. Paul Ely, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. With him will go Gen. Raoul Salan, former commander in Indochina, and Gen. Pierre Pelissier, deputy chief of staff for air.

They will leave tomorrow in the hopes of pulling together a new defense scheme to meet any threat posed by the swing about of the four Communist-led Vietminh divisions which took Dien Bien Phu last week and now are free for new arenas.

A major aim of the new program will be to organize the defense of Indochina so decisively that its effect will be obvious in Geneva to th. Communist powers now negotiating with the West over terms for bringing peace in Indochina.

Precisely what line the new strategy will take may be decided on the spot by the three generals in consultation with Gen. Henri Navarre, now in command in Indochina. More likely, it was indicated in informed quarters here, the three generals would make a thorough but quick study of the problem and return to Paris for consultation before putting their plans into motion.

Ranking Officer's Resignation Sparks Hot Controversy

The board of directors of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation has called for the resignation of L. D. Young, Jr., chairman of the state-operated Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

The action came by vote at a statewide, four and one-half hour business meeting of the Federation's board of directors in Alexandria Friday afternoon, at which Larry Louviere, president of the Federation, announced in anger that he was resigning because the vote was taken.

Louviere, chairman of the meeting, stalked from the chair as soon as the votes were counted. He had protested the vote was too hasty an action.

J. B. Thoman, publicity chairman for the Ouachita parish chapter of the Wildlife Federation, revealed the board of directors' decision here Saturday. Young could not be contacted for comment following the meeting, Thoman said.

The decision followed, he said, a stormy session among the directors over the resignation of Col. C. E. Smith, former commission enforcement officer who resigned in Monroe April 27 after charging Young used political pressure to hurt Smith's enforcement policy.

The vote was taken on a resolution presented by the St. Tammany Sportsmen's Club of Slidell, of which Smith is a member, and Walter Cranfield of New Roads offered the motion for adoption of the resolution.

Clifton Bridgeman of New Orleans, supporting the measure, cited the re-opening of Lake Pontchartrain to commercial trawlers as a result of political pressure.

Smith said it was reopened after

All Moves In Korean War Directed By Russia, Says Pentagon 'White Paper'

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—The Pentagon accused Russia today of definitely masterminding the Korean War. It also said Russia put 6,000 to 12,000 troops into Korea in advance of the armistice and still controls the North Korean government through Soviet citizens.

U. S. And France Say Reds Violate Evacuation Pact

GENEVA, May 15 — UP— The United States and France accused the Communist bloc Saturday of attempting to break the Dien Bien Phu wounded evacuation agreement and to use it as a screen for a possible military drive on Hanoi.

An East-West exchange of notes disclosed that the U. S. and France accused the Communists of trying to break the only agreement reached in the first three weeks of the Asiatic peace conference.

The charges were contained in notes from U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary of State Anthony Eden. Molotov and Eden are co-chairman of the nine-nation Indo-China peace talks.

The U. S. and France accused the Communist Viet Minh of breaking their word not to discriminate against the Viet Nam wounded in the evacuation of the fallen Indo-China fortress.

The French letter referred to a Red rebel demand that all French air attacks or observation of colonial Route 41 be halted for the period of evacuation.

That is the road over which the Communists would shift from Dien Bien Phu the men and materials needed for their expected new offenive against the Red River delta and Hanoi.

The evacuation might take from two weeks to a month — enough for a major shift of Communist armed strength.

"I am informed that there are no Viet Namese among the first group designated for release," Smith wrote.

The charges were leveled in a series of documents, in the nature of a White Paper, which the Defense Department said were based on "intelligence research and examination of many sources of information."

The timing, the content and the fact that it was the Pentagon which released the documents appeared to be an obvious effort to draw a parallel between Soviet activity in Korea and Chinese Communist operations in Indochina.

One document was captioned "The Truth About Soviet Involvement in The Korean War." Another was entitled "Chinese Communist Aggression and Barbarism in Korea."

A third, "Soviet Assistance to North Korean Forces Subsequent to 1948," was a catalog of Russian-made equipment stockpiled in North Korea before the Korean Reds attacked the Republic of

Rattler Strikes Artificial Leg Of Ferriday Man

FERRIDAY, May 15. (Special) —"Don't move! Don't move!" Vernon Traxler heard his Negro helper say as they were fixing fence on the back of Windmere plantation lat Friday. Traxler looked down and discovered that he was standing on a rattlesnake with his left foot.

The snake was viciously biting the left pants leg. Traxler spread his legs apart as far as he could to keep the right leg and foot out of reach of the snake, and the helper cut off the snake's head with an axe.

The rattler was about two and one-half feet long and had two rattles and a button.

Traxler is a World War II veteran and due to wound received in service, has an artificial left leg. It was because of this fact that he was able to hold the snake down with his left foot (even though it was biting the artificial leg) until his helper could kill it with an axe.

The Windmere plantation is located between Ferriday and Lake St. John, and Traxler said that rattle snakes are not at all unusual here, but that this is the first time he had ever stepped on one.

2 Newsboys Hurt When Scooter Hits Automobile

A 15-year-old newspaper delivery boy suffered a broken leg early Saturday morning when his motor scooter collided with a parked car on Park avenue, and a 12-year-old delivery boy riding with him suffered minor injuries to his leg.

Billy Young of 1608 North 4th street, driver of the motor scooter, suffered the broken leg, and possibly other injuries. He was being held in St. Francis Sanitarium later Saturday, after being taken there by a Mulhearn funeral home ambulance.

The 12-year-old boy, Ralph Fryday of the Garnier Apartments, was also taken to the hospital but released after treatment of a bruised leg.

According to investigating Sgt. J. E. Martin, the accident apparently happened when Young drove his motor scooter out of a driveway at 1053 Park avenue about 6:45 a.m. and crashed into a car parked at the curb. The car was owned by Jackie Voorhees of that address.

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—A high Republican official predicted today the Eisenhower administration will stick by its refusal to bare details of a Jan. 21 Cabinet-level conference that paved the way for Army charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The official, who asked that he not be named, said he expects the refusal to bring a fight with Democrats on the Senate subcommittee investigating Army accusations that McCarthy and his aides sought favored military treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former consultant.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) and other Democrats have demanded full information about the conference, attended by Atty. Gen. Brownell, Deputy Atty. Gen. John Adams testified that at the meeting, held in Brownell's office, Sherman Adams suggested he put in writing incidents of alleged pressure by McCarthy and his aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, to get favors for Schine. From this chronology later developed the Army's formal charges against the McCarthy group.

McCarthy, who has charged Secretary of the Army Stevens and John Adams with holding Schine as a "hostage" in an effort to halt an investigation of alleged Communists in the Army, has called for the "complete story" of what happened at the meeting.

A Republican official said he expects the administration to stand on the grounds that executive department business was being discussed and refuse to permit John Adams to detail it.

There was a feeling among some administration officials that President Eisenhower might issue a pronouncement asserting what these officials called the prerogatives of the executive branch. In their view, the operations of the executive branch could be hamstrung if Congress could inquire into details of conferences leading up to decisions.

They said they recognized the right of Congress to know about decisions, and inquire into the broad justification for them, but they held that it was beyond the power of the legislative branch to ask who said what at conferences leading up to the decisions.

On the other hand, Democrats on the subcommittee took the view that John Adams himself introduced the subject of the high level meeting, and that having done so there was no justification for withholding a full account, which might be favorable to one side or the other in the McCarthy-Army row.

The Army counselor has been ordered to produce before the subcommittee Monday a written version of oral orders he said he got from Acting Secretary of Defense Robert B. Anderson not to go further into the conference story. The orders aparently came to Anderson from higher up.

J. B. Carpenter And Dale Paul Pinned In Craft

JENA, May 15 (Special)—Two Jena men were killed today when the light plane they were using to release guinea hens as a publicity stunt apparently developed mechanical trouble and crashed about a block from the main business district here.

Dead are J. B. Carpenter, 36, drygoods store operator and owner of the plane, and Dale Paul, 27, oilfield worker and pilot of the ill-fated craft.

Carpenter and Paul were flying over the town dropping out the guinea hens, each of which had a tag tied to one of its legs which was worth so much on purchase of merchandise at a sale Carpenter was having at his store.

Eyewitnesses to the crash said the plane developed "some kind of trouble" and made a tight turn to get away from the town. It was seen to "side-slip" and dive into a vacant lot behind the Jena First Baptist Church.

The plane hit the ground about 50 feet from the home of I. N. Cooper, who was in his yard at the time. Cooper said the plane's motor was still going when it crashed but there was no fire. Hundreds of persons who were in town doing Saturday shopping, rushed to the scene and volunteers pulled the two men out of the wreckage.

Both were badly mangled. Carpenter apparently died instantly, and Paul died a short time after reaching the hospital. Carpenter was said to have died of a broken neck and internal injuries.

LaSalle Parish corner, Dr. F. A. Thomas of Urania, held an informal inquest at the crash scene, but no statements were issued on its outcome.

Both men were veterans of World War II. Carpenter was chairman of the airport committee of the Jena Chamber of Commerce and had led in the establishment of Jena's municipal airport, which was opened for use about six months ago.

Carpenter is survived by his wife and three daughters, Juane, 13, Jo Marline, 8, and Brenda, 5. Paul is survived by his wife and two daughters, one three and one two years old.

Carpenter appeared on a Monroe television station Friday evening, where he displayed a seven-pound bass, frozen in ice, that he had caught on a fishing trip.

Funeral arrangements Saturday night were incomplete, but will be handled by the Kinner-Stevens Funeral Home of Jena.

France Sending 3 Top Generals To Indo-China

PARIS, May 15 (AP)—France ordered three of her top generals to Indochina today to build a new strategy to meet the expected onslaught of Vietminh troops spurred by their victory at Dien Bien Phu.

The decision was announced by the National Defense Council after a two-day session in which the whole problem of Indochina, political and military, was reviewed under the chairmanship of Premier Joseph Laniel.

Heading the trio will be Gen. Paul Ely, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. With him will go Gen. Raoul Salan, former commander in Indochina, and Gen. Pierre Pelissier, deputy chief of staff for air.

They will leave tomorrow in the hopes of pulling together a new defense scheme to meet any threat posed by the swing about of the four Communist-led Vietminh divisions which took Dien Bien Phu last week and now are free for new arenas.

A major aim of the new program will be to organize the defense of Indochina so decisively that its effect will be obvious in Geneva to the Communist powers now negotiating with the West over terms for bringing peace in Indochina.

Precisely what line the new strategy will take may be decided on the spot by the three generals in consultation with Gen. Henri Navarre, now in command in Indochina. More likely, it was indicated in informed quarters here, the three generals would make a thorough but quick study of the problem and return to Paris for consultation before putting their plans into motion.

Fisheries Director Asked To Resign

Ranking Officer's Resignation Sparks Hot Controversy

The board of directors of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation has called for the resignation of L. D. Young, Jr., chairman of the state-operated Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

The action came by vote at a statewide, four and one-half hour business meeting of the Federation's board of directors in Alexandria Friday afternoon, at which Larry Louviere, president of the Federation, announced in anger that he was resigning because the vote was taken.

Louviere, chairman of the meeting, stalked from the chair as soon as the votes were counted. He had protested the vote was too hasty an action.

J. B. Thoman, publicity chairman for the Ouachita parish chapter of the Wildlife Federation, revealed the board of directors' decision here Saturday. Young could not be contacted for comment following the meeting, Thoman said.

The decision followed, he said, a stormy session among the directors over the resignation of Col. C. E. Smith, former commission enforcement officer who resigned in Monroe April 27 after charging Young used political pressure to hurt Smith's enforcement policy.

The vote was taken on a resolution presented by the St. Tammany Sportsmen's Club of Slidell, of which Smith is a member, and Walter Cranfield of New Roads offered the motion for adoption of the resolution.

Clifton Bridgeman of New Orleans, supporting the measure, cited the re-opening of Lake Ponchartrain to commercial trawlers as a result of political pressure.

Smith said it was reopened after

All Moves In Korean War Directed By Russia, Says Pentagon 'White Paper'

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—The Pentagon accused Russia today of definitely masterminding the Korean War. It also said Russia put 6,000 to 12,000 troops into Korea in advance of the armistice and still controls the North Korean government through Soviet citizens.

U. S. And France Say Reds Violate Evacuation Pact

GENEVA, May 15 — UP— The United States and France accused the Communist bloc Saturday of attempting to break the Dien Bien Phu wounded evacuation agreement and to use it as a screen for a possible military drive on Hanoi.

An East-West exchange of notes disclosed that the U. S. and France accused the Communists of trying to break the only agreement reached in the first three weeks of the Asiatic peace conference.

The charges were contained in notes from U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary of State Anthony Eden. Molotov and Eden are co-chairman of the nine-nation Indo-China peace talks.

The U. S. and France accused the Communist Viet Minh of breaking their word not to discriminate against the Viet Nam wounded in the evacuation of the fallen Indo-China fortress.

The French letter referred to a Red rebel demand that all French air attacks or observation of colonial Route 41 be halted for the period of evacuation.

That is the road over which the Communists would shift from Dien Bien Phu the men and materials needed for their expected new offenive against the Red River delta and Hanoi.

The evacuation might take from two weeks to a month — enough for a major shift of Communist armed strength.

"I am informed that there are no Viet Namese among the first group designated for release," Smith wrote.

The charges were leveled in a series of documents, in the nature of a White Paper, which the Defense Department said were based on "intelligence research and examination of many sources of information."

The timing, the content and the fact that it was the Pentagon which released the documents appeared to be an obvious effort to draw a parallel between Soviet activity in Korea and Chinese Communist operations in Indochina.

One document was captioned "The Truth About Soviet Involvement in The Korean War." Another was entitled "Chinese Communist Aggression and Barbarism in Korea."

A third, "Soviet Assistance to North Korean Forces Subsequent to 1948," was a catalog of Russian-made equipment stockpiled in North Korea before the Korean Reds attacked the Republic of

Rattler Strikes Artificial Leg Of Ferriday Man

FERRIDAY, May 15. (Special)—"Don't move! Don't move!" Vernon Traxler heard his Negro helper say as they were fixing fence on the back of Windmere plantation lat Friday. Traxler looked down and discovered that he was standing on a rattlesnake with his left foot.

The snake was viciously biting the left pants leg. Traxler spread his legs apart as far as he could to keep the right leg and foot out of reach of the snake, and the helper cut off the snake's head with an axe.

The rattler was about two and one-half feet long and had two rattles and a button.

Traxler is a World War II veteran and due to wound received in service, has an artificial left leg. It was because of this fact that he was able to hold the snake down with his left foot (even though it was biting the artificial leg) until his helper could kill it with an axe.

The Windmere plantation is located between Ferriday and Lake St. John, and Traxler said that rattle snakes are not at all unusual here, but that this is the first time he had ever stepped on one.

2 Newsboys Hurt When Scooter Hits Automobile

A 15-year-old newspaper delivery boy suffered a broken leg early Saturday morning when his motor scooter collided with a parked car on Park avenue, and a 12-year-old delivery boy riding with him suffered minor injuries to his leg.

Billy Young of 1608 North 4th street, driver of the motor scooter, suffered the broken leg, and possibly other injuries. He was being held in St. Francis Sanitarium later Saturday, after being taken there by a Mulhearn funeral home ambulance.

The 12-year-old boy, Ralph Fryday of the Garnier Apartments, was also taken to the hospital but released after treatment of a bruised leg.

According to investigating Sgt. J. E. Martin, the accident apparently happened when Young drove his motor scooter out of a driveway at 1053 Park avenue about 6:45 a.m. and crashed into a car parked at the curb. The car was owned by Jackie Voorhees of that address.

Envoys Of 14 Nations Watch Display Of Aerial Might At Keesler Base

BILOXI, Miss., May 15 (AP)—Major phases of flight and aerial operations were exhibited today as some 50,000 visitors crowded the flight line to help Keesler Air Force Base celebrate Armed Forces Day.

A warm sunny day greeted the visitors in the morning session, but the afternoon cooled as heavy clouds darkened the sky. But visibility was good throughout.

Jet planes zoomed the length of the flight line and shot high into the cloudy sky before the sound reverberated across the field. They demonstrated strafing runs, rolls, vertical climbs, speed reverses and just plain fast flying.

Men and women from every branch of the service mingled with visitors from several states as the air base, almost dwarfed by giant hangars, triple - decked barracks and the expanse of concrete that formed the landing field.

Other aircraft showed how Navy planes land on a carrier's deck at sea. A helicopter bobbed up and down over the field, scooting back and forth and just hovering a few feet above the runway. A flying boxcar parachuted equipment.

Three B-17s, flying fortresses of World War II fame, soared by in formation. One B-17 was a drone, a pilotless plane maneuvered by remote control.

In a morning session, Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, commanding general, introduced Maj. Gen. W. P. Wilson, adjutant of the Mississippi National Guard, who delivered the speech for Gov. Hugh White who was unable to attend.

Wilson said United States military forces "are in the hands of the greatest leaders in the world" and have the power to retaliate many fold any blow that may be struck against them.

Immediately after the address, 12 thousand men and women from all branches of the service marched in review.

They included Air Force, Navy Seabees, Naval Air Cadets, Soldiers, Marines, Coast Guard and National Guard personnel.

Ambulances stood by in case the marchers fell out because of the sun, heat and long stand before marching. But few fainted and the long review went off without a hitch.

Immense hangars were filled with standing displays of the various functions of the Air Base and personnel stood by to answer questions of the thousands of visitors.

The second annual Fine Arts Festival, weather permitting, will be staged in Forsythe Park this afternoon, 2 to 6 p.m. and a large attendance is anticipated by the three local organizations, the Northeast Louisiana League of Artists, the North Louisiana Chapter of American Pen Women and the Monroe Little Theatre.

One of the highlights of the afternoon will be an outdoor concert by the 48 piece Rayville High School band, from 4 until 5 p.m. The concert band under the direction of Duane J. Bowen, has given the local public some of the world's greatest music in several concerts this season. Jena To Hold 2nd Primary On May 18th

JENA, May 15 (Special) — The citizens of Jena will go to the polls Tuesday, May 18 in the second Democratic primary to choose between Nick Edwards and E. W. Plummer as mayor of Jena for the next four years.

Edwards ran ahead of Plummer in the first primary on April 13 but failed to poll sufficient votes to win the three-man race.

The candidates will seek the post being vacated by P. S. Gaharan, Jr., who did not run for re-election.

In the first round of voting, an all-new five - man board of aldermen was named by the voters, consisting of M. F. Humphries, C. A. McCartney, Bill Bridges, Virgil Terral and J. A. Hodges.

Clyde S. Richardson, incumbent town marshal, won a second term by default when Dee Taylor, second high man in the first round of voting, withdrew from the runoff. Richardson had led the five-man race in the initial poll but did not have sufficient strength to win over the combined votes of the other four candidates. Taylor's withdrawal from the runoff automatically gave the post to Richardson.

With all five of the council members new to their jobs, and Jena also assured a new mayor, the future for Jena, in the opinion of many observers, looks bright. No "tickets" made the race in Jena and all men elected to the council have asserted their independence from cliques or factions.

Edwards, a member of the council for the past eight years, is the only "holdover" from former administrations.

Plummer, who retired at the end of this school year as LaSalle parish visiting teacher, has long been active in civic projects affecting not only Jena and LaSalle parish but the entire central Louisiana area.

A virtual 100 per cent turnout of voters for the runoff election May 18 is assured. Polls in the parish courthouse will be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. Voting machines will not be used in this election.

Jena To Hold 2nd Primary On May 18th

JENA, May 15 (Special) — The citizens of Jena will go to the polls Tuesday, May 18 in the second Democratic primary to choose between Nick Edwards and E. W. Plummer as mayor of Jena for the next four years.

Edwards ran ahead of Plummer in the first primary on April 13 but failed to poll sufficient votes to win the three-man race.

The candidates will seek the post being vacated by P. S. Gaharan, Jr., who did not run for re-election.

In the first round of voting, an all-new five - man board of aldermen was named by the voters, consisting of M. F. Humphries, C. A. McCartney, Bill Bridges, Virgil Terral and J. A. Hodges.

Clyde S. Richardson, incumbent town marshal, won a second term by default when Dee Taylor, second high man in the first round of voting, withdrew from the runoff. Richardson had led the five-man race in the initial poll but did not have sufficient strength to win over the combined votes of the other four candidates. Taylor's withdrawal from the runoff automatically gave the post to Richardson.

With all five of the council members new to their jobs, and Jena also assured a new mayor, the future for Jena, in the opinion of many observers, looks bright. No "tickets" made the race in Jena and all men elected to the council have asserted their independence from cliques or factions.

Edwards, a member of the council for the past eight years, is the only "holdover" from former administrations.

Plummer, who retired at the end of this school year as LaSalle parish visiting teacher, has long been active in civic projects affecting not only Jena and LaSalle parish but the entire central Louisiana area.

A virtual 100 per cent turnout of voters for the runoff election May 18 is assured. Polls in the parish courthouse will be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. Voting machines will not be used in this election.

American Louisiana plans to build a 1,300-mile pipeline system costing about $130 million to supply natural gas to Michigan-Wisconsin and Michigan Consolidated. Texas Gas is in the role of a supplier.

We Are Grateful For The Remarkable Growth Our Customers Have Made Possible

A year ago today we opened our doors on a new banking era to be marked by service to our customers and a sincere feeling of responsibility to the community we serve.

We have held to this philosophy in all our dealings with individuals, civic groups, religious organizations, public bodies and business firms. Each group, in turn, has shown its appreciation for this new banking service by making it possible for us to double our initial deposits and then redouble them again in only 12 months. Such overwhelming reception to a new bank—conceived in service and dedicated to progress—is deeply and sincerely appreciated by the officers, directors and employes. This first year has been wonderful for us, and we pledge our continued efforts to provide our customers and our community with unexcelled banking service in the years to come.

Seek To Hasten Old River Anti-Diversion Work

WASHINGTON —UP— Eight Louisiana congressmen have joined forces to speed authorization on measures preventing the threatened diversion of the Mississippi River into Old River.

The project ultimately would result in closure of Old River and constructing a navigation channel linking the Mississippi with the Atchafalaya River below Old River.

Under the plan, the diversion of waters from the Mississippi into the Atchafalaya via Old River would be limited by control structures to its present flow.

Army engineers predict that, unless control measures are instituted the flow of the Mississippi will be diverted entirely into the Atchafalaya between 1965 and 1970, leaving cities below the juncture high and dry.

1. Appearance of all Louisiana legislators before a hearing which will be urged for the latter part of this month.

2. Issuance of invitations to witnesses to present evidence before the House public works committee by Rep. Otto Passman, member of the House Appropriations committee and president of the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Association.

4. Arranging a conference with public works committee chairman George Dondero on public hearings.

The Scheme Of Things

It is hard for many people to realize that decisions made today will vitally affect the very scheme or shape of things to come for many years. Indeed, in years gone by, there were other seemingly important decisions made but none were drawn in the shadow of complete and total destruction.

Years ago, men believed that the destruction of the weapon which was gunpowder would be complete and total. Even later, it was thought that posion gas would render total annihilation. The human race on other occasions has thought itself capable of complete extinction. Never before however, has the real threat been so great and so awe inspiring. The human race is attempting to master the secrets known before only to God.

Now, the same secrets are in the hands of a religion which not only denies God but is working each day and night in an attempt to destroy his believers who make the "mistake" of believing that they are individuals destined by Him to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. That which opposes the American people and the free world today militantly believes that its "heaven" is on the Earth and that there is no individual, the people being parts of the state.

Unfortunately, in these trying times, some leaders of this Republic cannot recognize all facets of the Marxian religion and take a shortsighted view of the entire situation. A glance at the present picture will clearly demonstrate the truth behind the above statement. The free world has recently suffered the loss of an obscure fort in Indo-China. It is reported that ten thousand good German and Moroccan troops were lost along with the gallant French commander, Christian DeCastries a man who refused to recognize defeat.

Instead of aligning together in a weapon of great magnitude, the French and British governments still are divided and still believe that the United States is herding them to war. The British still believe that they can become economic masters in the Orient while the French are hoping to cling to some small part of their empire in days when empires are no more, when they are crumbling into the dust which marks the pages of history. The United States which has poured millions upon millions of dollars into the bottomless pit of European "unity", find that the dollars have apparently been lost. Only one nation in Europe is ready to defend itself from the coming onslaught and that one is Germany.

The Communists are past and present masters at the art of divide and conquer. They realize that success can be attained without a single Russian shot being fired. The American people find that terrible casualties are not always the means of a victory as they used to be. Two years ago, the American voters threw out the Democrat administration in the belief, factual and correct, that that administration and its immediate predecessors, had been the cause of bringing the Republic to the brink of destruction. They hoped upon hope that the changes would be made in time to save the Republic from the attacks both from within and without.

Unfortunately, it would be erroneous to state clearly that even many of these changes have been made. Foreign nations still maintain the same degree of influence in the national capitol which existed under administrations beginning in 1933. In fact, it would appear that the British are even more influential than ever before. It is generally recognized that they are strongly opposed to intervention in the Asian war by either President Rhee or Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek even though these are two individuals possessed of great hatred of anything connected with Communism.

What does all this mean?

A study of ancient and contemporary history will demonstrate that empires, civilizations and kingdoms which once were great have fallen, marked only by once proud antiquities, the subjects for present day archaeological research. The great leaders and kings of the world are marked today by shriveled mummies and decayed dust. Pomp and circumstance are remembered by the scratches on paper and the etchings on the pages of time.

Oswald Spengler, a recorder of what once was, and what might be in the future said that all civilizations were related to one another. He asserted that the history of a given civilization could be measured by a comparison with the calendar of the Christian year. Each civilization has at one point, greatly resembled others. Each has suffered the same type of decline, the same order of destruction.

Spengler was a realist. He was one of the first to actually state that Western life was in the "late autumn" or "early winter" of its life. A careful consideration will indeed demonstrate that the Western order is rapidly decaying into a state of the mob, its moral disintegration pointedly marked for the examination of the adroit. If Spengler, and he was not the only one, was correct, can there be an overturning of traditional history of the life cycle of human evolution?

The leaders of the free world, and especially of the United States, are not showing any great ability to change these things. Does the scheme of things, designed by the greatest architect known to the human race, include the destruction and the disintegration of the Western civilization, now dying at its own hands? Only God, the greatest planner, knows. Indeed, it would appear that hopes of a great people, marked by what is generally termed "progress," have been shattered.

The plans being made in these days will mark the trend of things to come for many years. If these plans are not successful, even the barest traces of this civilization will be lost. All history, at least, as regards this earth will be lost. What is the scheme of things to come? Will history, tradition and a type of human evolution be overturned and changed?

The next few years will strike the trail of the future of the human race.

Tensas Parish

The legends of the past, mixed with those of the present, are a paramount fixture of the history of Tensas parish.

In order to trace the growth of the old parish one must consider her heritages to view the overall picture of what is today. Her heritages were of strong, wise and untiring forefathers who carved from the dense region an area devoted to the graces as well as fundamentals of life. Standing today are many of the old homes built in the 1800's which have been preserved through the years as standing landmarks.

Today Tensas Parish can boast of modern farms, well equipped schools, beautiful religious structures and citizens who take an active part in the well being of their communities. Within the parish there are three principal towns. Newellton, St. Joseph and Waterproof are each thriving communities with progressive leaders looking toward the future instead of contentment with the present.

Natural resources in abundance can be found in Tensas as well as areas classified as "havens" for the hunter and fisherman. Natural resources include oil, natural gas, immense tracts of timber as well as some of the best agricultural land in the state. The sportsman's havens are so near perfect that each year thousands of visitors flock to Tensas parish to indulge in their favorite pastimes.

A mark of pride can be found in each Tensas parish citizen as he speaks of his home. This pride is carried wherever the citizen goes and thus throughout the state Tensas is well-known by people of all areas.

The Governor And Safety

Some days ago, Governor Robert Kennon held a highway safety conference in the state capitol. It was more than "well attended," it was a spontaneous demonstration registering the fears of some 800 people in Louisiana as regards the safety on the highways of this state.

Moreover, it was a marked show of determination by almost 800 citizens to do something about the slaughtergrounds which are the highways. As such, the conference got underway with great enthusiasm with an invocation to God that the citizens present be empowered by the Almighty to go home and help the situation.

The Governor himself gave a very concise picture of the casualty rate in Louisiana, a rate which should throw worry into even the most "fearless" of drivers. The Governor's Highway Safety Conference can be considered a success even if it only brought attention to the troubles at hand. However, it did more than that, it offered a concrete platform on which the delegates could rest their case and on which they could return home and take action.

Highway safety is only as good as drivers make it. It would be easy for Governor Kennon and the State Police to change the present picture. The state police could don civilian clothes, drive unmarked automobiles, have a radar set under each fender and hide behind every sign post. However, that would only serve to fill the jails of Louisiana. Would any permanent good have been done?

Some states think yes, others say no.

The State of Washington has sharply decreased its accident and death rate by the use of every available means of detection of violators. It employs helicopters, radar, hidden police and fearful fines in an attempt to get the problem settled. As a result, there are fewer accidents and deaths.

It is the hope of the Louisiana governor to avoid such drastic processes but he will not be able to much longer if the thoughts of the average delegate can be used as an implement of measure. There are several methods short of drastic which could be used. The first is an educational program designed for both adults and juveniles. It was suggested that the State Department of Education give actual high school credit for a course in safety and driving technique. It was also suggested that the police in every community establish driving schools for offenders with their driving permits held until a successful completion of the course could be attained. It was suggested that newspapers and radio stations use every available method to bring safety before the public.

A complete list of resolutions was drawn up and will be presented to the people in the very near future in this column.

All in all, the Governor's Highway Safety Conference was a good one. It was useful and beneficial to all who attended and was a step forward by Governor Kennon, one of the first Louisiana governors to adopt such an attitude toward the safety of the people of his state who use the highways. The Governor, Colonel Owen, Colonel Grevemburg and Mr. Charles Hargroder worked hard to insure the success of the conference. To them, and to all the other state officials who took such a part, should go a vote of thanks from all the people.

If the Governor's Safety Conference was able to help safety in this state even a "little bit," it was worth all the efforts employed to attain that end.

The New Orleans Police And Courtesy

Many times, the people in the Twin Cities are prone to see greener pastures on the other side of some other fence. As regards the police of these communities, folks are always complaining of their "attitude" toward the public. A letter, as a matter of fact, a telephone call, received in this office last week by an irate citizen should awaken many thoughts of a people who take the usually courteous Monroe and West Monroe police for granted.

The telephone call was followed by a letter giving complete descriptions of a situation which, if allowed to continue, will eventually hurt the City of New Orleans. New Orleans prides itself on being a "tourist" city. Great exhibitions are annually held to lure tourists from all over the nation. The competition is nevertheless, growing keen. Mississippi, Florida, Texas, California, the Mountain states and others including the West Indies are severely "cutting into" New Orleans' usual business.

Last week, a tourist parked his automobile, (a recent model of a Cadillac) in a meter parking area on one of the streets. He put a nickel into the meter and went about his business. He returned some ten minutes before the end of the hour, (according to his report and the report of onlookers) to find that his auto was being dragged away by a police tow truck. It appeared that the meter was a faulty one and the police, ready and waiting for a prospect, had entered the automobile by the method of breaking and smashing the small side glass on the front left of the automobile.

In towing the Cadillac, the tow truck bent one of its fenders, finally depositing the car in a mud puddle (to add insult to injury) near the police station. Later, profuse apologies were tendered from the mayor's office, but no action was taken as regards the fixing of the glass and the fender.

The Constitution of the United States has specific guarantees of protection from over zealous police powers. There are, or were, laws against breaking and entering private property. Is New Orleans going to adopt the same policies as regards parking offenders as do some of the Northern cities? Was this action taken against an out of town automobile, its home city clearly marked on the windscreen, to be taken as typical New Orleans Southern hospitality?

If so, Monroe and West Monroe should immediately start some kind of a pageant each year to lure even more of the New Orleans tourist business away from that city. Monroe people, who merely receive a ticket from the courteous policewomen, should consider themselves indeed fortunate.

Dear Sir:

An editorial in the Monroe (LA.) MORNING WORLD, of May 4th, 1954, refers to an organization entitled: The National Council For Prevention of War, which it describes as a "left wing organization."

Thank you for your letter of May 11, in which you inform me that the statement that the Washington Post is "left-wing newspaper" is inaccurate.

Attention Mr. James Ewing:

I enclose copy of letter sent to the editor of the Washington Post and Times - Herald, May 7th, referring to your editorial of May 4th. I also enclose photostat of letter from Mr. Estabrook, editor of the editorial page of the Washington Post.

If somebody had time, it might be interesting to list the Communist agents the Post has rushed to defend, from Alger Hiss to Owen Lattimore, and the Congressional committees and Boards and individuals who have been fighting Communism, whom they have denounced, from the Un-American Activities Committee all the way down to Alfred Kohlberg. Against such a list no doubt the Post would like to present their own list of fighting anti-Communists whom they have editorially supported, and charged Communists and fellow - travelers whom they have denounced.

Appreciation Expressed For Billy Graham Editorial

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to thank you personally for the wonderful editorial in the Morning—World this past Tuesday about the Billy Graham London Crusade. It expressed my sentiments completely and I wish more of our people would take heed to themselves their Christian responsibility in praying regularly for Billy Graham and his entire team of Godly workers.

I, too, feel as you well stated in this editorial, that we Americans should be indeed grateful to God for this Sprit-filled boy from North Carolina to be asked to come to London to help the Christian leaders over there lead the people back to Christ, and to represent America in such a great capacity toward real spiritual awakening here and elsewhere.

I heard Billy Graham when he was in Shreveport, and three times when he was in Jackson, Miss., in 1952. His great messages reached my heart and I had a "spiritual awakening" in my own heart, though I'd been a passive Christian since a girl. I shall never cease to thank God for His wonderful messenger — Billy Graham. I'm enclosing one of his printed sermons that I thought you may enjoy and perhaps you would like to pass it on to someone else after reading it.

Thank you again for giving us so many fine editorials, and in Mr. Graham's own words — "May the Lord bless you real good."

MRS. STANLEY BRYANT.

(Note: You have my permission to print this in the Public Forum column of Sunday's paper if you so desire — either in part or in its entire content, however I am not writing this for that purpose—only because I wanted to express my sincere appreciation to you.)

A Vicious Circle

Farmerville, La.

Editor Morning World:

We read your paper each morning. We are thoroughly convinced that the money spenders are in accord to spend all they can possibly put into expenditures in behalf of bond issues, running to $100,000,000.00 in two instances and ½ a million in other instances. Thus making a donation back to the gamblers for having collected their licenses, and then smashing up their machines, and proposing huge appropriations for various purposes and holding a Constitutional Convention at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars without submitting the matter to the people, which will be the last insult placed upon us, the taxpayers of Louisiana.

About the only privilege left us is the right to protest and through the generosity of this newspaper, the right to make our protest known to our neighbors.

Our Legislature promises many good things, but all we read about is escaping convicts, granting of paroles to men who quickly revert to their former criminal activities, a threat from the Welfare Department that they will wipe off the rolls the names of many poor people and hold their children and grandchildren responsible for any mistakes made by the pensioner. These are the things we must protest against and with the help of fearless editors, newspapers and publishers, we may be able to check the financial condition that is becoming more of a reality each year.

No wonder that we are restless people. We can only pray that the Great Director of Mankind will direct those in authority toward a restoration of the ideals of statesmen who founded this government and who never lost sight of God and his teachings.

Wonderful Reception

Mangham, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On behalf of the 5th grade students at Mangham High School, their teachers and the parents in this area, I want to thank you for the opportunity which you gave them when they visited your plant Friday morning, May 7. I realize that having 43 live wire youngsters in as busy a place as your office is, must have constituted a problem but it meant much to them. Please give our heartfelt gratitude to your staff for their kindness and patience with them.

It is certainly easy to see why Monroe is the trading center for such a wide area. These children had an unforgettable day and were given a wonderful reception everywhere they went.

Thank you again for allowing the children to see industry at work.

Monroe's Traffic Lights

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I wish to express my own personal views on our Monroe city traffic system. My reason for doing so is because I have heard so much recent criticism and discussion as to just what should be done to solve the problem.

First of all, I wish to commend and give the City of Monroe, the Safety Council, traffic department and all others concerned full praise and credit for doing everything possible to cope with the situation.

Nevertheless, we still appear to have a traffic problem. I believe in respecting other people's opinion on matters, for many times either side can be wrong.

I have reached the conclusion that the number of unnecessary traffic stop lights is beyond question. I am sure these lights have been installed because of requests from various sources and I am sure they felt there were needed or else they would not have been requested. However, it seems that in many cases, traffic light requests might be made without giving any thought or proper consideration to the reaction it's going to create at the next street intersection. In my opinion, that is exactly what has happened to Monroe. The traffic lights have finally found their level and have practically halted all automobile traffic.

I believe in traffic lights 100 per cent in locations where an equal amount of automobile traffic crosses the streets and also in certain downtown districts where pedestrian traffic warrants it. But just hanging up stop lights here and there all over town where one car crosses one way against 500 the other way is not consistent with the slogan to keep traffic moving and has no place in this modern day traffic. Yet, some contend that still more lights are needed. But time goes on with traffic whistles and horns blowing and wrecks occurring all at the same time. A green traffic light especially in outlying districts where cars have an opportunity to attain high speed is a dangerous piece of mechanism or in plain words, a death trap. A green light only designates your legal right of way but certainly does not guarantee that you could not be killed if you go through one at a high rate of speed. I say the four way stop light red blinkers are twice as safe as the green and red light, because with the four way stop system, if only one person out of two fails to stop, no one will get hurt. But what will happen if one out of two fails to stop at the red and green light?

Other cities and towns throughout the country use the four way stop system successfully, so why can't the people of Monroe accept and be willing to cooperate with a traffic system that will not only lessen the danger of accidents, but also speed up traffic and eliminate continuous traffic jams that presently exist? In my opinion, unless the people would accept the four way stop system and red blinker, with yellow caution, in locations where they could be applicably used, and use the red and green stop light only where equal cross traffic exists and where pedestrian traffic warrants them, I can see no traffic relief in the future. When any city provides four way stop signs where locations would permit, and a wreck occurs, then the city traffic department can have no blood stains on their hands because both drivers defied and refused to obey the law.

I can see no justifiable reason for the continuation of Monroe's traffic congestion if the traffic department could only get the proper cooperation of the people and inaugurate a different traffic light signal system. I have no radical ideas about the matter and have given full consideration to foot traffic, especially to elderly people and physically handicapped who have to cross streets.

Monroe needs a rearrangement of light signals, 4 way stop lights and signs where they can be applicably placed. Then make a survey of red and green stop lights that are drifting traffic needlessly on busy streets because of dead head side streets, especially on Jackson St. for just one example, and let Monroe city traffic start moving once more for a change.

Ouachita Needs More Representation

Monroe, La.

Editor, Monroe Morning World:

I read recently that Orleans Parish has 28 Senators and Representatives. As you know, there are 100 representatives in the lower house and 39 Senators in the upper house. We have 38 senatorial districts and one senator making a total of 39 Senators and 100 Representatives. Some parishes should have more representation in the Legislature, and Ouachita Parish is one of those parishes.

Concerning the stock law, I think the bill should be voted upon by the Legislature and then it should be submitted to the people. This would be the only Democratic way. I think the bond issues should be handled the same way. While the Legislators are the ones to do the actual voting, the people are the bearers of the indebtedness. This state is already in debt and more bonds would only add to the debt. I think we should get along with the present rate of taxation. We are certainly being taxed enough.

If Work Law Is Passed

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I would like to give you the following on the "Right-to-Work" law.

This is how such a law would effect the working man or union member if this so-called "Right-to-Work" law were passed in Louisiana.

Where the employee is protected by unit of action he would have to deal with his employer, by himself if the employer didn't like the way he parted his hair he could fire him even though this man had performed a full days work for a days pay. If this law is passed and unions are not allowed to make contracts on wages and other working conditions, the prospective employer of a person who was seeking a job would hire this man for the smallest amount he could get him for and if there were more than one applicant he would take the one who would work cheaper and if he had several applicants who would work for this cheaper amount he would fire his present workmen and hire all the applicants at the cheaper wage. You would then create or reverse the present cycle. When these workers have been fired they will in turn need jobs but cannot get them at their former wage but will have to take less pay and knock someone else out of a job. The men fired from these jobs will have to take a cheaper wage than those who took their places to get jobs. In this way you would continue to down grade the pay scale of all workers, union or non union, because these people who were protected by union contracts will not have that protection if this "Right-to-Slave" law is passed and will be competing for any jobs.

Your editorial of May 2, 1954 was an insult to the intelligence of the citizenry of Louisiana for if anyone would read this article and then read the bill they would see that this editorial is strictly misleading since this "Right-to-Work" bill would take away the right of men banding together for their mutual benefit for negotiation of better wages or working conditions and if you will check the record you will find that not more than one per cent of the American workers received wage increases voluntarily from their employers until the time the unions became a real factor in the economic picture of this country. Are the people who are sponsoring this bill going to guarantee that the workers will be better paid when this bill is passed? Is it not the purpose of this bill to reduce wages? Are there any Christian people sponsoring this bill? Isn't it the purpose of this bill to wreck all unions, particularly the farmers union because if this union continues in existence the farm workers will be freed from their slavery to the big land owners.

These people who are sponsoring this Right-To-Work" bill were particularly 'sharp" in selecting the president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau as the head of their organization. His being used in this manner to lead the average citizen to believe that the average farmer is in favor of such a bill, when in reality the average farmer will be hurt by this bill. When the workers in the town and cities receive less money, he receives less money. What is this man's price for selling out the small farmer? Are the people who control the Louisiana Farm Bureau small farmers or a small group of big land owners who do no work themselves but use day laborers or share croppers?

Who will this "Right-to-Work" Law help? Will it help the churches for their members to receive less money? Will it help the grocer and other small business for his customers to receive less money? Will it help even the newspapers when their advertisers have fewer people who are able to buy the products and services that are advertised? Will not these advertisers quit advertising when their potential market is gone?

The "Right-to-Work" law will certainly hurt the unions but it will hurt every other citizen that has anything at all to do with money.

The people of Louisiana had better wake up. This is 1954 and we will be taking a step backward if this law is passed. In fact we will be taking a 90 year step backward and all of the slaves of that time were not colored and it is a sure thing they won't all be colored today.

Incidentally the Taft Hartely Law forbids the closed shop in Louisiana or any other state.

JILES N. DAVIS.

The Right To Work

Farmerville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I would like to say that I have worked my time out and have produced as much as any man. Now all I have to boast of is a good crop. I have always had the right to work and no right to say what it was worth. It is a shame that the laboring people of this nation had to arm in protest against their plight to get anything like their just dues. Roosevelt said there shouldn't have been any labor union; that the employers should have been willing to pay without it. The laboring men of this nation worked 26 years to get a bill passed that would allow them to bargain collectively and since then there has been those that have abused it and done everything possible to undermine the very principals it was built on. Many think that the time will come when there will be no more closed shop, no more union cards. But when I think of almost half of the laborers of this nation that are organized, I say pass what they will, they will still be on the job and have their say as to what it is worth.

The Scheme Of Things

It is hard for many people to realize that decisions made today will vitally affect the very scheme or shape of things to come for many years. Indeed, in years gone by, there were other seemingly important decisions made but none were drawn in the shadow of complete and total destruction.

Years ago, men believed that the destruction of the weapon which was gunpowder would be complete and total. Even later, it was thought that posion gas would render total annihilation. The human race on other occasions has thought itself capable of complete extinction. Never before however, has the real threat been so great and so awe inspiring. The human race is attempting to master the secrets known before only to God.

Now, the same secrets are in the hands of a religion which not only denies God but is working each day and night in an attempt to destroy his believers who make the "mistake" of believing that they are individuals destined by Him to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. That which opposes the American people and the free world today militantly believes that its "heaven" is on the Earth and that there is no individual, the people being parts of the state.

Unfortunately, in these trying times, some leaders of this Republic cannot recognize all facets of the Marxian religion and take a shortsighted view of the entire situation. A glance at the present picture will clearly demonstrate the truth behind the above statement. The free world has recently suffered the loss of an obscure fort in Indo-China. It is reported that ten thousand good German and Moroccan troops were lost along with the gallant French commander, Christian DeCastries a man who refused to recognize defeat.

Instead of aligning together in a weapon of great magnitude, the French and British governments still are divided and still believe that the United States is herding them to war. The British still believe that they can become economic masters in the Orient while the French are hoping to cling to some small part of their empire in days when empires are no more, when they are crumbling into the dust which marks the pages of history. The United States which has poured millions upon millions of dollars into the bottomless pit of European "unity", find that the dollars have apparently been lost. Only one nation in Europe is ready to defend itself from the coming onslaught and that one is Germany.

The Communists are past and present masters at the art of divide and conquer. They realize that success can be attained without a single Russian shot being fired. The American people find that terrible casualties are not always the means of a victory as they used to be. Two years ago, the American voters threw out the Democrat administration in the belief, factual and correct, that that administration and its immediate predecessors, had been the cause of bringing the Republic to the brink of destruction. They hoped upon hope that the changes would be made in time to save the Republic from the attacks both from within and without.

Unfortunately, it would be erroneous to state clearly that even many of these changes have been made. Foreign nations still maintain the same degree of influence in the national capitol which existed under administrations beginning in 1933. In fact, it would appear that the British are even more influential than ever before. It is generally recognized that they are strongly opposed to intervention in the Asian war by either President Rhee or Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek even though these are two individuals possessed of great hatred of anything connected with Communism.

What does all this mean?

A study of ancient and contemporary history will demonstrate that empires, civilizations and kingdoms which once were great have fallen, marked only by once proud antiquities, the subjects for present day archaeological research. The great leaders and kings of the world are marked today by shriveled mummies and decayed dust. Pomp and circumstance are remembered by the scratches on paper and the etchings on the pages of time.

Oswald Spengler, a recorder of what once was, and what might be in the future said that all civilizations were related to one another. He asserted that the history of a given civilization could be measured by a comparison with the calendar of the Christian year. Each civilization has at one point, greatly resembled others. Each has suffered the same type of decline, the same order of destruction.

Spengler was a realist. He was one of the first to actually state that Western life was in the "late autumn" or "early winter" of its life. A careful consideration will indeed demonstrate that the Western order is rapidly decaying into a state of the mob, its moral disintegration pointedly marked for the examination of the adroit. If Spengler, and he was not the only one, was correct, can there be an overturning of traditional history of the life cycle of human evolution?

The leaders of the free world, and especially of the United States, are not showing any great ability to change these things. Does the scheme of things, designed by the greatest architect known to the human race, include the destruction and the disintegration of the Western civilization, now dying at its own hands? Only God, the greatest planner, knows. Indeed, it would appear that hopes of a great people, marked by what is generally termed "progress," have been shattered.

The plans being made in these days will mark the trend of things to come for many years. If these plans are not successful, even the barest traces of this civilization will be lost. All history, at least, as regards this earth will be lost. What is the scheme of things to come? Will history, tradition and a type of human evolution be overturned and changed?

The next few years will strike the trail of the future of the human race.

It is hoped the "guides" know the correct directions.

Tensas Parish

The legends of the past, mixed with those of the present, are a paramount fixture of the history of Tensas parish.

In order to trace the growth of the old parish one must consider her heritages to view the overall picture of what is today. Her heritages were of strong, wise and untiring forefathers who carved from the dense region an area devoted to the graces as well as fundamentals of life. Standing today are many of the old homes built in the 1800's which have been preserved through the years as standing landmarks.

Today Tensas Parish can boast of modern farms, well equipped schools, beautiful religious structures and citizens who take an active part in the well being of their communities. Within the parish there are three principal towns. Newellton, St. Joseph and Waterproof are each thriving communities with progressive leaders looking toward the future instead of contentment with the present.

Natural resources in abundance can be found in Tensas as well as areas classified as "havens" for the hunter and fisherman. Natural resources include oil, natural gas, immense tracts of timber as well as some of the best agricultural land in the state. The sportsman's havens are so near perfect that each year thousands of visitors flock to Tensas parish to indulge in their favorite pastimes.

A mark of pride can be found in each Tensas parish citizen as he speaks of his home. This pride is carried wherever the citizen goes and thus throughout the state Tensas is well-known by people of all areas.

The Governor And Safety

Some days ago, Governor Robert Kennon held a highway safety conference in the state capitol. It was more than "well attended," it was a spontaneous demonstration registering the fears of some 800 people in Louisiana as regards the safety on the highways of this state.

Moreover, it was a marked show of determination by almost 800 citizens to do something about the slaughtergrounds which are the highways. As such, the conference got underway with great enthusiasm with an invocation to God that the citizens present be empowered by the Almighty to go home and help the situation.

The Governor himself gave a very concise picture of the casualty rate in Louisiana, a rate which should throw worry into even the most "fearless" of drivers. The Governor's Highway Safety Conference can be considered a success even if it only brought attention to the troubles at hand. However, it did more than that, it offered a concrete platform on which the delegates could rest their case and on which they could return home and take action.

Highway safety is only as good as drivers make it. It would be easy for Governor Kennon and the State Police to change the present picture. The state police could don civilian clothes, drive unmarked automobiles, have a radar set under each fender and hide behind every sign post. However, that would only serve to fill the jails of Louisiana. Would any permanent good have been done?

Some states think yes, others say no.

The State of Washington has sharply decreased its accident and death rate by the use of every available means of detection of violators. It employs helicopters, radar, hidden police and fearful fines in an attempt to get the problem settled. As a result, there are fewer accidents and deaths.

It is the hope of the Louisiana governor to avoid such drastic processes but he will not be able to much longer if the thoughts of the average delegate can be used as an implement of measure. There are several methods short of drastic which could be used. The first is an educational program designed for both adults and juveniles. It was suggested that the State Department of Education give actual high school credit for a course in safety and driving technique. It was also suggested that the police in every community establish driving schools for offenders with their driving permits held until a successful completion of the course could be attained. It was suggested that newspapers and radio stations use every available method to bring safety before the public.

A complete list of resolutions was drawn up and will be presented to the people in the very near future in this column.

All in all, the Governor's Highway Safety Conference was a good one. It was useful and beneficial to all who attended and was a step forward by Governor Kennon, one of the first Louisiana governors to adopt such an attitude toward the safety of the people of his state who use the highways. The Governor, Colonel Owen, Colonel Grevemburg and Mr. Charles Hargroder worked hard to insure the success of the conference. To them, and to all the other state officials who took such a part, should go a vote of thanks from all the people.

If the Governor's Safety Conference was able to help safety in this state even a "little bit," it was worth all the efforts employed to attain that end.

The New Orleans Police And Courtesy

Many times, the people in the Twin Cities are prone to see greener pastures on the other side of some other fence. As regards the police of these communities, folks are always complaining of their "attitude" toward the public. A letter, as a matter of fact, a telephone call, received in this office last week by an irate citizen should awaken many thoughts of a people who take the usually courteous Monroe and West Monroe police for granted.

The telephone call was followed by a letter giving complete descriptions of a situation which, if allowed to continue, will eventually hurt the City of New Orleans. New Orleans prides itself on being a "tourist" city. Great exhibitions are annually held to lure tourists from all over the nation. The competition is nevertheless, growing keen. Mississippi, Florida, Texas, California, the Mountain states and others including the West Indies are severely "cutting into" New Orleans' usual business.

Last week, a tourist parked his automobile, (a recent model of a Cadillac) in a meter parking area on one of the streets. He put a nickel into the meter and went about his business. He returned some ten minutes before the end of the hour, (according to his report and the report of onlookers) to find that his auto was being dragged away by a police tow truck. It appeared that the meter was a faulty one and the police, ready and waiting for a prospect, had entered the automobile by the method of breaking and smashing the small side glass on the front left of the automobile.

In towing the Cadillac, the tow truck bent one of its fenders, finally depositing the car in a mud puddle (to add insult to injury) near the police station. Later, profuse apologies were tendered from the mayor's office, but no action was taken as regards the fixing of the glass and the fender.

The Constitution of the United States has specific guarantees of protection from over zealous police powers. There are, or were, laws against breaking and entering private property. Is New Orleans going to adopt the same policies as regards parking offenders as do some of the Northern cities? Was this action taken against an out of town automobile, its home city clearly marked on the windscreen, to be taken as typical New Orleans Southern hospitality?

If so, Monroe and West Monroe should immediately start some kind of a pageant each year to lure even more of the New Orleans tourist business away from that city. Monroe people, who merely receive a ticket from the courteous policewomen, should consider themselves indeed fortunate.

Attention of Mr. Robert H. Estabrook
Gentlemen:

Thank you for your letter of May 11, in which you inform me that the statement that the Washington Post is "left-wing newspaper" is inaccurate.

Your statement coincides with my opinion, as I have always considered your paper reactionary in the Genghis Khan tradition (see article in Encyclopedia Britannica, which explains his methods of conquest by subversion as well as military superiority).

Very truly yours,
ALFRED KOHLBERG

Attention Mr. James Ewing:

I enclose copy of letter sent to the editor of the Washington Post and Times - Herald, May 7th, referring to your editorial of May 4th. I also enclose photostat of letter from Mr. Estabrook, editor of the editorial page of the Washington Post.

If somebody had time, it might be interesting to list the Communist agents the Post has rushed to defend, from Alger Hiss to Owen Lattimore, and the Congressional committees and Boards and individuals who have been fighting Communism, whom they have denounced, from the Un-American Activities Committee all the way down to Alfred Kohlberg. Against such a list no doubt the Post would like to present their own list of fighting anti-Communists whom they have editorially supported, and charged Communists and fellow - travelers whom they have denounced.

Very truly yours,
ALFRED KOHLBERG

Appreciation Expressed For Billy Graham Editorial

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to thank you personally for the wonderful editorial in the Morning-World this past Tuesday about the Billy Graham London Crusade. It expressed my sentiments completely and I wish more of our people would take heed to themselves their Christian responsibility in praying regularly for Billy Graham and his entire team of Godly workers.

I, too, feel as you well stated in this editorial, that we Americans should be indeed grateful to God for this Sprit-filled boy from North Carolina to be asked to come to London to help the Christian leaders over there lead the people back to Christ, and to represent America in such a great capacity toward real spiritual awakening here and elsewhere.

I heard Billy Graham when he was in Shreveport, and three times when he was in Jackson, Miss., in 1952. His great messages reached my heart and I had a "spiritual awakening" in my own heart, though I'd been a passive Christian since a girl. I shall never cease to thank God for His wonderful messenger — Billy Graham. I'm enclosing one of his printed sermons that I thought you may enjoy and perhaps you would like to pass it on to someone else after reading it.

Thank you again for giving us so many fine editorials, and in Mr. Graham's own words — "May the Lord bless you real good."

MRS. STANLEY BRYANT.

(Note: You have my permission to print this in the Public Forum column of Sunday's paper if you so desire — either in part or in its entire content, however I am not writing this for that purpose—only because I wanted to express my sincere appreciation to you.)

A Vicious Circle

Farmerville, La.

Editor Morning World:

We read your paper each morning. We are thoroughly convinced that the money spenders are in accord to spend all they can possibly put into expenditures in behalf of bond issues, running to $100,000,000.00 in two instances and ½ a million in other instances. Thus making a donation back to the gamblers for having collected their licenses, and then smashing up their machines, and proposing huge appropriations for various purposes and holding a Constitutional Convention at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars without submitting the matter to the people, which will be the last insult placed upon us, the taxpayers of Louisiana.

About the only privilege left us is the right to protest and through the generosity of this newspaper, the right to make our protest known to our neighbors.

Our Legislature promises many good things, but all we read about is escaping convicts, granting of paroles to men who quickly revert to their former criminal activities, a threat from the Welfare Department that they will wipe off the rolls the names of many poor people and hold their children and grandchildren responsible for any mistakes made by the pensioner. These are the things we must protest against and with the help of fearless editors, newspapers and publishers, we may be able to check the financial condition that is becoming more of a reality each year.

No wonder that we are restless people. We can only pray that the Great Director of Mankind will direct those in authority toward a restoration of the ideals of statesmen who founded this government and who never lost sight of God and his teachings.

Wonderful Reception

Mangham, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On behalf of the 5th grade students at Mangham High School, their teachers and the parents in this area, I want to thank you for the opportunity which you gave them when they visited your plant Friday morning, May 7. I realize that having 43 live wire youngsters in as busy a place as your office is, must have constituted a problem but it meant much to them. Please give our heartfelt gratitude to your staff for their kindness and patience with them.

It is certainly easy to see why Monroe is the trading center for such a wide area. These children had an unforgettable day and were given a wonderful reception everywhere they went.

Thank you again for allowing the children to see industry at work.

MRS. JOHN C. KENTON,
Room Mother, Grade 5A,
Mangham High School.

Monroe's Traffic Lights

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I wish to express my own personal views on our Monroe city traffic system. My reason for doing so is because I have heard so much recent criticism and discussion as to just what should be done to solve the problem.

First of all, I wish to commend and give the City of Monroe, the Safety Council, traffic department and all others concerned full praise and credit for doing everything possible to cope with the situation.

Nevertheless, we still appear to have a traffic problem. I believe in respecting other people's opinion on matters, for many times either side can be wrong.

I have reached the conclusion that the number of unnecessary traffic stop lights is beyond question. I am sure these lights have been installed because of requests from various sources and I am sure they felt there were needed or else they would not have been requested. However, it seems that in many cases, traffic light requests might be made without giving any thought or proper consideration to the reaction it's going to create at the next street intersection. In my opinion, that is exactly what has happened to Monroe. The traffic lights have finally found their level and have practically halted all automobile traffic.

I believe in traffic lights 100 per cent in locations where an equal amount of automobile traffic crosses the streets and also in certain downtown districts where pedestrian traffic warrants it. But just hanging up stop lights here and there all over town where one car crosses one way against 500 the other way is not consistent with the slogan to keep traffic moving and has no place in this modern day traffic. Yet, some contend that still more lights are needed. But time goes on with traffic whistles and horns blowing and wrecks occurring all at the same time. A green traffic light especially in outlying districts where cars have an opportunity to attain high speed is a dangerous piece of mechanism or in plain words, a death trap. A green light only designates your legal right of way but certainly does not guarantee that you could not be killed if you go through one at a high rate of speed. I say the four way stop light red blinkers are twice as safe as the green and red light, because with the four way stop system, if only one person out of two fails to stop, no one will get hurt. But what will happen if one out of two fails to stop at the red and green light?

Other cities and towns throughout the country use the four way stop system successfully, so why can't the people of Monroe accept and be willing to cooperate with a traffic system that will not only lessen the danger of accidents, but also speed up traffic and eliminate continuous traffic jams that presently exist? In my opinion, unless the people would accept the four way stop system and red blinker, with yellow caution, in locations where they could be applicably used, and use the red and green stop light only where equal cross traffic exists and where pedestrian traffic warrants them, I can see no traffic relief in the future. When any city provides four way stop signs where locations would permit, and a wreck occurs, then the city traffic department can have no blood stains on their hands because both drivers defied and refused to obey the law.

I can see no justifiable reason for the continuation of Monroe's traffic congestion if the traffic department could only get the proper cooperation of the people and inaugurate a different traffic light signal system. I have no radical ideas about the matter and have given full consideration to foot traffic, especially to elderly people and physically handicapped who have to cross streets.

Monroe needs a rearrangement of light signals, 4 way stop lights and signs where they can be applicably placed. Then make a survey of red and green stop lights that are drifting traffic needlessly on busy streets because of dead head side streets, especially on Jackson St. for just one example, and let Monroe city traffic start moving once more for a change.

Ouachita Needs More Representation

Monroe, La.

Editor, Monroe Morning World:

I read recently that Orleans Parish has 28 Senators and Representatives. As you know, there are 100 representatives in the lower house and 39 Senators in the upper house. We have 38 senatorial districts and one senator making a total of 39 Senators and 100 Representatives. Some parishes should have more representation in the Legislature, and Ouachita Parish is one of those parishes.

Concerning the stock law, I think the bill should be voted upon by the Legislature and then it should be submitted to the people. This would be the only Democratic way. I think the bond issues should be handled the same way. While the Legislators are the ones to do the actual voting, the people are the bearers of the indebtedness. This state is already in debt and more bonds would only add to the debt. I think we should get along with the present rate of taxation. We are certainly being taxed enough.

If Work Law Is Passed

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

This is how such a law would effect the working man or union member if this so-called "Right-to-Work" law were passed in Louisiana.

Where the employee is protected by unit of action he would have to deal with his employer, by himself if the employer didn't like the way he parted his hair he could fire him even though this man had performed a full days work for a days pay. If this law is passed and unions are not allowed to make contracts on wages and other working conditions, the prospective employer of a person who was seeking a job would hire this man for the smallest amount he could get him for and if there were more than one applicant he would take the one who would work cheaper and if he had several applicants who would work for this cheaper amount he would fire his present workmen and hire all the applicants at the cheaper wage. You would then create or reverse the present cycle. When these workers have been fired they will in turn need jobs but cannot get them at their former wage but will have to take less pay and knock someone else out of a job. The men fired from these jobs will have to take a cheaper wage than those who took their places to get jobs. In this way you would continue to down grade the pay scale of all workers, union or non union, because these people who were protected by union contracts will not have that protection if this "Right-to-Slave" law is passed and will be competing for any jobs.

Your editorial of May 2, 1954 was an insult to the intelligence of the citizenry of Louisiana for if anyone would read this article and then read the bill they would see that this editorial is strictly misleading since this "Right-to-Work" bill would take away the right of men banding together for their mutual benefit for negotiation of better wages or working conditions and if you will check the record you will find that not more than one per cent of the American workers received wage increases voluntarily from their employers until the time the unions became a real factor in the economic picture of this country. Are the people who are sponsoring this bill going to guarantee that the workers will be better paid when this bill is passed? Is it not the purpose of this bill to reduce wages? Are there any Christian people sponsoring this bill? Isn't it the purpose of this bill to wreck all unions, particularly the farmers union because if this union continues in existence the farm workers will be freed from their slavery to the big land owners.

These people who are sponsoring this Right-To-Work" bill were particularly 'sharp" in selecting the president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau as the head of their organization. His being used in this manner to lead the average citizen to believe that the average farmer is in favor of such a bill, when in reality the average farmer will be hurt by this bill. When the workers in the town and cities receive less money, he receives less money. What is this man's price for selling out the small farmer? Are the people who control the Louisiana Farm Bureau small farmers or a small group of big land owners who do no work themselves but use day laborers or share croppers?

Who will this "Right-to-Work" Law help? Will it help the churches for their members to receive less money? Will it help the grocer and other small business for his customers to receive less money? Will it help even the newspapers when their advertisers have fewer people who are able to buy the products and services that are advertised? Will not these advertisers quit advertising when their potential market is gone?

The "Right-to-Work" law will certainly hurt the unions but it will hurt every other citizen that has anything at all to do with money.

The people of Louisiana had better wake up. This is 1954 and we will be taking a step backward if this law is passed. In fact we will be taking a 90 year step backward and all of the slaves of that time were not colored and it is a sure thing they won't all be colored today.

Incidentally the Taft Hartely Law forbids the closed shop in Louisiana or any other state.

JILES N. DAVIS.

The Right To Work

Farmerville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I would like to say that I have worked my time out and have produced as much as any man. Now all I have to boast of is a good crop. I have always had the right to work and no right to say what it was worth. It is a shame that the laboring people of this nation had to arm in protest against their plight to get anything like their just dues. Roosevelt said there shouldn't have been any labor union: that the employers should have been willing to pay without it. The laboring men of this nation worked 26 years to get a bill passed that would allow them to bargain collectively and since then there has been those that have abused it and done everything possible to undermine the very principals it was built on. Many think that the time will come when there will be no more closed shop, no more union cards. But when I think of almost half of the laborers of this nation that are organized, I say pass what they will, they will still be on the job and have their say as to what it is worth.

Z. C. Ambrose, president Twin Cities Y. M. C. A., announced yesterday that the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. will conduct a day camp this summer for younger boys ages 6-12. The camp will consist of two two-week periods beginning June 21 and running through July 16. Ambrose emphasized that the day camping program is the first in a series of youth and adult programs designed to enable the Y. M. C. A. to achieve its purpose here in the Twin Cities.

The day camp of the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. is organized to meet the needs of younger boys between the ages of 6 to 12 who desire an outdoor program during the hot summer weeks in the city. Day camping affords an opportunity to grow bodily, spiritually and mentally while enjoying wholesome activities in friendship groups under competent leadership.

Day campers will be picked up by bus at the various elementary schools in Monroe - West Monroe and transported to Forsythe Park which will serve as day camp headquarters. Boys in the day camp program will enjoy such activities as archery, swimming, boating, fishing, crafts, group games, athletics, educational trips, nature lore, story telling, devotionals, camp outs, singing, riflery, and fellowship with other boys.

Charles A. Wood, Jr., general secretary of the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A., will direct the camp. Mr. Wood has many years experience in the field of camping having directed both day camps and resident camps for the Y. M. C. A. in Virginia and Georgia. Wood will be ably assisted by interested Y. M. C. A. laymen and well trained competent young men. Parents can be sure that friendly supervision will be given to campers. The health, safety, and well being of the boy are of primary importance in day camp. Every boy in the camping program will be protected by accident insurance.

Tuition for the day camp will only be $10.00 for each two week period or $20 for the entire four weeks. Boys may attend one or both periods. There is also a $20 fee to cover the cost of registration and is paid only once. Campers will bring their own lunches and milk money. Pasteurized milk will be available for 6 cents per bottle. However, any boy who expresses a desire to attend the camp regardless of his ability to pay tuition or registration fees. Parents interested in registering their sons for this fine program should call the Y. M. C. A., 5-2353 for further information and a registration blank. Day camp capacity is limited to 70 boys each period.

There are about as many miles of elevator shafts as there are subway tracks in New York City.

Kefauver Seeking Tighter Rules On Investigations

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 15 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today that he and several other senators will sponsor legislation to set up investigative procedures for congressional committees.

"It is not necessary for me to outline the abuses which these rules seek to correct — I think you are familiar with them." He said in a speech to the Arkansas Bar Association's annual convention here.

Kefauver, who headed the Senate subcommittee which investigated organized crime some years back, did not mention by name the Senate's most publicized investigator, Sen. Joe McCarthy (R-Wis).

However, some of the procedures Kefauver said his proposed legislation was designed to correct are those which have led to criticism of McCarthy.

Kefauver recalled that he and a number of other legislators had proposed measures which they hoped would improve "the present situation whereby individual members of legislative bodies can shatter reputations at will, either on the floor, under the cloak of immunity, or in committees, where they enjoy subpoena powers and immunity."

PTA Urges For Adjustment In Teachers Pay

Following a year's study, the Louisiana Parent - Teacher association is to recommend the legislature a specific salary schedule for teachers. It starts at $2,950 per annum, for a beginner having a bachelor degree and a maximum of $5,150 per annum for teachers with a master's degree and with 18 years experience.

Copies of the recommendation, adopted at the recent P.-T. A. convention, are now in the hands of the joint fiscal committee of the house and senate, state superintendent of education, parish superintendents of education, the United Schools committee, and others widely distributed.

The P.-T. A. made inquiry of the 67 school systems of Louisiana. Fosty-seven reported and 40 reported shortages or anticipated such; one reported no acute shortages; six reported no shortage; 23 reported losses to business or industry.

According to a social research agency, the medium living cost of a white collar worker, wife two children is $5,208 per year. The NEA reports that the average college graduate in the field of engineering can expect to start at $4,000 a year. This is a bad comparison with school teachers starting at $2,400, states Mrs. J. S. Golf, president of the state P.-T. A.

After taking many phases of the question under consideration and the Peabody Survey recommendations, the Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association determined upon its specific salary schedule. According to the schedule there is a $220 differential between the holder of a bachelor's and the holder of a master's degree. The median of the suggested maximum schedule of $4,000 for Louisiana teachers; whereas the median of the present Louisiana schedule, including the 10 per cent cost of living adjustment, is $3,300, which would mean an increase of 19.7 per cent in the median scheduled salaries.

The P.-T. A. report recommends that: Training and experience should serve as basis for salary scheduling (not sex or age level taught); Schedule should provide high enough standard to encourage competent individuals to enter the profession.

Kefauver Seeking Tighter Rules On Investigations

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 15 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today that he and several other senators will sponsor legislation to set up investigative procedures for congressional committees.

"It is not necessary for me to outline the abuses which these rules seek to correct — I think you are familiar with them." He said in a speech to the Arkansas Bar Association's annual convention here.

Kefauver, who headed the Senate subcommittee which investigated organized crime some years back, did not mention by name the Senate's most publicized investigator, Sen. Joe McCarthy (R-Wis).

However, some of the procedures Kefauver said his proposed legislation was designed to correct are those which have led to criticism of McCarthy.

Kefauver recalled that he and a number of other legislators had proposed measures which they hoped would improve "the present situation whereby individual members of legislative bodies can shatter reputations at will, either on the floor, under the cloak of immunity, or in committees, where they enjoy subpoena powers and immunity."

PTA Urges For Adjustment In Teachers Pay

Following a year's study, the Louisiana Parent - Teacher association is to recommend the legislature a specific salary schedule for teachers. It starts at $2,950 per annum, for a beginner having a bachelor degree and a maximum of $5,150 per annum for teachers with a master's degree and with 18 years experience.

Copies of the recommendation, adopted at the recent P.-T. A. convention, are now in the hands of the joint fiscal committee of the house and senate, state superintendent of education, parish superintendents of education, the United Schools committee, and others widely distributed.

The P.-T. A. made inquiry of the 67 school systems of Louisiana. Fosty-seven reported and 40 reported shortages or anticipated such; one reported no acute shortages; six reported no shortage; 23 reported losses to business or industry.

According to a social research agency, the medium living cost of a white collar worker, wife two children is $5,208 per year. The NEA reports that the average college graduate in the field of engineering can expect to start at $4,000 a year. This is a bad comparison with school teachers starting at $2,400, states Mrs. J. S. Goff, president of the state P.-T. A.

After taking many phases of the question under consideration and the Peabody Survey recommendations, the Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association determined upon its specific salary schedule. According to the schedule there is a $220 differential between the holder of a bachelor's and the holder of a master's degree. The median of the suggested maximum schedule of $4,000 for Louisiana teachers; whereas the median of the present Louisiana schedule, including the 10 per cent cost of living adjustment, is $3,300, which would mean an increase of 19.7 per cent in the median scheduled salaries.

The P.-T. A. report recommends that: Training and experience should serve as basis for salary scheduling (not sex or age level taught); Schedule should provide high enough standard to encourage competent individuals to enter the profession.

Trio Have Close Call In Bayou

A West Monroe man and his two children narrowly escaped death about 6 p.m. yesterday, when the motor boat in which they were riding capsized in Bayou DeSiard, near Edgewater dam.

J. C. Brooks, route one, West Monroe, was taking his two sons, John, seven, and Truett, three, for a ride, when their motorboat capsized as Brooks attempted to make a turn. While Brooks kept himself and Truett above the surface, John, with "a little paddling and kicking" managed to keep himself afloat. Mrs. Brooks told the Morning World the lad had never had any swimming instructions.

As the trio struggled to keep from drowning, their lives were further endangered by the boat, which continued to swish about in the water, until sunk by a group of youths who were fishing nearby. The fishermen then pulled Brooks and his two sons to safety.

Those taking part in the resene were identified as Rex Dillingham, Slick Lawson, Palmer Jarrell, and several other boys.

Mrs. Brooks, who had gone to the bayou with her family, was not in the boat when the accident occurred.

Alexandria Vets Hospital Visited

five representatives called on Young.

According to Thoman, the meeting in Alexandria had originally been called to discuss various business projects of the meeting but became a general controversy when the question of Smith's resignation came up.

Smith resigned because "they wanted to make me a special investigator," which he termed a demotion.

Smith, present at the federation meeting, said the animosity between him and Young resulted because "I tried to do a good job of enforcement."

He told the directors that he was told by Young to sign a slip accepting demotion or that his oral resignation would be submitted. He said Young took the action because he had protested "Young yielding to pressure from politicians."

Ed Hike, 6th district vice-president of the federation, said he tried in vain to get specific charges from Young against Smith. Louviere told of similar efforts, citing one meeting with Young at Lafayette when all he received was a copy of Smith's signed resignation.

Harry Hickman of Shreveport, who was against the resolution, tried to block its passage by questioning whether there was a quorum of the 115-member board present.

However, Rep. Armand Rabun of Farmerville, who is parliamentarian, ruled that since there was a quorum of 58 members present when the meeting opened, the resolution could be submitted to a vote.

All Moves In

1. The top officials of North Korea, including Kim Il Sung, who became Premier in 1946, and Nam Il, senior Communist delegate at the Panmunjom armistice talks, are "all Soviet citizens by birth" and are "The Russians who run the governmental apparatus of North Korea."

2. By the end of May, last year—nearly two months before the armistice—from 6,000 to 12,000 "Russian tactical troops" were in Korea, in antiaircraft units, medium gun regiments and quartermaster and rail outfits. About 1,300 Russians were employed as staff and technical advisors throughout North Korea. The "system of 'advisors' set up by the Russians actually assured them control over all important Korean elements in both making policy and directing resulting operations. . . . This control was personally wielded by Kim Il, one of the Soviet citizens at the core of the North Korean regime."

3. "Right down to the commanders of line units, orders were transmitted in Russian. It was not until orders reached the men who were to do the actual fighting and dying that the Korean tongue could be used without fear of mistakes resulting from its improper use."

4. "Many Russian 'advisors' were attached to the North Korean army advance headquarters established in June, 1950. They wore civilian clothing . . . and it was forbidden to address them by rank. They were introduced as 'newspaper reporters' but they had supreme authority. They took the lead in making operational and mobilization plans, and in commanding and manipulating troops." A captured North Korean major identified one of the advisors as a Lieut. Gen. Vasiliev and said he apparently was in charge of the attack across the 38th parallel.

Bond Issues

resolution, Gov. Robert Kennon departed from the prepared text of his address to a joint session Tuesday night inserting praise of the welfare program's present operations and stating that he would ask "no changes" in it.

The lawmakers crammed in 374 bills in the first three days, then on Wednesday adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday.

Two large bond issues, totaling nearly 90 million dollars, were introduced by administration leaders. Opposition is rallying with objections that the bond program will not be submitted to public vote.

The two bond issues—one 50 million for highway construction, the other $39,950,000 for institutions, colleges and other capital improvements—were introduced as legislative bills, requiring only a majority vote by the Legislature.

Kennon warned the budget will probably be so large, estimated at about 590 million dollars, that there is 'not going to be any more money available for special appropriations than there was two years ago.'

Outside of the right to work bill, aimed at banning compulsory union membership, most of the expected controversial bills were introduced in the first three days of the 60-day session, plus some hot ones not counted on.

Expected were bills to reapportion the Legislature, call a constitutional convention, ban livestock from highways, call for annual legislative sessions and increase the natural gas severance tax.

But in the flood of legislation came several tough subjects not anticipated in advance. Included in this category are a bill to outlaw all gambling in Louisiana—including that at horse race and harness tracks licensed by the state; a measure to ban union contributions to political campaigns; a bill to cut off ad valorem tax exemptions to new manufacturing construction and a bill to ban night horse racing.

The gambling bill was introduced by Sen. Horace Wilkinson of Port Allen who declared: "I think that if gambling is wrong, it is wrong in any form."

Sheep Sale To Draw From Four Parishes

FERRIDAY, May 15 (Special)—Farmers from Franklin, Tensas, Concordia and Catahoula Parishes plan to attend the sheep sale in Natchez, Miss., Tuesday May 18, according to Joe W. Milby, county agent of Concordia Parish.

Sheep raising is on the increase in this area, Milby pointed out. This is due in part to the work of C. L. Hill, LSU animal husbandman, who has cited the advantages of raising sheep and cattle together. Sheep control pasture weeds that cattle will not eat, he said.

Trio Have Close Call In Bayou

A West Monroe man and his two children narrowly escaped death about 6 p.m. yesterday, when the motor boat in which they were riding capsized in Bayou DeSiard, near Edgewater dam.

J. C. Brooks, route one, West Monroe, was taking his two sons, John, seven, and Truett, three, for a ride, when their motorboat capsized as Brooks attempted to make a turn. While Brooks kept himself and Truett above the surface, John, with "a little paddling and kicking" managed to keep himself afloat. Mrs. Brooks told the Morning World the lad had never had any swimming instructions.

As the trio struggled to keep from drowning, their lives were further endangered by the boat, which continued to swish about in the water, until sunk by a group of youths who were fishing nearby. The fishermen then pulled Brooks and his two sons to safety.

Those taking part in the rescue were identified as Rex Dillingham, Slick Lawson, Palmer Jarreli, and several other boys.

Mrs. Brooks, who had gone to the bayou with her family, was not in the boat when the accident occurred.

Alexandria Vets Hospital Visited

five representatives called on Young.

According to Thoman, the meeting in Alexandria had originally been called to discuss various business projects of the meeting but became a general controversy when the question of Smith's resignation came up.

Smith resigned because "they wanted to make me a special investigator," which he termed a demotion.

Smith, present at the federation meeting, said the animosity between him and Young resulted because "I tried to do a good job of enforcement."

He told the directors that he was told by Young to sign a slip accepting demotion or that his oral resignation would be submitted. He said Young took the action because he had protested "Young yielding to pressure from politicians."

Ed Hike, 6th district vice-president of the federation, said he tried in vain to get specific charges from Young against Smith. Louviere told of similar efforts, citing one meeting with Young at Lafayette when all he received was a copy of Smith's signed resignation.

Harry Hickman of Shreveport, who was against the resolution, tried to block its passage by questioning whether there was a quorum of the 115-member board present.

However, Rep. Armand Rabun of Farmerville, who is parliamentarian, ruled that since there was a quorum of 58 members present when the meeting opened, the resolution could be submitted to a vote.

All Moves In

1. The top officials of North Korea, includinp Kim Il Sung, who became Premier in 1946, and Nam Il, senior Communist delegate at the Panmunjom armistice talks, are "all Soviet citizens by birth" and are "The Russians who run the governmental apparatus of North Korea."

2. By the end of May, last year—nearly two months before the armistice—from 6,000 to 12,000 "Russian tactical troops" were in Korea, in antiaircraft units, medium gun regiments and quartermaster and rail outfits. About 1,300 Russians were employed as staff and technical advisors throughout North Korea. The "system of 'advisors' set up by the Russians actually assured them control over all important Korean elements in both making policy and directing resulting operations. . . . This control was personally wielded by Kim Il, one of the Soviet citizens at the core of the North Korean regime."

3. "Right down to the commanders of line units, orders were transmitted in Russian. It was not until orders reached the men who were to do the actual fighting and dying that the Korean tongue could be used without fear of mistakes resulting from its improper use."

4. "Many Russian 'advisors' were attached to the North Korean army advance headquarters established in June, 1950. They wore civilian clothing . . . and it was forbidden to address them by rank. They were introduced as 'newspaper reporters' but they had supreme authority. They took the lead in making operational and mobilization plans, and in commanding and manipulating troops." A captured North Korean major identified one of the advisors as a Lieut. Gen. Vasiliev and said he apparently was in charge of the attack across the 38th parallel.

Bond Issues

resolution. Gov. Robert Kennon departed from the prepared text of his address to a joint session Tuesday night inserting praise of the welfare program's present operations and stating that he would ask "no changes" in it.

The lawmakers crammed in 374 bills in the first three days, then on Wednesday adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday.

Two large bond issues, totaling nearly 90 million dollars, were introduced by administration leaders. Opposition is rallying with objections that the bond program will not be submitted to public vote.

The two bond issues—one 50 million for highway construction, the other $39,950,000 for institutions, colleges and other capital improvements—were introduced as legislative bills, requiring only a majority vote by the Legislature.

Kennon warned the budget will probably be so large, estimated at about 590 million dollars, that there is 'not going to be any more money available for special appropriations than there was two years ago.'

Outside of the right to work bill, aimed at banning compulsory union membership, most of the expected controversial bills were introduced in the first three days of the 60-day session, plus some hot ones not counted on.

Expected were bills to reapportion the Legislature, call a constitutional convention, ban livestock from highways, call for annual legislative sessions and increase the natural gas severance tax.

But in the flood of legislation came several tough subjects not anticipated in advance. Included in this category are a bill to outlaw all gambling in Louisiana—including that at horse race and harness tracks licensed by the state; a measure to ban union contributions to political campaigns; a bill to cut off ad valorem tax exemptions to new manufacturing construction and a bill to ban night horse racing.

The gambling bill was introduced by Sen. Horace Wilkinson of Port Allen who declared: "I think that if gambling is wrong, it is wrong in any form."

CSC Plans $5 Million Nitro-Paraffin Plant

Construction of a huge nitro-paraffin plant by the Commercial Solvents Corporation will begin "sometime this summer," according to J. E. Wheeler, manager of the local plant, with completion expected in July of 1955. Approximate cost of the plant is set at $5,000,000.

Engineering on the giant plant has already begun and work along these lines are continuing at Sterlington.

The plant will take from natural oil and gas the paraffin or "fatty" groups of hydrocarbons that can be put to commercial use. Up until approximately 1939 work in this field was chiefly academic.

However, through the research under the direction of Prof. Henry B. Haas, of Purdue University, the Commercial Solvents Corporation was able to announce that it had "cracked" some of the paraffins and thus put them to use.

The CSC, by going into the commercial supply of this new phase of the industry, will give the world a reasonable supply of a comparatively new family of petroleum by-products.

The products will be made available to other concerns who will use the nitro-paraffin in the development of finished products such as photographic equipment.

Quick Thinking Brings Arrest Of Suspected Thief

A quick-thinking service station attendant made possible the arrest of a man wanted in Texas on four counts of theft by check and AWOL from an air station, Sheriff Bailey Grant said Saturday. The man was also wanted in Monroe for attempted forgery.

According to Grant, Dunn attempted to cash a check in a local service station and when unable to do so, left the scene immediately. The attendant immediately notified the Ouachita parish sheriff department, which sent out a bulletin for the man's arrest.

Authorities in Rayville, working on the information supplied by the local department, apprehended Dunn and notified the Ouachita sheriff office. Dunn was returned to Monroe where he is being held.

A check with Texas authorities revealed the charges there against him, and the local sheriff department agreed to turn him over to Sheriff Bill Meblin, of Seguin, Tex., on the theft charges. Dunn signed a waiver of extradition before Judge Jesse Heard Saturday and will be returned to Texas Monday.

One of the theft charges is for a check which he gave to pay for the 1951 Ford Victoria, which he was driving.

President's New Housing Program Faces Hard Fight

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP) — President Eisenhower's new housing program faces its most critical test next week in five days of closed-door sessions of the Senate Banking Committee.

The legislation, a key part of Eisenhower's domestic program, passed the House with little difficulty. But that was before the White House and two congressional committees launched probes of scandals in the Federal Housing Administration.

Ranking committee members said privately at least two presidential proposals are likely to be scuttled as a result of the scandal. They are:

1. A liberalization of the home repair and modernization program which would allow FHA-insured loans up to $3,000 repayable in five years. Home repair loans, which are running a billion dollars a year under the FHA program, are now limited to $2,500, repayable in three years.

2. A brand new program to provide 100-per cent insured loans for new homes costing up to $7,000 and built as a result of slum clearance or some other federal activity. These loans would be repayable over 40 years, the longest term ever requested under government housing programs.

The House has approved both of these programs.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said he would vote to kill outright the home repair loan program. He noted the nation as a whole spends roughly eight billion dollars a year on this kind of construction. The need for the depression-born FHA program of loan insurance has ended, he said.

Not one senator questioned by a reporter said he would support the 40-year, 100-per cent new home insurance program.

Democrats on the committee, meanwhile, scheduled a strategy session Monday morning under the leadership of Sen. Maybank (D-SC).

Maybank said the Democrats would offer a series of amendments to the administration measure designed to "plug every possible loophole" but at the same time produce a housing bill to keep the nation's two million construction workers at their jobs.

Florists, Horticulturists Open Convention Today

Louisiana florists and horticulturists open a three day convention here tonight at 8 p.m. at the Virginia hotel. Registration, however, will get underway this morning at 10 a.m.

Most of Sunday's function will consist of registration and rounding out pre-convention preparations. A "get-acquainted" session is set for 9 p.m. tonight on the hotel roof.

The first business session of the convention will be held Monday morning at 9:30, resolutions will be offered for membership action and the election of new officers begins. Balloting will continue through Monday and Tuesday, according to Eugene Scott, convention publicist.

New officers will be announced near the close of the convention at a banquet Tuesday night.

Two luncheons are on tap for Monday noon. One will be at the Frances hotel, under the auspices of the Telegraph Delivery Service, and another will be held at the Virginia roof sponsored by the Florist Telegraph Delivery Association.

A designing clinic will be conducted Monday and Tuesday afternoons, when local slower shops will close to enable employees to attend the clinics.

The design clinics, to be conducted by Tommie Bright of Chicago, have been arranged to sharpen florists in the latest techniques in arranging and designing.

More than 4,000 conventioners are expected for the event, according to Scott. He said that several visitors from surrounding states will attend. One of the top convention speakers will be James Lawrie, of Toronto, Ont., Canada. He is president of F.T.D.A., which represents more than 18,000 members.

Columbia Repays McCarthy Expense Of Broadcasting

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System today paid Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) for the cost of filming his reply to a critical television report on him by new commentator Edward R. Murrow.

The network, saying it believed its "policy of fairness and balance" required that McCarthy be reimbursed for expenses of preparing his filmed reply, sent him a check for $6,336.99.

However, CBS said it would not have paid the outside costs, except for the fact that the criticism was on a program produced and controlled by the network.

Murrow, a CBS staff member, made the original broadcast on his weekly "See It Now" program March 9, and at that time offered McCarthy the opportunity to reply on the same program in the future.

The senator employed an outside firm to film his answer, which was televised on "See It Now" April 6. McCarthy then sent a bill for his expenses to the show's sponsor, the Aluminum Co. of America.

Alcoa sent it back to him, saying its contract with CBS covered the show's costs.

McCarthy then forwarded the bill to CBS.

In paying him, CBS said its long-established policy in the treatment of controversial issues was to "provide facilities and technical assistance reasonably needed" by those invited to answer criticisms.

However, CBS added that if the criticism is made by persons not connected with CBS, its policy is to "limit the reply to the same type of broadcast as the original" and uing the same production facilities of CBS.

But when the show is by a CBS staff man, CBS added, the person replying may choose his own "method of presentation," using either CBS or other facilities.

Jeanerette School To Pay Town $4,500

NEW IBERIA, La., May 15—UP—The Iberia parish school board will pay the town of Jeanerette $4,500 to clear the title to property occupied by the Jeanerette elementary school on East Main street.

The payment represented a compromise to a civil action filed against Jeanerette last Jan. 22 by the school board, claiming the town had no interest or title to the property.

Mayor J. P. Lapeyrouse was authorized at a special meeting of town aldermen to compromise the suit since it was established that Jeanerette had never been paid for the property by the school board.

Moscow Radio Urges Britain To Shun U. S.

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—Moscow radio urged Britain today to abandon cooperation with the United States and get into a working partnership with Russia.

In a broadcast marking the 12th anniversary of the signing of the wartime British-Soviet treaty, the official radio repeated one of the Kremlin's most persistent themes: "The Soviet people know there are no grounds for a clash between the national interests of Britain and the U.S.S.R."

"Britain has taken the path of actions which cannot fail to undermine the real significance of this treaty," the broadcast said. "This refers to Britain's participation in the American policy of cold war and the creation of aggressive blocs directed against peace-loving countries.

"Two such countries as Britain and the U.S.S.R. can do much by their joint efforts for improving the international situation and for solving its most urgent problems."

CSC Plans $5 Million Nitro-Paraffin Plant

Construction of a huge nitro-paraffin plant by the Commercial Solvents Corporation will begin "sometime this summer," according to J. E. Wheeler, manager of the local plant, with completion expected in July of 1955. Approimate cost of the plant is set at $5,000,000.

Engineering on the giant plant has already begun and work along these lines are continuing at Sterlington.

The plant will take from natural oil and gas the paraffin or "fatty" groups of hydrocarbons that can be put to commercial use. Up until approximately 1939 work in this field was chiefly academic.

However, through the research under the direction of Prof. Henry B. Haas, of Purdue University, the Commercial Solvents Corporation was able to announce that it had "cracked" some of the paraffins and thus put them to use.

The CSC, by going into the commercial supply of this new phase of the industry, will give the world a reasonable supply of a comparatively new family of petroleum by-products.

The products will be made available to other concerns who will use the nitro-paraffin in the development of finished products such as photographic equipment.

Quick Thinking Brings Arrest Of Suspected Thief

A quick-thinking service station attendant made possible the arrest of a man wanted in Texas on four counts of theft by check and AWOL from an air station, Sheriff Bailey Grant said Saturday. The man was also wanted in Monroe for attempted forgery.

According to Grant, Dunn attempted to cash a check in a local service station and when unable to do so, left the scene immediately. The attendant immediately notified the Ouachita parish sheriff department, which sent out a bulletin for the man's arrest.

Authorities in Rayville, working on the information supplied by the local department, apprehended Dunn and notified the Ouachita sheriff office. Dunn was returned to Monroe where he is being held.

A check with Texas authorities revealed the charges there against him, and the local sheriff department agreed to turn him over to Sheriff Bill Meblin, of Seguin, Tex., on the theft charges. Dunn signed a waiver of extradition before Judge Jesse Heard Saturday and will be returned to Texas Monday.

One of the theft charges is for a check which he gave to pay for the 1951 Ford Victoria, which he was driving.

President's New Housing Program Faces Hard Fight

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP) — President Eisenhower's new housing program faces its most critical test next week in five days of closed-door sessions of the Senate Banking Committee.

The legislation, a key part of Eisenhower's domestic program, passed the House with little difficulty. But that was before the White House and two congressional committees launched probes of scandals in the Federal Housing Administration.

Ranking committee members said privately at least two presidential proposals are likely to be scuttled as a result of the scandal. They are:

1. A liberalization of the home repair and modernization program which would allow FHA-insured loans up to $3,000 repayable in five years. Home repair loans, which are running a billion dollars a year under the FHA program, are now limited to $2,500, repayable in three years.

2. A brand new program to provide 100-per cent insured loans for new homes costing up to $7,000 and built as a result of slum clearance or some other federal activity. These loans would be repayable over 40 years, the longest term ever requested under government housing programs.

The House has approved both of these programs.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said he would vote to kill outright the home repair loan program. He noted the nation as a whole spends roughly eight billion dollars a year on this kind of construction. The need for the depression-born FHA program of loan insurance has ended, he said.

Not one senator questioned by a reporter said he would support the 40-year, 100-per cent new home insurance program.

Democrats on the committee, meanwhile, scheduled a strategy session Monday morning under the leadership of Sen. Maybank (D-SC).

Maybank said the Democrats would offer a series of amendments to the administration measure designed to "plug every possible loophole" but at the same time produce a housing bill to keep the nation's two million construction workers at their jobs.

Florists, Horticulturists Open Convention Today

Louisiana florists and horticulturists open a three day convention here tonight at 8 p.m. at the Virginia hotel. Registration, however, will get underway this morning at 10 a.m.

Most of Sunday's function will consist of registration and rounding out pre-convention preparations. A "get-acquainted" session is set for 9 p.m. tonight on the hotel roof.

The first business session of the convention will be held Monday morning at 9:30, resolutions will be offered for membership action and the election of new officers begins. Balloting will continue through Monday and Tuesday, according to Eugene Scott, convention publicist.

New officers will be announced near the close of the convention at a banquet Tuesday night.

Two luncheons are on tap for Monday noon. One will be at the Frances hotel, under the auspices of the Telegraph Delivery Service, and another will be held at the Virginia roof sponsored by the Florist Telegraph Delivery Association.

A designing clinic will be conducted Monday and Tuesday afternoons, when local slower shops will close to enable employees to attend the clinics.

The design clinics, to be conducted by Tommie Bright of Chicago, have been arranged to sharpen florists in the latest techniques in arranging and designing.

More than 4,000 conventioners are expected for the event, according to Scott. He said that several visitors from surrounding states will attend. One of the top convention speakers will be James Lawrie, of Toronto, Ont., Canada. He is president of F.T.D.A., which represents more than 18,000 members.

Columbia Repays McCarthy Expense Of Broadcasting

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System today paid Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) for the cost of filming his reply to a critical television report on him by new commentator Edward R. Murrow.

The network, saying it believed its "policy of fairness and balance" required that McCarthy be reimbursed for expenses of preparing his filmed reply, sent him a check for $6,336.99.

However, CBS said it would not have paid the outside costs, except for the fact that the criticism was on a program produced and controlled by the network.

Murrow, a CBS staff member, made the original broadcast on his weekly "See It Now" program March 9, and at that time offered McCarthy the opportunity to reply on the same program in the future.

The senator employed an outside firm to film his answer, which was televised on "See It Now" April 6. McCarthy then sent a bill for his expenses to the show's sponsor, the Aluminum Co. of America.

Alcoa sent it back to him, saying its contract with CBS covered the show's costs.

McCarthy then forwarded the bill to CBS.

In paying him, CBS said its long-established policy in the treatment of controversial issues was to "provide facilities and technical assistance reasonably needed" by those invited to answer criticisms.

However, CBS added that if the criticism is made by persons not connected with CBS, its policy is to "limit the reply to the same type of broadcast as the original" and uing the same production facilities of CBS.

But when the show is by a CBS staff man, CBS added, the person replying may choose his own "method of presentation," using either CBS or other facilities.

Jeanerette School To Pay Town $4,500

NEW IBERIA, La., May 15—UP—The Iberia parish school board will pay the town of Jeanerette $4,500 to clear the title to property occupied by the Jeanerette elementary school on East Main street.

The payment represented a compromise to a civil action filed against Jeanerette last Jan. 22 by the school board, claiming the town had no interest or title to the property.

Mayor J. P. Lapeyrouse was authorized at a special meeting of town aldermen to compromise the suit since it was established that Jeanerette had never been paid for the property by the school board.

4,000 Rebels Assault Fort

HANOI, Indochina, May 15 (AP)—Vietminh mortar and heavy machinegun fire poured in today on the key Red River Delta defense post of Phuly, 30 miles south of Hanoi. It looked like a prelude to a big attack there soon by the Communist-led rebel forces.

A French High Command spokesman said today the Vietminh were heavily "harassing" Phuly and were under intense attack by French fighters and bombers.

The French are reinforcing the position, a crossroads leading directly north to the city of Hanoi and to the rich rice and textiles manufacturing centers of the southeastern part of the Red River Delta.

Vietminh forces which had to flee under massive artillery fire and aerial assaults on Thursday after attempts to smash into Phuly are hastily regrouping in limestone hills all around the defense position.

The Vietminh used more than 4,000 regular troops in their first big probing attacks against the French battalions guarding Phuly and are expected to hurl in thousands more when they launch their next assault.

Thirty fighters and B-26s, Corsairs and Privateers laid down barrages of 500 and 1,000 pound high explosive bombs.

From the Kesat area the Vietminh again last night mined and blew up sections of the highway and railway linking Hanoi with the seaport of Haiphong where American war supplies for the French are landed. Two freight trains were derailed.

French army engineers, protected by tanks and armored cars patrolling the 64-mile stretch of road and railway between Hanoi and Haiphong, had both routes back in operation again by noon today.

The French described the situation in the delta as generally "calm." They reported 24 Vietminh killed and 22 captured within the last 24 hours.

In northwestern Indochina, while the French talked with the Vietminh about evacuation of wounded, French warplanes kept far away from the Dien Bien Phu sector.

French warplanes ceased their attacks on the dirt road leading from the jungle covered hills around Dien Bien Phu to the crossroads point of Tuan Giao, 27 miles northeast and thence east to Sonla, 120 miles west of Hanoi.

The Vietminh had asked that there be no air attack within a radius of 10 miles of Dien Bien Phu while the French were evacuating the first batches of wounded the Vietminh are releasing.

The French actually extended the area so that the Vietminh could move out their thousands of wounded from Dien Bien Phu. Many of these convoys were headed toward Yen Bay on the upper Red River, 80 miles northwest of Hanoi and one of the Vietminh's chief offensive bases. Others moved due east. With them went thousands of Vietminh regular troops and strings of antiaircraft batteries and artillery.

These movements were figured to presage an attack on the delta.

Rebel moves were being closely watched and squadrons of warplanes stood ready to plaster Vietminh artillery and anti-aircraft batteries when they get into position to open up on the delta's westernmost perimeter.

$10,000 Reported Stolen From Jar Buried In Garage

STEELTON, Pa., May 15 (AP)—A bachelor steelworker who didn't believe in banks and told friends about a hidden treasure reported to police today that $10,000 had been taken from a gallon jar and suitcase he had buried in his garage.

"I never trusted banks after losing my money in the depression but I always thought I could trust people," sobbed Mile Borich, 64, to Swartara Township police.

He said that he learned that cash and war bonds he was saving for his retirement had been stolen when he went to get his car yesterday. The jar and suitcase had been buried under several inches of dirt in a corner of the garage.

"I would kid with people and tell them I was going to check on my buried treasure," the crane operator said. "I never thought they would believe me."

"I wanted to save . . . save for things I could have later on."

ALBIN P. LASSITER

D. A. Candidate States Platform

Albin P. Lassiter, Monroe attorney, who qualified late Friday as a candidate for the office of district attorney, pledged to "faithfully perform all of the duties of the office" in a formal statement Saturday. He is the second person to qualify for the office.

In his formal statement Lassiter said: "I have qualified as a candidate for the office of district attorney, believing that I can be of service to the citizens of Morehouse and Ouachita Parishes. If elected, I shall devote my time and energy to the proper handling of the job. It will be my sincere endeavor to faithfully perform all the duties of the office, which primarily are to prosecute the guilty, and, just as conscientiously, protect the rights of the innocent."

"In addition to criminal work, the district attorney is the legal counsel of the police juries, school boards and other parochial bodies of the respective parishes. My experience in the practice of civil law and in the business world shall be beneficial to these organizations."

He obtained the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws at Tulane University and was admitted to the Louisiana Bar in 1931. He has been a resident of Ouachita Parish since 1933, except for the years 1941 to 1947 when he was in Texas.

Lassiter is a member of the American Bar Association, Louisiana State Bar Association and the Fourth District Bar Association. He is also an active member of the Parkway Baptist church and has always taken a keen interest in civic affairs on all levels.

Federal Grand Jury To Open Sessions Here

Thirty area residents are scheduled to report here Monday for duty at the spring session of the federal grand jury. From the 30 a maximum of 23 persons will be elected for jury duty.

It could not be ascertained here what cases are to be presented to the grand jury, but a United Press dispatch quoted informed sources as saying the case of a bank vice president and a used car salesman, charged with obtaining $17,000 from the First National Bank, Shreveport, would be among those presented here.

The dispatch identified Weldon Elliott, the bank official, and John T. Lindsey, both of Bossier City, as the men charged with conspiracy to make false entries in the records of the bank. The men were arrested October 17, 1953, by FBI agents and local authorities, the dispatch said. Elliott was later released on $10,000 bond and Lindsey on $2,500.

Informed sources were also quoted in the dispatch as saying "that the smuggling case, involving Charlolas cattle from Mexico, will not be ready for presentation to the grand jury this term." A. A. Broussard, who pleaded guilty to bringing in the cattle from Mexico, recently was sentenced to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine in Federal district court in Waco, Tex.

Officials said, however, that the case definitely will be prosecuted by Louisiana authorities, and will be presented to a later session of the grand jury.

Fate Of Ike's Farm Program Hinges On Successor To Hoey In Committee

WASHINGTON, May 15 —(AP)— The fate of President Eisenhower's farm program in the Senate Agriculture committee hinged Saturday on the selection of a senator to fill the committee vacancy left by the death of Sen. Clyde M. Hoey, (D-N.C.).

Informed sources said Hoey's death last Wednesday left the committee split seven-to-seven over the administration proposal to supplant present high farm price supports with a flexible and generally lower support scale for major crops. Hoey had opposed the plan.

Informants said supporters of the administration plan are "pulling every wire they can" in an effort to fill the vacancy with a Democratic senator sympathetic to the flexible support concept.

But Senate Democratic leaders, who have the final say on the appointment, were reported to be leaning towards selection of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a high-level support man who would tip the balance against the administration plan.

Humphrey once served on the committee but left it last year for a post on the Foreign Relations committee. He is on record in favor of continuing the current program under which the government guarantees support of basic crops at 90 per cent of the "fair income" parity price.

Hoey had taken the same stand, giving opponents of the administration's flexible plan an eight-seven edge, according to a committee member.

No final decision will be made until Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) returns to the capital from a trip next Tuesday.

4,000 Rebels Assault Fort

HANOI, Indochina, May 15 (AP)—Vietminh mortar and heavy machinegun fire poured in today on the key Red River Delta defense post of Phuly, 30 miles south of Hanoi. It looked like a prelude to a big attack there soon by the Communist-led rebel forces.

A French High Command spokesman said today the Vietminh were heavily "harassing" Phuly and were under intense attack by French fighters and bombers.

The French are reinforcing the position, a crossroads leading directly north to the city of Hanoi and to the rich rice and textiles manufacturing centers of the southeastern part of the Red River Delta.

Vietminh forces which had to flee under massive artillery fire and aerial assaults on Thursday after attempts to smash into Phuly are hastily regrouping in limestone hills all around the defense position.

The Vietminh used more than 4,000 regular troops in their first big probing attacks against the French battalions guarding Phuly and are expected to hurl in thousands more when they launch their next assault.

Thirty fighters nd B-26s, Corsairs and Privateers laid down barrages of 500 and 1,000 pound high explosive bombs.

From the Kesat area the Vietminh again last night mined and blew up sections of the highway and railway linking Hanoi with the seaport of Haiphong where American war supplies for the French are landed. Two freight trains were derailed.

French army engineers, protected by tanks and armored cars patrolling the 64-mile stretch of road and railway between Hanoi and Haiphong, had both routes back in operation again by noon today.

The French described the situation in the delta as generally "calm." They reported 24 Vietminh killed and 22 captured within the last 24 hours.

In northwestern Indochina, while the French talked with the Vietminh about evacuation of wounded, French warplanes kept far away from the Dien Bien Phu sector.

French warplanes ceased their attacks on the dirt road leading from the jungle covered hills around Dien Bien Phu to the crossroads point of Tuan Giao, 27 miles northeast and thence east to Sonla, 120 miles west of Hanoi.

The Vietminh had asked that there be no air attack within a radius of 10 miles of Dien Bien Phu while the French were evacuating the first batches of wounded the Vietminh are releasing.

The French actually extended the area so that the Vietminh could move out their thousands of wounded from Dien Bien Phu. Many of these convoys were headed toward Yen Bay on the upper Red River, 80 miles northwest of Hanoi and one of the Vietminh's chief offensive bases. Others moved due east. With them went thousands of Vietminh regular troops and strings of antiaircraft batteries and artillery.

These movements were figured to presage an attack on the delta.

Rebel moves were being closely watched and squadrons of warplanes stood ready to plaster Vietminh artillery and anti-aircraft batteries when they get into position to open up on the delta's westernmost perimeter.

$10,000 Reported Stolen From Jar Buried In Garage

STEELTON, Pa., May 15 (AP)—A bachelor steelworker who didn't believe in banks and told friends about a hidden treasure reported to police today that $10,000 had been taken from a gallon jar and suitcase he had buried in his garage.

"I never trusted banks after losing my money in the depression but I always thought I could trust people," sobbed Mile Borich, 64, to Swartara Township police.

He said that he learned that cash and war bonds he was saving for his retirement had been stolen when he went to get his car yesterday. The jar and suitcase had been buried under several inches of dirt in a corner of the garage.

"I would kid with people and tell them I was going to check on my buried treasure," the crane operator said. "I never thought they would believe me."

"I wanted to save . . . save for things I could have later on."

ALBIN P. LASSITER

D. A. Candidate States Platform

Albin P. Lassiter, Monroe attorney, who qualified late Friday as a candidate for the office of district attorney, pledged to "faithfully perform all of the duties of the office" in a formal statement Saturday. He is the second person to qualify for the office.

In his formal statement Lassiter said: "I have qualified as a candidate for the office of district attorney, believing that I can be of service to the citizens of Morehouse and Ouachita Parishes. If elected, I shall devote my time and energy to the proper handling of the job. It will be my sincere endeavor to faithfully perform all the duties of the office, which primarily are to prosecute the guilty, and, just as conscientiously, protect the rights of the innocent."

"In addition to criminal work, the district attorney is the legal counsel of the police juries, school boards and other parochial bodies of the respective parishes. My experience in the practice of civil law and in the business world shall be beneficial to these organizations."

He obtained the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws at Tulane University and was admitted to the Louisiana Bar in 1931. He has been a resident of Ouachita Parish since 1933, except for the years 1941 to 1947 when he was in Texas.

Federal Grand Jury To Open Sessions Here

Thirty area residents are scheduled to report here Monday for duty at the spring session of the federal grand jury. From the 30 a maximum of 23 persons will be elected for jury duty.

It could not be ascertained here what cases are to be presented to the grand jury, but a United Press dispatch quoted informed sources as saying the case of a bank vice president and a used car salesman, charged with obtaining $17,000 from the First National Bank, Shreveport, would be among those presented here.

The dispatch identified Weldon Elliott, the bank official, and John T. Lindsey, both of Bossier City, as the men charged with conspiracy to make false entries in the records of the bank. The men were arrested October 17, 1953, by FBI agents and local authorities, the dispatch said. Elliott was later released on $10,000 bond and Lindsey on $2,500.

Informed sources were also quoted in the dispatch as saying "that the smuggling case, involving Charlolas cattle from Mexico, will not be ready for presentation to the grand jury this term." A. A. Broussard, who pleaded guilty to bringing in the cattle from Mexico, recently was sentenced to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine in Federal district court in Waco, Tex.

Officials said, however, that the case definitely will be prosecuted by Louisiana authorities, and will be presented to a later session of the grand jury.

Fate Of Ike's Farm Program Hinges On Successor To Hoey In Committee

WASHINGTON, May 15 —(UP)—The fate of President Eisenhower's farm program in the Senate Agriculture committee hinged Saturday on the selection of a senator to fill the committee vacancy left by the death of Sen. Clyde M. Hoey, (D-N.C.).

Informed sources said Hoey's death last Wednesday left the committee split seven-to-seven over the administration proposal to supplant present high farm price supports with a flexible and generally lower support scale for major crops. Hoey had opposed the plan.

Informants said supporters of the administration plan are "pulling every wire they can" in an effort to fill the vacancy with a Democratic senator sympathetic to the flexible support concept.

But Senate Democratic leaders, who have the final say on the appointment, were reported to be leaning towards selection of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a high-level support man who would tip the balance against the administration plan.

Humphrey once served on the committee but left it last year for a post on the Foreign Relations committee. He is on record in favor of continuing the current program under which the government guarantees support of basic crops at 90 per cent of the "fair income" parity price.

Hoey had taken the same stand, giving opponents of the administration's flexible plan an eight-seven edge, according to a committee member.

No final decision will be made until Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) returns to the capital from a trip next Tuesday.

The gift was presented to Mayo M. Iles, manager of the company, at a meeting of company and village officials.

The park and pool are to be operated through a park commission of which L. L. Jackson was appointed chairman by Mayor E. L. Kraft. The Clarks Home Demonstration club, with Mrs. Harold Brown, president, will be in charge of landscaping the park.

The pool and park are to be opened as soon as they can be reconditioned. The Clarks pool is the only swimming pool in Caldwell parish and is the only pool between Monroe and Alexandria along Highway 165.

A former purchase by the Diocese of Alexandria included the completely furnished lumber company's hotel and two additional lots. Clarks Receives Pool And Park

CLARKS, May 15 (Special)—The Louisiana Central Oil and Gas Co. recently presented the newly incorporated village of Clarks a large swimming pool and recreation park formerly operated at Clarks by the lumber company.

The gift was presented to Mayo M. Iles, manager of the company, at a meeting of company and village officials.

The park and pool are to be operated through a park commission of which L. L. Jackson was appointed chairman by Mayor E. L. Kraft. The Clarks Home Demonstration club with Mrs. Harold Brown, president, will be in charge of landscaping the park.

The pool and park are to be opened as soon as they can be reconditioned. The Clarks pool is the only swimming pool in Caldwell parish and is the only pool between Monroe and Alexandria along Highway 165.

Another project of interest is the recent purchase by Bishop Charles P. Greco for the Diocese of Alexandria, of the lumber company's large store building and two adjoining lots. A former purchase by the Diocese of Alexandria included the completely furnished lumber company's hotel and two additional lots. According to Bishop Greco the Catholic church plans to use the property either as a school or as a home for old people.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Two veteran campaigners match wits at Legion Memorial Stadium this afternoon when Paul Dean and Ed Head pit their teams in the first of a three-game Cotton States League series here.

Dean, the less gabby member of the "Me 'n Paul" combination that included the colorful Dizzy when the brothers were making baseball history for the old Gas House Gang at St. Louis in the early 1930s, is the new owner and manager of the Hot Springs Bathers and Twin Cities fans get their first look at the younger Dean and his Spas in the contest here today.

Although the Bathers are off to a slow start, Cotton States rivals are seeing reasons to fear Hot Springs before the campaign is much older as Dean is counting on additional help from the St. Louis Cardinals and is already strengthening his weak spots. The Sports aren't going to find the Bathers easy, but a good series is in prospect.

Little Leaguers of Monroe and West Monroe had their final tryouts yesterday with plenty of talent available to build the four leagues planned this year, two on each side of the river. Now the youngsters are anxiously awaiting the players' draft in hopes of being selected for league competition.

The kids have tried their best and those who fail to make the teams will be just as strong in backing their favorite club as if they were in the game themselves. The irony is, however, that some good players won't be permitted to play because of Little League rules limiting the number of older boys on the clubs. A team can carry only five 12-year-olds, a team that had six 11-year-olds last year is going to have to release one this year, and the clubs that are well balanced in all ages is the better fixed from year to year.

Misunderstanding of the rules causes some friction with adults who can't understand how their 12-year-old son was passed up in a draft that took a nine or ten-year-old boy who was not as good a player. But the system gives a wider range of choice, creating more interest for the eight, nine and ten-year-olds who feel they still have a chance in competition with the older boys.

The death of Frank G. Menke at Cincinnati Thursday erased one of the nation's foremost sports writers and statisticians, the author of the All-Sports Record Book, and the Encyclopedia of Sports, among others. As a sports writer, Menke often found himself at a loss because of the lack of a compiled list of athletic records, so he took it upon himself to create such a record book, covering every phase of sports.

Menke's chief controversy was with the baseball people who say a fellow named Abner Doubleday invented baseball at Cooperstown, N. Y. Menke's encyclopedia of Sports disagrees and is pretty convincing in its recording of alleged facts concerning Doubleday and why baseball decided to go along with the Cooperstown myth. It's mighty interesting reading for those interested in baseball lore.

Phils Maintain National Lead By Edging Reds, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 (AP)—Gran Hamner's seventh inning single which scored Richie Ashburn from second base gave the Philadelphia Phillies the run they needed to beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 today.

A slim crowd of 3,981 saw Bob Miller, starter for the Phillies, work with a lead during the first four innings on a three-run homer by Del Ennis in the first inning and a leadoff home run by Stan Lopata in the fourth.

But two runs scored by Bobby Adams in the first and fifth innings and two more in the seventh tied the score 4-4.

Martin Spearhead Of Ten-Hit Attack With Four Blasts

The Twin Cities Sports showered the El Dorado Oilers with a ten-hit attack in the first four innings, including a big six-hit third inning that produced eight runs, and coasted to an 11-5 victory over the El Dorado Oilers in the final of a four-game series here last night. The victory gave Manager Ed Head's Sports an even split for the series.

Second baseman Buddy Martin produced the most explosive bat last night as he led the Sports' attack with four hits in five times at bat, one of them a double, as he batted in four runs and scored once. No other Sport got more than one hit, but C. J. Fontana poled a three-run double, and Bob Norden socked a two-run double.

Paul Aube worked all the way on the mound for the Sports, allowing only nine hits. Ken Yoke, a lefthander, was the victim of the Sports' assault, giving up seven runs, but Nick Demus, his relief, hurled hitless ball at the Sports after the fourth inning.

Buddy Martin's two-run single opened the scoring in the second inning as he drove home Bob Norden, who had walked, and Herman Herzog, who had singled.

Then the Sports unloaded for the big third frame that went like this: Paul Flores singled and took second on a wild pitch. C. J. Fontana fanned. Dave Waters was safe when Willie LaBeff dropped his popper in front of the plate. Norden smashed a double, scoring Flores and Waters, and Norden raced on to third on the shortstop's wild throw to that bag. Sam Chetta singled Norden home. Herzog was hit by a pitched ball, finishing Yoke. Demus came to the mound for the Oilers. Aube singled, scoring Chetta. Martin delivered his third straight hit, tallying Herzog. Forbes was hit by a pitched ball, loading the bases. Flores filed out to second, but Fontana cleaned the sacks with a double into left center. Waters filed out to center to end the inning.

The Oilers gathered in a run in the fourth as successive singles by Luke Tucker, Frank Walenga, and Bobby Scott loaded the bases with none out. Tucker scored on LaBeff's fly to center. Demus forced Scott and Gene Bilo grounded out to end the threat.

Martin's fourth consecutive hit drove in the eleventh Sports run in the fourth inning, scoring Chetta who had been hit by a pitched ball and advanced as Aube walked.

An error handed the Oilers two unearned runs in the eighth. Walenga singled with one out. Scott walked. LaBeff grounded out, advancing the runners. Demus then grounded to Herzog who threw into the dirt at first, Walenga and Scott scoring.

The Oilers still hadn't given up in the ninth. With one out, Bill Carr singled. Pel Austin forced Carr, but Tucker singled, and Walenga poked a double into center field, scoring Austin and Tucker. Scott grounded out to end the game.

Negro Teams Clash Wednesday Night At Stadium

Unmatched comedy, stellar big league baseball, plus all sorts of added attractions are on tap at Legion Memorial Park in Monroe on Wednesday night at 8 p.m., when the famous Indianapolis Clowns, Negro American League team, cross bats with the popular and flashy Birmingham Black Barons baseball club, in a professional diamond encounter and official NAL contest.

The Clowns, now in their 25th season of play, will be taking on a formidable opponent in their rivals from Alabama. Featuring the inimitable King Tut and his cohort, Spec Bebop, in the fun-laughing department, the 'Imps of the Diamond' are more popular today than ever before, having set new attendance records in the NAL circuit in '53, nd the demand for dates this year has them booked months in advance, and over a wider area than in any previous season.

The female innovation of '53 was little short of melo-dramatic. This season Miss Connie Morgan of Philadelphia is gracing the Clowns, defensive position at second base. In addition a second girl star has been signed in the person of Miss Mamie (Peanut) Johnson of Washington, D.C., whose specialty is pitching, and who has earned her way to a regular starting berth among the Clowns' pitching staff.

Then, there's the diamond comedy fun-show featuring Tut and Bebop, a sure-fire added feature of all Cowns baseballgames. Plus the superlative cast of tomorrow's future diamond stars of major league baseball.

RUSTON, La., May 15 (Special)—Louisiana Tech gained a tie for the Gulf States Conference baseball championship here this afternoon by defeating the Northeast Louisiana State Indians, 5 to 3.

The win for the Tech Bulldogs means that Tech and Southeastern Louisiana College, both with 9-3 records, will share the G. S. C. title.

Indian hurler "Bo" Laird gave up seven hits to Tech, one of them a home run by Bulldog catcher George Berry in the fifth that broke a 3-3 deadlock. Milford Andrews started on the mound for Tech but gave up three hits and three runs before being relieved in the fifth by Don Walker.

Walker then set the Northeast invaders down for the rest of the game with only one hit to get credit for the victory.

The Indians opened the scoring in the second when the first man up, J. B. Nolan, doubled down the right field line. Pitcher Laird was safe on an error and Mark Boatright walked to load the bases. Billy Thompson sent a long fly to center field, Nolan scoring after the catch.

Tech came back lower half of second to take the lead with three runs on two singles, an error, three walks and a batter hit by a pitched ball. Catcher Berry singled and went to third after one was out on a single by shortstop Colvin. Berry scored when Indian catcher threw wild to second trying to stop a Colvin steal.

Jess Storts was hit by a pitched ball and James White walked to fill the bags. Laird had trouble finding the plate, walking Andrews and Hinton to force in two more runs.

Northeast tied it up in the fifth. Billy Thompson doubled and Stockton and Don Stewart walked to load the bases. Andrews fanned Leos but Clyde Thompson was safe on an error, scoring B. Thompson. Laird walked, forcing in Stockton, and Walker came in to pitch for Tech.

Tech pulled ahead 4-3 in the fifth on Berry's home run and added another in the seventh on two walks and an error.

Sports Rout Oilers, 11-5, To Even Series

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Two veteran campaigners match wits at Legion Memorial Stadium this afternoon when Paul Dean and Ed Head pit their teams in the first of a three-game Cotton States League series here.

Dean, the less gabby member of the "Me 'n Paul" combination that included the colorful Dizzy when the brothers were making baseball history for the old Gas House Gang at St. Louis in the early 1930s, is the new owner and manager of the Hot Springs Bathers and Twin Cities fans get their first look at the younger Dean and his Spas in the contest here today.

Although the Bathers are off to a slow start, Cotton States rivals are seeing reasons to fear Hot Springs before the campaign is much older as Dean is counting on additional help from the St. Louis Cardinals and is already strengthening his weak spots. The Sports aren't going to find the Bathers easy, but a good series is in prospect.

Little Leaguers of Monroe and West Monroe had their final tryouts yesterday with plenty of talent available to build the four leagues planned this year, two on each side of the river. Now the youngsters are anxiously awaiting the players' draft in hopes of being selected for league competition.

The kids have tried their best and those who fail to make the teams will be just as strong in backing their favorite club as if they were in the game themselves. The irony is, however, that some good players won't be permitted to play because of Little League rules limiting the number of older boys on the clubs. A team can carry only five 12-year-olds, a team that had six 11-year-olds last year is going to have to release one this year, and the clubs that are well balanced in all ages is the better fixed from year to year.

Misunderstanding of the rules causes some friction with adults who can't understand how their 12-year-old son was passed up in a draft that took a nine or ten-year-old boy who was not as good a player. But the system gives a wider range of choice, creating more interest for the eight, nine and ten-year-olds who feel they still have a chance in competition with the older boys.

The death of Frank G. Menke at Cincinnati Thursday erased one of the nation's foremost sports writers and statisticians, the author of the All-Sports Record Book, and the Encyclopedia of Sports, among others. As a sports writer, Menke often found himself at a loss because of the lack of a compiled list of athletic records, so he took it upon himself to create such a record book, covering every phase of sports.

Menke's chief controversy was with the baseball people who say a fellow named Abner Doubleday invented baseball at Cooperstown, N. Y. Menke's encyclopedia of Sports disagrees and is pretty convincing in its recording of alleged facts concerning Doubleday and why baseball decided to go along with the Cooperstown myth. It's mighty interesting reading for those interested in baseball lore.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 (AP)—Gran Hamner's seventh inning single which scored Richie Ashburn from second base gave the Philadelphia Phillies the run they needed to beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 today.

A slim crowd of 3,981 saw Bob Miller, starter for the Phillies, work with a lead during the first four innings on a three-run homer by Del Ennis in the first inning and a leadoff home run by Stan Lopata in the fourth.

But two runs scored by Bobby Adams in the first and fifth innings and two more in the seventh tied the score 4-4.

Negro Teams Clash Wednesday Night At Stadium

Unmatched comedy, stellar big league baseball, plus all sorts of added attractions are on tap at Legion Memorial Park in Monroe on Wednesday night at 8 p.m., when the famous Indianapolis Clowns, Negro American League team, cross bats with the popular and flashy Birmingham Black Barons baseball club, in a professional diamond encounter and official NAL contest.

The Clowns, now in their 25th season of play, will be taking on a formidable opponent in their rivals from Alabama. Featuring the inimitable King Tut and his cohort, Spec Bebop, in the fun-laughing department, the 'Imps of the Diamond' are more popular today than ever before, having set new attendance records in the NAL circuit in '53, nd the demand for dates this year has them booked months in advance, and over a wider area than in any previous season.

The female innovation of '53 was little short of melo-dramatic. This season Miss Connie Morgan of Philadelphia is gracing the Clowns, defensive position at second base. In addition a second girl star has been signed in the person of Miss Mamie (Peanut) Johnson of Washington, D.C., whose specialty is pitching, and who has earned her way to a regular starting berth among the Clowns' pitching staff.

Then, there's the diamond comedy fun-show featuring Tut and Bebop, a sure-fire added feature of all Cowns baseballgames. Plus the superlative cast of tomorrow's future diamond stars of major league baseball.

Curtis Nichols and Bill Carpenter will play McVea Oliver and Robert Guerriero in the finals of DeSiard County Club's annual spring four-ball handicap tournament.

The quarter may choose to play their championship round today, but have the alternative of selecting any day this week.

Nichols and Carpenter defeated P. B. Snodgrass and R. J. Skillman, 3 and 1; while Oliver and Guerriero beat George Martin and Corbin Turpin, 2 and 1.

The Twin Cities Sports showered the El Dorado Oilers with a ten-hit attack in the first four innings, including a big six-hit third inning that produced eight runs, and coasted to an 11-5 victory over the El Dorado Oilers in the final of a four-game series here last night. The victory gave Manager Ed Head's Sports an even split for the series.

Second baseman Buddy Martin produced the most explosive bat last night as he led the Sports' attack with four hits in five times at bat, one of them a double, as he batted in four runs and scored once. No other Sport got more than one hit, but C. J. Fontana poled a three-run double, and Bob Norden socked a two-run double.

Paul Aube worked all the way on the mound for the Sports, allowing only nine hits. Ken Yoke, a lefthander, was the victim of the Sports' assault, giving up seven runs, but Nick Demus, his relief, hurled hitless ball at the Sports after the fourth inning.

Buddy Martin's two-run single opened the scoring in the second inning as he drove home Bob Norden, who had walked, and Herman Herzog, who had singled.

Then the Sports unloaded for the big third frame that went like this: Paul Flores singled and took second on a wild pitch. C. J. Fontana fanned. Dave Waters was safe when Willie LaBeff dropped his popper in front of the plate. Norden smashed a double, scoring

BATHERS MOVE IN

Flores and Waters, and Norden raced on to third on the shortstop's wild throw to that bag. Sam Chetta singled Norden home. Herzog was hit by a pitched ball, finishing Yoke. Demus came to the mound for the Oilers. Aube singled, scoring Chetta. Martin delivered his third straight hit, tallying Herzog. Forbes was hit by a pitched ball, loading the bases. Flores filed out to second, but Fontana cleaned the sacks with a double into left center. Waters filed out to center to end the inning.

The Oilers gathered in a run in the fourth as successive singles by Luke Tucker, Frank Walenga, and Bobby Scott loaded the bases with none out. Tucker scored on LaBeff's fly to center. Demus forced Scott and Gene Bilo grounded out to end the threat.

Martin's fourth consecutive hit drove in the eleventh Sports run in the fourth inning, scoring Chetta who had been hit by a pitched ball and advanced as Aube walked.

An error handed the Oilers two unearned runs in the eighth. Walenga singled with one out. Scott walked. LaBeff grounded out, advancing the runners. Demus then grounded to Herzog who threw into the dirt at first, Walenga and Scott scoring.

The Oilers still hadn't given up in the ninth. With one out, Bill Carr singled. Pel Austin forced Carr, but Tucker singled, and Walenga poked a double into center field, scoring Austin and Tucker. Scott grounded out to end the game.

Tech Trips Northeast, 5-3

RUSTON, La., May 15 (Special)—Louisiana Tech gained a tie for the Gulf States Conference baseball championship here this afternoon by defeating the Northeast Louisiana State Indians, 5 to 3.

The win for the Tech Bulldogs means that Tech and Southeastern Louisiana College, both with 9-3 records, will share the G. S. C. title.

Indian hurler "Bo" Laird gave up seven hits to Tech, one of them a home run by Bulldog catcher George Berry in the fifth that broke a 3-3 deadlock. Milford Andrews started on the mound for Tech but gave up three hits and three runs before being relieved in the fifth by Don Walker.

Walker then set the Northeast invaders down for the rest of the game with only one hit to get credit for the victory.

The Indians opened the scoring in the second when the first man up, J. B. Nolan, doubled down the right field line. Pitcher Laird was safe on an error and Mark Boatright walked to load the bases. Billy Thompson sent a long fly to center field, Nolan scoring after the catch.

Tech came back lower half of second to take the lead with three runs on two singles, an error, three walks and a batter hit by a pitched ball. Catcher Berry singled and went to third after one was out on a single by shortstop Colvin. Berry scored when Indian catcher threw wild to second trying to stop a Colvin steal.

Jess Storts was hit by a pitched ball and James White walked to fill the bags. Laird had trouble finding the plate, walking Andrews and Hinton to force in two more runs.

Northeast tied it up in the fifth. Billy Thompson doubled and Stockton and Don Stewart walked to load the bases. Andrews fanned Leos but Clyde Thompson was safe on an error, scoring B. Thompson. Laird walked, forcing in Stockton, and Walker came in to pitch for Tech.

Tech pulled ahead 4-3 in the fifth on Berry's home run and added another in the seventh on two walks and an error.

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP)—Hasty House farm's Queen Hopeful, living up to expectations, won the Black-eye Susan Stakes at Pimlico today after taking a stretch drive from Warren Griffith's Gweny G.

As the favorite, Queen Hopeful paid $4.20, $2.80 and $2.40 with Gweny G. at $5.50 and $4.20. Brandywine stable's Waila, an outside choice, paid $5.60 to show.

Basilio Earns Unanimous Nod Over Scortichini

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 15 (AP)—Carmen Basilio had to run to catch Italo Scortichini in the early rounds, but he came up with a hard-earned unanimous 10-round decision over the scrappy boy from Italy tonight. Basilio weighed 150, Scortichini 152¾.

It was one of the hardest fights for Basilio, rated the No. 1 welterweight contender, even including his draw with Scortichini in their last meeting. The bout ended on a strong note with both blasting away with furious rights and lefts looking for a knockout.

Referee Barney Felix scored it for Basilio 6-3-1. Judge Art Schwartz had it 5-4-1 and judge Bert Grant 6-4-0. The Associated Press had Basilio in front 5-4-1.

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP)—The first two appearances at the plate of Ted Williams failed to avert a 2-1 defeat today for the Boston Red Sox by the Baltimore Orioles in a pitching battle between winner Joe Coleman and Truman Clevenger.

Williams, after missing the first 18 games with a shoulder he fractured March 1 on his first day of spring training, flied and grounded out in two times at the plate. He also played left field in the eighth inning and had no chances after coming in as a pinchhitter in the seventh.

Steelers Sign Two Veteran Grid Stars

PITTSBURGH, May 15 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League came to terms with two veteran players today for 1954 contracts. The players are 200-pound halfback Tom Calvin of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and George Sulima, 195-pound end from New Britain, Conn. Both men have been with the Steelers for three seasons.

26 FOR NAVY

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—Navy's magnificent oarsmen ran their winning streak, longest in college history, to 26 today beating fast-finishing Yale and Penn in a stirring stretch fuel at the Potomac Regatta.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 15 (Special)—The Neville High School Tigers, riding on the strong right arm and no-hit pitching of Arthur "Little Red" Swanson, swept to their second straight Louisiana state Class A baseball championship here this afternoon by defeating Minden High's Crimson Wave, 1 to 0, in the title finals of the three-day event.

Swanson, son of a former Louisiana State University coach, A. L. "Red" Swanson, who is now superintendent of Louisiana Training Institute at Monroe, was the most talked about player of the tournament as he set a tournament record of 16 hitless innings in working two full seven innings games and doing two innings in relief in another.

Actually, Swanson completed his high school career with a string of 29 consecutive no-hit innings of work in six different games. He pitched the last four innings against Jena in the Tigers last regular season game without giving up a hit; traveled to the North Louisiana Rally Association's district tournament at Ruston a week ago to hurl five perfect innings against LaSalle of Olla, and helped clinch the district tournament final against Farmerville with four innings of hitless relief work.

Coming to Baton Rouge for the state tournament, Swanon put Behrman of New Orleans away, 3-1, Thursday in a hitless seven inning performance. He came back yesterday morning for two hitless relief frames as Neville eliminated Destrehan, 4-2. Then came his masterpiece today.

Maxey of Minden allowed the Tigers only two hits, but Neville coupled one of them, a blow by Freddie Frickie, with two errors in the fourth inning to tally the winning run today.

One was out when Wayne Causey fanned, but the Minden catcher let the ball get away and Causey reached first on the error. Swanson was safe on an error at second base, and Larry Reeves walked to fill the bases. Frickie's one-out single sent Causey scampering home with the run that sewed up the game. Tommy Boyles flied out for the econd putout, and Swanson was thrown out at the plate attempting to score after the catch.

Minden threatened only once when McCabe walked for the only free pass issued by Swanson. McCabe stole second to set up the tying run. Boyles then blocked a low pitch that McCabe thought had got away from the catcher and he raced for third, but Boyles recovered the ball and rifled his throw to Causey at third in time to catch McCabe and end the threat.

Bastrop Knocked Out Of AA Title Race By Bolton

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 15 (Special) — The Bolton High School baseballers defeated Bastrop here this morning, 5-4, in a thirteen-inning Class AA playoff tilt.

The Bears defeated the Rams last night at Bastrop, and with today's victory in the best-of-three series, move into the state championship finals against St. Aloyious, winner over Catholic High in the southern semi-finals.

Miss Riley First To Capture Five Southern Titles

BIRMINGHAM, May 15 (AP)—Polly Riley won her record-breaking fifth Women's Southern Golf Championship today, defeating plucky Marjorie Burns, Greensboro, N. C., 2 up in 36 holes.

Although the medal scores were not particularly good, Miss Riley said it was one of the toughest matches she had ever played.

"I wasn't playing my best golf today but I was playing as well as I could," said the weary but happy champion. "I'd hate to run into anyone tougher. She was good and tough today."

Mrs. W. W. Kellogg, Monroe, La., won the fifth flight consolation in the Southern meet; and Mrs. George Miller, Monroe, was runner-up in the first flight consolation.

The slender Miss Burns, an underrated underdog who gave the sturdy Fort Worth girl a much closer battle than anyone had expected, said "If I could have just got a putt or two to fall, it might have been different."

Time and again Miss Burns would send her putts straight for the cup, only to watch them die on the lip.

Miss Riley had a 2-up lead after the morning round and extended it to 3-up after the 24th hole. Miss Burns, making her first appearance in the finals of a major golf tournament, refused to wilt and pulled within one hole of Polly on the 21st hole when Miss Riley missed the green.

Miss Riley now has won the Southern title more than any other player since the tournament was inaugurated in 1911. Until her victory today she had shared that honor with Mrs. Dave Guat, Memphis, Tenn., a star of the 1920s, who also had four victories.

Miss Riley said the only other tournament she has scheduled now is the National Amateur.

I Geegee, Brisuet Divide Delaware Valley's Laurels

CAMDEN, N.J., May 15 (AP)—A favorite and a long shot shared honors today as Brookfield farm's I Geegee flashed to a head victory in the first section and E. M. O'Brien's 50-to-1 shot, Brisuet, won by a quarter of a length in the second section of the double feature $30,000 added Delaware Valley Stakes at Garden State park today.

I Geegee, ridden by the meeting's leading jockey Willie Hartack, came with a rush in the final 30 yards to take a head verdict over East Acres farm's Bronze Warrior. I Geegee, coupled in the betting until I Appeal was clocked in 1:11 4-5 and returned $4.80, $3 and $3.40.

Bronze Warrior paid his backers $6.40 and $4.60, while I Appeal returned $4.60. W. Haggin Perry's Remand ran fourth in the field of 11 three-year olds. The Delaware Valley a new addition to the Garden State Stakes program was split into two sections of 11 horses each when 22 were named for the event. The track kicked in a $30,000 added purse for each section.

Queen Hopeful Scores Triumph In Pimlico Run

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP)—Hasty House farm's Queen Hopeful, living up to expectations, won the Black-eye Susan Stakes at Pimlico today after taking a stretch drive from Warren Griffith's Gweny G.

With Johnny Adams up, Queen Hopeful held in good position and overtook Gweny G., winner of last Monday's Black-Eyed Susan Prep for three-year-old fillies, a few strides from the finish. The time was 1.45 4-5.

As the favorite, Queen Hopeful paid $4.20, $2.80 and $2.40 with Gweny G. at $5.50 and $4.20. Brandywine stable's Waila, an outside choice, paid $5.60 to show.

Basilio Earns Unanimous Nod Over Scortichini

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 15 (AP)—Carmen Basilio had to run to catch Italo Scortichini in the early rounds, but he came up with a hard-earned unanimous 10-round decision over the scrappy boy from Italy tonight. Basilio weighed 150, Scortichini 152¾.

It was one of the hardest fights for Basilio, rated the No. 1 welterweight contender, even including his draw with Scortichini in their last meeting. The bout ended on a strong note with both blasting away with furious rights and lefts looking for a knockout.

Referee Barney Felix scored it for Basilio 6-3-1. Judge Art Schwartz had it 5-4-1 and judge Bert Grant 6-4-0. The Associated Press had Basilio in front 5-4-1.

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP)—The first two appearances at the plate of Ted Williams failed to avert a 2-1 defeat today for the Boston Red Sox by the Baltimore Orioles in a pitching battle between winner Joe Coleman and Truman Clevenger.

Williams, after missing the first 18 games with a shoulder he fractured March 1 on his first day of spring training, flied and grounded out in two times at the plate. He also played left field in the eighth inning and had no chances after coming in as a pinchhitter in the seventh.

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 15 (Special) — The Bolton High School baseballers defeated Bastrop here this morning, 5-4, in a thirteen-inning Class AA playoff tilt.

The Bears defeated the Rams last night at Bastrop, and with today's victory in the best-of-three series, move into the state championship finals against St. Aloysious, winner over Catholic High in the southern semi-finals.

Barkdull Faulk's Boys, Girls Claim Softball Crowns

Barkdull Faulk teams emerged for the second straight year as champions of girls and boys softball in the city grammar school leagues.

The boys of Barkdull Faulk also won two straight semi-final scraps from Central Grammar, but had a big scare in the opener of the finals when Sherrouse administered a 6-5 defeat, the first loss for Barkdull Faulk's boys in two seasons. But B. F. came back to take the finals in the next two games, 1-0 and 4-1.

Members of Barkdull Faulk's championship teams were:

Miss Riley First To Capture Five Southern Titles

BIRMINGHAM, May 15 (AP)—Polly Riley won her record-breaking fifth Women's Southern Golf Championship today, defeating plucky Marjorie Burns, Greensboro, N. C., 2 up in 36 holes.

Although the medal scores were not particularly good, Miss Riley said it was one of the toughest matches she had ever played.

"I wasn't playing my best golf today but I was playing as well as I could," said the weary but happy champion. "I'd hate to run into anyone tougher. She was good and tough today."

The slender Miss Burns, an underrated underdog who gave the sturdy Fort Worth girl a much closer battle than anyone had expected, said "If I could have just got a putt or two to fall, it might have been different."

Time and again Miss Burns would send her putts straight for the cup, only to watch them die on the lip.

Miss Riley had a 2-up lead after the morning round and extended it to 3-up after the 24th hole. Miss Burns, making her first appearance in the finals of a major golf tournament, refused to wilt and pulled within one hole of Polly on the 21st hole when Miss Riley missed the green.

Miss Riley now has won the Southern title more than any other player since the tournament was inaugurated in 1911. Until her victory today she had shared that honor with Mrs. Dave Guat, Memphis, Tenn., a star of the 1920s, who also had four victories.

Miss Riley said the only other tournament she has scheduled now is the National Amateur.

Tag Team Wrestling Feature Event Tuesday

The popular tag team match returns to Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night, when Danny Dusek and his partner, Bill Barney, take on the Alaska Wolf Man and newcomer Herb Schiff in a best-of-three falls, 90-minute time limit feature attraction.

Two one-fall, ten minute time limit bouts, between opposing team members, will serve to warm up the contestants for the main go. The referee has not been announced, but it no doubt will be sheriff's deputy Loy Scarborough, who has been getting more and more experience as a local mat official.

Dusek, the big boy from Omaha, Nebraska, won the main event last week, when he defeated the Alkaska Wolf Man in three falls. Pairing with Barney, the two will compose a scientific grappling team, for neither is addicted to foul play, although Barney becomes a little peevish everytime his opponent chops him with an open hand, which is legal, as Bill should well know.

The Wolf, who has spent most of his time lately jawing with the feminine ringsiders, is a renowned villain who holds a masters degree in hair pulling. How Californian Schiff, who has not appeared here previously, wrestles, is not known, but the fact that he is paired with the bearded Alaskan, gives a good indication.

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Native Dancer, with a defeat in the 1953 Kentucky Derby as the only blot on his record, won his 20th race when he captured the mile of the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park today with a come from behind drive.

Winning his second start as a four-year old the grey Dancer turned on his famous speed in the final eighth of a mile to finish a neck in front of the pace-setting Straight Face from the Greentree Stable. Jamie K was third and Impasse fourth in the field of nine.

The Dancer, carrying the silks of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, was clocked in 1:35.1 under the top-weight of 130 pounds. The time was only two-fifths off the track record.

As the heavily played favorite in the crowd of 38,000, Native Dancer paid $2.50, $2.20 and $2.10. Straight Face returned $2.80 and $2.10 and a $2 show ticket on Jamie K was worth $2.20.

Snead Fattens His Round Robin Lead To 34 Points

By WILL GRIMSELY

WESTBURY, N. Y., May 15 (AP)—Sam Snead made a mockery of the Meadow Brook Round Robin Golf Tournament today by shooting a four-under-par 66—best round of the week—to stake himself to a virtually unbreakable 34-point lead.

Now only a miracle can keep the 41-year-old Masters champion from clinching his third Round Robin title tomorrow, and the miracles, it seems, are on Sam's side.

Snead's 32-34—66 over the 6,640-yard, par 35-35—70 course piled up 19 additional points in his favor for a grand total of 52 plus points. This left the third round runnerup, Jimmy Demaret, and others in the field of 16 far in arrears.

Demaret, nine points back of the Slammer starting today's fourth round, skied to a 75 and lost 11 points, throwing him back into fourth place in the standings.

Snead's closest challengers going into the fifth and final round were defending champion Cary Middlecoff, and young Jackie Burke, Jr., each with 18 plus points. Demaret followed with 13.

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Native Dancer, with a defeat in the 1953 Kentucky Derby as the only blot on his record, won his 20th race when he captured the mile of the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park today with a come from behind drive.

Winning his second start as a four-year old the grey Dancer turned on his famous speed in the final eighth of a mile to finish a neck in front of the pace-setting Straight Face from the Greentree Stable. Jamie K was third and Impasse fourth in the field of nine.

The Dancer, carrying the silks of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, was clocked in 1:35.1 under the top-weight of 130 pounds. The time was only two-fifths off the track record.

As the heavily played favorite in the crowd of 38,090, Native Dancer paid $2.50, $2.20 and $2.10. Straight Face returned $2.80 and $2.10 and a $2 show ticket on Jamie K was worth $2.20.

Snead Fattens His Round Robin Lead To 34 Points

By WILL GRIMSELY

WESTBURY, N. Y., May 15 (AP)—Sam Snead made a mockery of the Meadow Brook Round Robin Golf Tournament today by shooting a four-under-par 66—best round of the week—to stake himself to a virtually unbreakable 34-point lead.

Now only a miracle can keep the 41-year-old Masters champion from clinching his third Round Robin title tomorrow, and the miracles, it seems, are on Sam's side.

Snead's 32-34—66 over the 6,640-yard, par 35-35—70 course piled up 19 additional points in his favor for a grand total of 52 plus points. This left the third round runnerup, Jimmy Demaret, and others in the field of 16 far in arrears.

Demaret, nine points back of the Slammer starting today's fourth round, skied to a 75 and lost 11 points, throwing him back into fourth place in the standings.

Snead's closest challengers going into the fifth and final round were defending champion Cary Middlecoff, and young Jackie Burke, Jr., each with 18 plus points. Demaret followed with 13.

Long Sentences Facing Brothers In Slavery Case

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 15 (AP) —The attorney for two west Alabama farmers who were convicted of holding Negroes in brutal slavery said today any appeal from the verdict will come after they are sentenced.

Fred N. Dial, 25, and Oscar Edwin Dial, 34, Sumter County brothers, were found guilty last night after a four-day trial in federal court. The jury deliberated about 15 hours.

Sentencing was delayed until June 4, and Atty. Roderick Beddow said no announcement of an appeal will be made before that time.

The brothers were convicted of forcing Coy Lee Tanksly, 25, Klondike, Miss., Hubert (Monk) Thompson to work in slavery on their farm.

Witnesses testified that the Dial farmhands were beaten when they tried to escape. The government charged that Thompson died after a severe whipping in May 1953.

Fred Dial also was convicted of holding Thompson in peonage by forcing him to work out an alleged debt.

Fred Dial faces a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison and Oscar of 10 years, plus additional fines.

Both brothers swore in testimony during the trial that they were innocent of the charges.

The government charged that the Dials paid fines of Negro prisoners being held in Alabama and Mississippi jails and then forced them to work on their farm.

A federal grand jury originally indicted seven men in the slavery case, including four Dial brothers, two Dial cousins and a Mississippi man related to the family.

U. S. Atty. Frank M. Johnson said charges were withdrawn against three of the defendants "for the time being" and others would be tried later.

Long Sentences Facing Brothers In Slavery Case

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 15 (AP)—The attorney for two west Alabama farmers who were convicted of holding Negroes in brutal slavery said today any appeal from the verdict will come after they are sentenced.

Fred N. Dial, 25, and Oscar Edwin Dial, 34, Sumter County brothers, were found guilty last night after a four-day trial in federal court. The jury deliberated about 15 hours.

Sentencing was delayed until June 4, and Atty. Roderick Beddow said no announcement of an appeal will be made before that time.

The brothers were convicted of forcing Coy Lee Tanksly, 25, Klondike, Miss., Hubert (Monk) Thompson to work in slavery on their farm.

Witnesses testified that the Dial farmhands were beaten when they tried to escape. The government charged that Thompson died after a severe whipping in May 1953.

Fred Dial also was convicted of holding Thompson in peonage by forcing him to work out an alleged debt.

Fred Dial faces a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison and Oscar of 10 years, plus additional fines.

Both brothers swore in testimony during the trial that they were innocent of the charges.

The government charged that the Dials paid fines of Negro prisoners being held in Alabama and Mississippi jails and then forced them to work on their farm.

A federal grand jury originally indicted seven men in the slavery case, including four Dial brothers, two Dial cousins and a Mississippi man related to the family.

U. S. Atty. Frank M. Johnson said charges were withdrawn against three of the defendants "for the time being" and others would be tried later.

Pierian Club Has Final Meeting Of Year

The constitution of the Pierian Club was amended Tuesday at the final meeting of the club year. There will no longer be a limit on the number of members. When the Pierians were organized in 1935, limited space for entertaining in homes made a limited membership necessary. The availability of the club room in Community Hall made this change possible.

Mrs. A. B. Conger and Mrs. T. L. Smith, hostesses, made the club room attractive with magnolias and other flowers from their gardens. One arrangement drew much favorable comment. It was patterned as a truncated prism and developed with a wide variety of blooms.

The discussions of the afternoon centered around the legislative endorsements of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs and methods of contacting legislators. The bills relative to hogs in the pine lands and the right to work were endorsed.

The offer of financial assistance from the Lion's Club to keep the grass mowed in the triangle adjacent to the Pierian Rose Garden was gladly accepted.

Many accomplishments of the Pierian Club during the two-year term of presidency of Mrs. T. E. Barham were brought to mind. Mrs. Barham retired with the high commendation of her club. Plans are maturing for the new year under the leadership of Mrs. J. P. Causey. Suggestions for the program committee in developing the 1954-55 gardening theme were submitted in writing.

During the social hour the hostesses served sandwiches and cake with tea and coffee. Club members present were: Mrs. A. B. Conger, Mrs. T. L. Smith, Mrs. T. E. Barham, Mrs. Elmer McLendon, Mrs. Roy Windsor, Mrs. J. S. Carter, Mrs. R. E. Barham, Mrs. C. G. Rolfe, Mrs. C. E. Shepard, Mrs. J. P. Causey, Mrs. J. S. Barr, Mrs. W. S. White, Mrs. W. M. Nolan, Mrs. G. L. Greene. Guests were Miss Nettie White of Ruston and Mrs. Ora Corkran.

Vows were pledged before a background of Easter lilies, magnolia blossoms and greenery. Arrangements of lilies on the mantel and candelabra with cathedral tapers framed the improvised altar. Magnolia blossoms and greenery entwined the staircase.

Mrs. C. T. Kirtan presented nuptial music at the organ and accompanied Garland D. Shell who sang "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was of white lace over taffeta with a bouffant waltz-length skirt and fitted bodice. The yoke featured an outline of seed pearls. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of lace. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and stephanotis in a cascade arrangement.

Mrs. Garland D. Shell, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a pink embossed organdy ankle - length model with a full skirt and sculptured bodice. Her bouquet was of pale blue painted daisies.

Mrs. Fife, the bridegroom's mother, was also becomingly attired in navy with pink accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

The bride's table overlaid with a white linen damask was centered with an epergne of daisies, stock and greenery. The wedding cake was embossed in rosebuds and placed opposite the punch bowl.

Assisting in the reception courtesies were: Miss Deon Bezz; Mrs. Garland Shell, Mrs. T. W. Tillman, Mrs. William Gannaway, Miss Melvin Tucker, Miss Beatrice Tucker.

The couple departed for a wedding trip through the west. They will make their home in San Francisco where Mr. Fife will serve with the air corps.

The bride graduated from Ouachita Paish High School where she was a member of Beta Delta sorority and attended Northeast State College.

Mr. Fife also graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and attended Northeast State College and Texas A. and M. He graduated from Louisiana State University where he received his degree in architectural engineering.

Mrs. Simpson Entertains Current Literature Club

The Current Literature Club held their regular meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ben R. Simpson, Jr. on DeSiard Road. Beautiful arrangements of colorful spring flowers were used throughout the reception rooms.

During the short business session a motion was passed to donate to the library for the movie projector. Then Mrs. W. A. Whitfield, Jr., gave her topic "Portrait of the American Reformer." She said that one reformer, Jane Adams, after post graduate studies in Europe, became very active in social work. Jane Adams established world famous Hull House in Chicago and lectured extensively on improvement of conditions.

Mrs. R. B. Bailey gave a most interesting and humorous review of "Cyclone in Calico" by Nina Brown Baker. Mrs. Bailey said in part that Mary Ann Bickerdybe was a courageous and untiring worker; and when she accepted the nomination as representative to the Army, said that she was doing God's work and quickly and zealously went to work. It's a humorous account of her work for and with the soldiers; and of a life well spent in the service of humanity.

After the program, a delicious desert course was enjoyed by the following members and guests: Mrs. R. B. Bailey, Mrs. L. M. Frey, Mrs. B. Frank Maxwell, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Jr., Mrs. W. A. Pierian Club Has Final Meeting Of Year

The constitution of the Pierian Club was amended Tuesday at the final meeting of the club year. There will no longer be a limit on the number of members. When the Pierians were organized in 1935, limited space for entertaining in homes made a limited membership necessary. The availability of the club room in Community Hall made this change possible.

Mrs. A. B. Conger and Mrs. T. L. Smith, hostesses, made the club room attractive with magnolias and other flowers from their gardens. One arrangement drew much favorable comment. It was patterned as a truncated prism and developed with a wide variety of blooms.

The discussions of the afternoon centered around the legislative endorsements of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs and methods of contacting legislators. The bills relative to hogs in the pine lands and the right to work were endorsed.

The offer of financial assistance from the Lion's Club to keep the grass mowed in the triangle adjacent to the Pierian Rose Garden was gladly accepted.

Many accomplishments of the Pierian Club during the two-year term of presidency of Mrs. T. E. Barham were brought to mind. Mrs. Barham retired with the high commendation of her club. Plans are maturing for the new year under the leadership of Mrs. J. P. Causey. Suggestions for the program committee in developing the 1954-55 gardening theme were submitted in writing.

During the social hour the hostesses served sandwiches and cake with tea and coffee. Club members present were: Mrs. A. B. Conger, Mrs. T. L. Smith, Mrs. T. E. Barham, Mrs. Elmer McLendon, Mrs. Roy Windsor, Mrs. J. S. Carter, Mrs. R. E. Barham, Mrs. C. G. Rolfe, Mrs. C. E. Shepard, Mrs. J. P. Causey, Mrs. J. S. Barr, Mrs. W. S. White, Mrs. W. M. Nolan, Mrs. G. L. Greene. Guests were Miss Nettie White of Ruston and Mrs. Ora Corkran.

Popular Bride-Elect Of Dale Colvin Complimented

One of the loveliest pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Amarylis Lee, brie-elect of Dale Colvin was the tea in the home of Mrs. Carey Phillips, with Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mrs. Ed Hislop and Mrs. R. P. McKay serving as hostesses.

Guests were received by Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. P A. Colvin, mother of the bridegroom-elect, and the honoree, Miss Lee. Mrs. Phillips was wearing an amber brocaded satin model. Mrs. Colvin wore a becoming blue gown of net and satin and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The guest of honor was wearing a trousseau model of red taffeta. She wore a corsage of white gardenias, a gift of the hostesses. On the mantel in the reception room was an arrangement of Easter lillies at one end and a silver candelabra held tall white tapers. Arrangements of gardenias, fever few and white sweet peas were used about the room.

Music was played during the afternoon by Mrs. Gray Allison, Miss Mariann Buce, and Sandy Lawn.

The tea-table, in the dining room, was developed in a theme of green and white. A white cut work cloth was laid over green satin and a wedding ring arrangement of white oleanders and green ivy formed the center-piece from which a miniature bride and groom were suspended. White candles in silver candle-sticks were on either side.

Mrs. D. M. Cruse of Ruston, aunt of the groom, alternated with Mrs. Gray Allison, also of Ruston, at the punch bowl where frosted green fruit punch was served. Also serving were, Miss Glenda Smith, Dorothy Phillips and Jo Ann McGough.

The buffet held a handsome arrangement of magnolias and Easter lilies On either side were tall white tapers in silver candlesticks. Green and white mints in silver compotes further accentuated the green and white motif.

Afternoon Tea

Miss Lee was also complimented by Mrs. Herschel Gentry at an afternoon tea in her home on Country Club Road. The entrance hall, where the guests were greeted, held bouquets of white lilies and carnations. In the receiving rooms spring flowers were used for decoration.

The tea table was laid in the courtyard, where planter boxes of Easter lilies and pink and green caladium leaves formed the background for the bridal tea. The table had for its centerpiece, a large wedding ring vase filled with white gardenias, centered with a pedestal arrangement of gardenias. Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Jr. and Mrs. Jaroy Weber poured tea and were assisted by Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. J F. Smith, and Mrs. Carey Phillips.

Girl Scout News

Maybe today we can tell all the Mother's Day secrets we've kept so long. There are probably some we haven't heard of, of course.

We know a charming elderly woman who says that a birthday cake should not be bought at a bakery, in spite of all the wonderful decorations they are able to make, but made at home with love and affection stirred in. It must have been this idea that Troop 29 had in mind when they made Mother's Day cakes on their meeting day. Their leader, Mrs. M. L. Quillen deserves credit for letting the girls get her kitchen all sticky and for her patience in letting ten girls beat and stir and decorate.

Having three young daughters of her own, Mrs. Quillen found that she had a supply of doll-size cake pans. Each two girls made a bowl of batter, each girl pouring it into the pan she had chosen. After the cakes were baked, the girls used colored icing and candies to decorate according to their own fancies. What a delightful surprise for Mother!

Troop 21 not only made gifts for their mothers, but entertained at tea for them Sunday at the home of Mary Clare Hanson's grandfather, H. H. Benoit. At the tea the girls presented gifts which they had kept as deep, dark secrets from their mothers, organdy aprons, decorated with textile paints in original designs. The girls hemmed the aprons, made the designs, and applied them. To a Scout way of thinking, a design must be made by the girl herself, with no copying allowed.

Mrs. Raymond Boyd, Mrs. Verne Hanson, and Mrs. T. N. Carter are leaders of Troop 21, which is made up of fifth and sixth grade girls at Ouachita Parish Grammar School.

At least three troops made tea towels with "Mother" and other original designs in textile paint. Troop 34, June Strausser and Doris Keller, leaders, Troop 37, Marie Wilds and Edna Shaughnessy, and Troop 3, Mrs. James Bowers, leaders, all chose this project for the Mothers, except, of course, to those leaders who have daughters in the troops.

Troop 46, assisted by Liz Loftin, leader, made aprons out of handkerchiefs for their Mothers. Since the handkerchiefs were already hemmed there was a minimum of sewing for unaccustomed fingers, and the result was an attractive apron.

Troop 18, Mrs. L. G. Adams, leader made Mother's Day cards. This troop registered recently for its second year, the girls receiving their new membership cards and pendants denoting a year's membership. Mrs. J. N. Pumphrey is also registered with the troop, as well as the following girls: Linda Ann Adams, Sally Carrol, Cheryl Chapman, Martha Guyton, Marjorie Hammons, Kathryn Hawk, Shirley Loflin, Judith Ann Otwell, Joanne Pumphrey, Sage Redding, Heidi Rowan, Ronnie Lee Smith, Peggy Ann Southerland, Judy Gail Thompson, and Jeanne Wroten.

FREEZE SANDWICHES

If you wrap your sandwiches separately and put them in the freezer, they will still be good to eat a week or two later. Avoid raw vegetables which lose their crispness, whites of hard - cooked eggs, fruit jellies and salad dressings. Once frozen sandwiches are thawed, use them promptly because they spoil rapidly in temperatures above 45 degrees.

Vary Junior's diet! Add a half can of baby-food liver and bacon to two scrambled eggs. This will serve two, so Mother can have half of it for her luncheon dish.

What's a HILL to POWER like this?

You've come to many a long rise in the road ahead and tramped down on the gas pedal to make the grade.

But did you ever head a ROADMASTER up a hill—a 1954 ROADMASTER?

You seem to sail when you touch off the great V8 power that gives life to this finest of Buicks.

You move ahead and up that long steep pull in a silken, smooth sweep of almost effortless ease—and the thrill your spirits get from such magnificent ability is a precious thing.

And you realize, of course, that a wealth of advanced high-compression V8 power—(the highest horsepower in all Buick history, in fact)—is the heart of this stirring performance.

But you also realize soon enough that your tremendous satisfaction at the wheel of a ROADMASTER comes from more than great power alone.

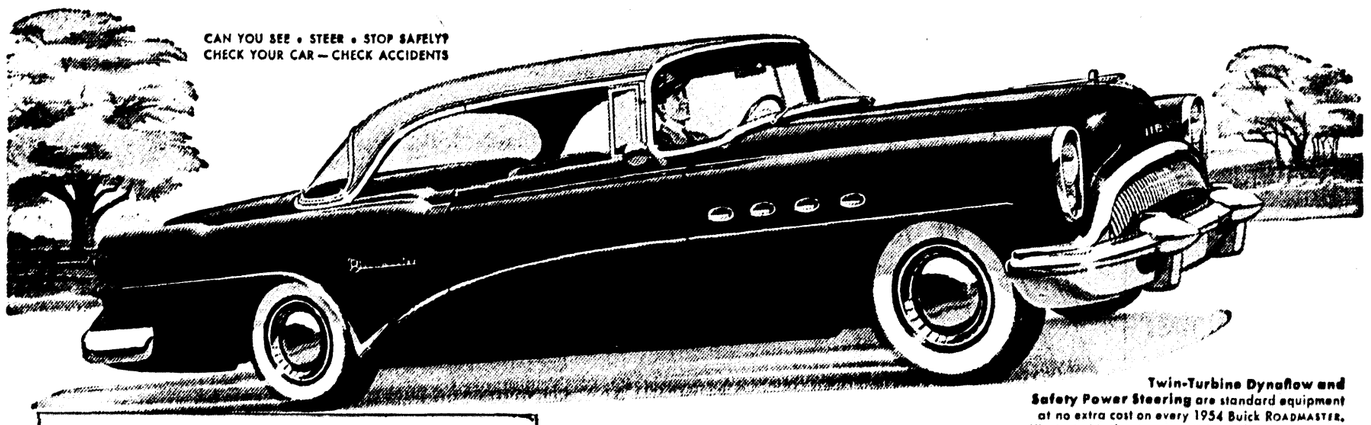
It comes from the velvety luxury of your all-coil-spring ride. It comes from the superb ease of Safety Power Steering. It comes from the comforting feel of ample roadweight—brought to feather-light handling precision by a new geometry in front-end engineering.

And very definitely, it comes from the eye-catching beauty in which you travel—the look-of-tomorrow styling that graces ROADMASTER today—and with the spectacular new panoramic windshield that is fast becoming the mark of true automobile modernity.

We'll be delighted to seat you at the wheel of a new ROADMASTER—so that you can drive it, try it, feel it.

It costs you nothing to do so—and it can open your eyes to the finest buy in fine cars today. Drop in, or call us this week.



Twin-Turbine Dynaflow and Safety Power Steering are standard equipment at no extra cost on every 1954 Buick ROADMASTER. Illustrated is the stunning Riviera "hardtop" model.

MISS FRANCES DEGGANS

Frances Deggan's Engagement Is Announced Today

Mrs. Annie Deggans of Delhi announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Frances, to Elwyn Campbell Lyles, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lyles of Baskin.

The June wedding will be solemnized in the Baptist Church of Baskin.

Miss Deggans has chosen as her maid of honor Miss Martha Ann Flowers of Holly Ridge, and the bridegroom - elect has named his father as best man.

The prospective bride is a candidate for graduation this spring at Northeast State where she is majoring in physical education. She has been actively associated with the college Women's Recreation Association and she was a member of the 1953 yearbook staff.

Mr. Lyle graduated as a laboratory technician from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. He presently is with the U. S. army and is stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

KITCHEN VS. CLASSROOM

GREER, S. C. (AP)— Greer mothers recently relieved Davenport Junior High School teachers for one day to let the teachers observe classroom method in other schools.

Mrs. Harmon Childs summed up the teaching mothers' reaction:

"It was fun, but I'll take my pots and pans any day over the teacher's job. There are a lot more problems in the classroom than there are in my kitchen."

If you have a home freezer you might like to try this: alternate one inch cubes of sirloin steak and sauteed mushroom caps on skewers. Brush both steak cubes and mushrooms with melted butter before wrapping and freezing. Fine to have on hand for unexpected company! At serving time all you have to do is to put the frozen steak and mushrooms about four inches from the source of broiling heat, and broil 11 minutes on one side, about 7 minutes on the other. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and bring forth!

Garden Club Has New Officers

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Officers elected and installed to serve the East Carroll Parish Garden Club a second year, at the meeting of Tuesday, May 11, were Mrs. C. R. Brown, president; Mrs. D. F. Davis, first vice president; Mrs. W. Y. Bell, second vice president; Mrs. Kiley Mangum, secretary and Mrs. Harry Blount, treasurer. Mrs. H. L. Van, a past president of the club, was the installing officer.

The club voted to order a yard of the month plaque, to be placed for 30 days on the grounds chosen by a committe, as the most attractive of that month. Mrs. W. B. Cone, Mrs. J. L. Marcus and Mrs. D. F. Davis were named a committee to set up rules by which the yard of the month would be chosen.

Winners in the annual spring flower show were: Mrs. D. F. Davis, first place on arrangement of Easter lilies; Mrs. J. C. Hamley, on native and Japanese irises; third place tie was by Mrs. D. F. Davis' lemon day lilies and Mrs. Bessie Powell's entry of roses, daisies, and maiden hair fern in a sea shell. Winners in the miniature entries were Mrs. W. Y. Bell, first, on vase of yellow snap dragons and rosebuds; Mrs. H. L. Van, second, grouped pitchers filled with sweetheart roses; and Mrs. K. Mangum, third, on vased canary California poppies.

When you use canned apple slices you'll find all the slices are the same size because after the fruit is peeled and cored, it is mechanically sliced. Heat the canned slices with a little butter or margarine on top of the range and serve with sausage, roast pork or ham. The slices are also fine, of course, to use in pudding or pie.

Mrs. Hugh G. McDonald Is Hostess To Musical Coterie

The president, Mrs. F. V. Allison, welcomed the club's three guests, Mrs. R. C. Boswell, Mrs. Boudesque and Miss Anne McDonald.

Mrs. Henry Whitfield continued the review on the music of Johannes Brahms. In part Mrs. Whitfield said, "At our last meeting we studied the Sonatas of Brahms, today we are taking up his other forms of music. Brahms had a strong heart towards painting rather than towards drama. He is so objective in all that he has written that it is impossible to get rid of the scenes which he conjures for you. His music played without a program is meaningless and unbeautiful. Philosophy, narrative, elegiac poems, historical pictures and impressions of travel are his themes. Chamber music was one of Brahms favorite fields for composition.

It has been said Brahms concertos are symphonies with instrumental obligatos. The symphonic proportions which he so admired in Beethoven he achieved in his own right whenever he wrote for orchestra.

His Ballads are masterly in conception and workmanship and are full of fine thoughts, deep feeling and exquisite color; while the capricios are often fanciful and whimsical, revealing the lighter and more jovial side of the composer's personality. His Intermezzos are frequently contemplative, deeply personal expressions. In choral work Brahms stands as one of the most important in that line of song composers beginning with Schubert and including Franz, Schumann and Hugo Wolf. A Brahms song is a miniature drama. He placed great emphasis on the piano accompaniment.

Mrs. Z. C. Ambrose played two Brahms Intermezzos, (A) Op. 118, No. 6 and (B) Op. 119, No. 3.

Members present at the meeting were: Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Mrs. Z. C. Ambrose, Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn, Mrs. James G. Caldwell, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Jr., Mrs. L. Jack Hays, Mrs. H. L. Johns, Mrs. H. H. Land, Mrs. Hugh G. McDonald, Mrs. J. R. McKinley, Mrs. James E. Murphy, Miss Ann Walker, Mrs. Estelle Sanders, Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr., Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Mrs. Bobby Wilson, Mrs. Everett Zeagler.

Take The Guess Out Of Jelly Making

Much roamin' was necessary to get in this week's program. During the State Home Demonstration Council meeting at L. S. U. the members visited the old homes around St. Francisville. This tour gave us an interesting insight into the life of rural Louisiana women in years past. Among the interesting places visited was Oakley Plantation where Audubon painted many of his bird pictures. This plantation of 900 acres has been purchased by the state and will be made into a park carrying the painters name. The house is being restored and refurnished as it was during the period when Audubon lived here.

East Baton Rouge and East Feliciana were hostesses during the tour serving lunch at the college and a tea at Oakley. Every Louisianan should see these homes .

Take The Guess Out Of Jelly Making

With mayhaws, blackberries and dewberries in season, home demonstration women are learning (some reviewing) how to make jelly. It is necessary to determine the amount of pectin in the juice from these fruits to know how much sugar is needed. Two tests are being demonstrated by the agent at home demonstration club meetings, one using denatured alcohol, the other using the jell meter. Bring some juice you have extracted and test it at the club meetings in your community. The agent will also help anyone with this problem if you will bring sample of juice to her office — (Call before coming to be sure she is in). Bulletins on jelly, jams, and preserve making are available by calling 3-2251.

Freezing Strawberries

Freeze strawberries according to the way you like them best - whole, sliced or crushed. Regardless of way you choose to freeze berries start with firm, ripe fruit. Wash them before removing calyx. This prevents the loss of juice. Use ½ cup of sugar to each pound of berries. Mix with sugar, pack and freeze. Container should be moisture and leak proof.

Council National Home Demonstration Celebration

Those Ouachita women who were pioneers in establishing home demonstration work in Ouachita Parish were honored at a tea given by the present Ouachita Parish Council. Ten of these presidents were in attendance: Mrs. J. B. Filholl, Mrs. Alma Hale, Mrs. J. R. Alexander, Mrs. E. W. Earl, Mrs. Robert Cann, Mrs. T. G. Johnson, Mrs. J. S. Sims, Mrs. Hilton Owens, Mrs. J. R. Frantom and the present president, Mrs. A. T. Stout.

The incoming president of the council, Mrs. Fred Riser, was also an honored guest.

Their work and efforts received words of praise from members and friends of home demonstration work attending.

Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, who so faithfully served Ouachita Parish as home demonstration agent many years, supervised the work with eight of these presidents. The present agent has supervised the work of the last three, Mrs. Owens, Mrs. Frantom and Mrs. Stout.

The Council

The Ouachita Home Demonstration Council has done much to strengthen the arm of rural women working to meet their own problems with more knowledge and more cooperation. Mrs. Stout, the president, has been tireless in her efforts to keep the home demonstration program on a high level. She is to be congratulated on the success of her work.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

The business of Little Theatre kept "Curtain Call" jumping this week to find out who was doing what and why . . . We are still too jumbled up to know where to begin . . . but let's give it a try.

Because of business commitments, John Wreyford gave up the role of Tack Cooper in "The Bees and the Flowers," and the assistant to the director, handsome Art Johnson took over the part scarcely more than ten days before it goes before the footlights . . . now Art had vacated a post of great importance and it had to be replaced hurriedly, so Gerry Kenny of "Be Your Age," and the leading lady in next Sunday's Arts Festival production of "No Second Chance," stepped in to take over the assistants job on "The Bees and the Flowers."

We got all of that pretty well set in our minds, when we discovered K. D. Hayes had contracts in Arkansas that practically forbade him continuing in the role of Matt for "No Second Chance," which will be presented in Forsythe Park this Sunday afternoon. Director Thom Feuerstein who is not only directing "The Bees and The Flowers" as well as "No Second Chance," as well as Tennessee Williams's "Portrait of a Madonna," which is also scheduled for the Arts Festival will be Matt for the Sunday afternoon performance.

Gee! that was a mouthful, but looking back, I believe we have the facts straight ... Art Johnson will be the tenderfoot bridegroom in "The Bees and the Flowers," Director Feuerstein will be the disillusioned guy in "No Second Chance" and Gerry Kenny will be the first high school girl to play the role of assistant to the director of any Little Theatre production.

RANDOM NOTES . . . One of the newest choirs in the Twin Cities, a choir less than two years old, with only 25 members, the Covenant Presbyterian choir, will present "Requiem" by Faure, one of the most well known orchestra works by an early French composer, this Sunday May 16 at Grace Episcopal Church at 7:30 p.m. accompanied by a 12 piece orchestra.

Last Wednesday, Little Theatre Director Thom Feuerstein addressed the O. P. H. S. Dramatic club and spoke on Broadway theatre, Little Theatre and speech. He was interrogated afterwards by an interested student who wanted to know just exactly what he meant by the legitimate theatre. I suppose we always thought every body knew what that meant.

So far as acting is concerned the stage always came first. The interlopers like moving pictures, radio and now TV are cashing in on an age old art that began with the legitimate stage. Now the legitimate stage is bounded by boxoffice and the few stars and stellar personalities that return to it because it is really the first medium of good talent.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

The business of Little Theatre kept "Curtain Call" jumping this week to find out who was doing what and why . . . We are still too jumbled up to know where to begin . . . but let's give it a try.

Because of business commitments, John Wreyford gave up the role of Tack Cooper in "The Bees and the Flowers," and the assistant to the director, handsome Art Johnson took over the part scarcely more than ten days before it goes before the footlights . . . now Art had vacated a post of great importance and it had to be replaced hurriedly, so Gerry Kenny of "Be Your Age," and the leading lady in next Sunday's Arts Festival production of "No Second Chance," stepped in to take over the assistants job on "The Bees and the Flowers."

We got all of that pretty well set in our minds, when we discovered K. D. Hayes had contracts in Arkansas that practically forbade him continuing in the role of Matt for "No Second Chance," which will be presented in Forsythe Park this Sunday afternoon. Director Thom Feuerstein who is not only directing "The Bees and The Flowers" as well as "No Second Chance," as well as Tennessee Williams's "Portrait of a Madonna," which is also scheduled for the Arts Festival will be Matt for the Sunday afternoon performance.

Gee! that was a mouthful, but looking back, I believe we have the facts straight ... Art Johnson will be the tenderfoot bridegroom in "The Bees and the Flowers," Director Feuerstein will be the disillusioned guy in "No Second Chance" and Gerry Kenny will be the first high school girl to play the role of assistant to the director of any Little Theatre production.

RANDOM NOTES . . . One of the newest choirs in the Twin Cities, a choir less than two years old, with only 25 members, the Covenant Presbyterian choir, will present "Requiem" by Faure, one of the most well known orchestra works by an early French composer, this Sunday May 16 at Grace Episcopal Church at 7:30 p.m. accompanied by a 12 piece orchestra.

Resources Help Spur Growth Of Tensas Parish

By ROSE GUICE

Tensas Parish, one of the most fertile parishes of Louisiana, lying along the west bank of the Mississippi river and containing approximately 450,000 acres, was established about 1845 during the administration of Andre' Bienvenu Roman. It was carved out of the northern or upper part of Concordia and received its name from the Taensas, or Taensa Indians, who lived in this section when it was first settled.

The French explorer, LaSalle, gives the first record of this tribe, the Taensas, which had its main village on a lake—"an ancient oxbow formed by a Mississippi River cut off." This was Lake St. Joseph, on which the town of Newellton is located.

When Iberville made a trip up the Mississippi in 1700, Penicaut who was with him, wrote, "On the 12th of April we left Natchez, coasted along to the right for a distance of 12 leagues, and landed to visit a village situated four leagues to the interior. These Indians are called the Taensas."

At this time Iberville tried to persuade the Indians to locate along the river. They were reluctant to do this, preferring to wander over a considerable district west of the Mississippi, where they were constantly making war on the less fierce and warlike tribes.

Early Legends

The parish is rich in legends of the early days, which center around the occupation of the region by the ancient Indians and the subsequent days of Spanish rule by Spanish commandants from their old seat of government at Concordia—now Vidalia.

In the early days traders and chasseurs (hunters) from Canada, were the only visitors to this region; and, because of frequent inundations from the river, there was little incentive for settlement.

Apparently the first permanent residence established was that of John Densmore, who built a house and a store on the site of the present town of Saint Joseph. The place was known as "Densmore's Landing" and was a shipping center for a large section of country lying between the Mississippi and Tensas rivers. He also operated a ferry between his landing and Rodney, Mississippi. The Densmore store was located on the site of what was later the Farrar House of St. Joseph.

During the closing years of the 18th and the early years of the 19th century among others who took up land nearby were William Bantz, George West, Zenos Preston, Elam Bowman, James Bullen, Col. Isaac Harrison, Scott and Jeremiah Watson, J. W. Briscoe, Gen. C. H. Dahlgren, Rodney King, and James McGill.

Scott Watson developed the first plantation about 1812 on Lake Bruen; almost immediately after, Jerry Watson established the Panola plantation, north of Densmore's landing, and A. J. Watson settled on Lake St. Peter.

An important event, affecting the industrial and agricultural progress of the parish, occurred in 1834 when Edward D. Newell and his brother, Dr. Thomas Newell, came into this section and settled on Newell's Ridge near the present site of Newellton. The two Newells invented a cotton press, which contributed to the economic advantage of the planters of that region.

Edward Newell was one of several leaders of that community, who in 1852 bought a printing press and turned it over to Andrew Marschalk, who established the Tensas Gazette, which has been in continuous operation ever since, with the exception of the period during the Civil War.

It is timely here to pay tribute to the late Josiah P. Scott, who died June 9, 1953, at the age of 79, after fifty-nine years as the editor of the Tensas Gazette. At his passing Tensas lost one of its most dearly beloved citizens and chroniclers.

Newellton

The town of Newellton was settled by the Rouths in the early 19th century. A story is told of Edward D. Newell, a young merchant of Port Gibson, who fell in love with a beautiful girl and wished to marry her. Her father, a wealthy planter, withheld his consent on the grounds that young Newell was not a landowner.

Since no one in this section was willing to sell land at that time, this young man, with the aid of an old Indian Chief, was shown the present site of Newellton with its many acres of rich delta soil. It is recorded that young Newell, having obtained this information, went to the federal authorities in Monroe and acquired a tract of land of approximately 30,000 acres at $1.25 per acre. It was here that he brought his bride in 1845, thus marking the beginning of the town called Newellton.

St. Joseph

St. Joseph, the parish seat, so chosen because of its central location, is supposed to have been named by a Jesuit priest, who came down the Mississippi, viewed the unexplored territory, and applied the names of the patron saints to the series of cut-off lakes in this section — Lake St. Peter, Lake St. John, and Lake St. Joseph.

One of the first white children born within the confines of what is now Tensas Parish was Albert Bondurant in the year 1824. Afterwards Bondurant became Captain of the Tensas Rifles and served in the Civil War. His plantation know as "Pleasant View" was located on the Louisiana side of the Mississippi River just opposite Bruensburg, where Andrew Jackson at a much earlier period maintained a store and a race track for blooded horses.

As a measure of reprisal for the destruction of the cotton, the Union soldiers shelled the plantation home. However, the building was not destroyed and was used by Gen. Grant as his headquarters during the march to Vicksburg. Years later as the plantation caved into the river, it seemed likely that the ancestral home would approach a like fate. Capt. Bondurant then tore it down and moved the material to St. Joseph. It was then rebuilt and stands today, linking the past with the present. Within recent years it has been reconditioned and is now the attractive Rectory of the Episcopal Church. When the building was torn down, dozens of cannon balls were found lodged in the heavier timbers.

Waterproof

The name, Waterproof" is truly a misnomer and has been the subject of many jests in time of overflows, because on several occasions water has reached a depth of from two to three feet over the entire town.

Abner Smalley, one of the earliest citizens of Waterproof, gave a reason for its unusual name in one of his favorite stories.

He was standing one day, high and dry, on a strip of land, surrounded as far as eye could see by water, while waiting for a steamboat to land for its usual refueling of cordwood. As the boat landed, the jovial captain, surveying the scene, called out, "Well, Abner, I see you are waterproof." Pleased with this greeting, Mr. Smalley gave the name "Waterproof" to the many acres of land which he had acquired.

This, of course, was before the time of the levee system and the spot on which Mr. Smalley stood was said to have been the highest point of land on the west side of the Mississippi between Memphis and New Orleans.

Many, many years later the Literary Digest in commenting upon the drowning of a bus load of Negroes from Waterproof made this wise-crack. "A bus load of waterproof Negroes drown. How could this have happened?" This did not appeal to the community as being facetious, for many had lost some of their faithful colored friends in this terrible disaster.

Supposition of the early citizens places the first settlement of Waterproof at 1830 or earlier. Pioneers, coming down the river on flatboats or coming from the North and East by covered wagon, stopped on their way to Texas by the old Texas Road Trail.

Tired by their long journey and attracted by the rich fertility of the soil, they made homes here—some engaging in agricultural pursuits and others in trading. The father of R. D. Shelley was one who came by boat from Kentucky with the idea of going through to Texas.

On reaching Waterproof he found rather an enterprising little village, and, influenced by his uncle, Abner Smalley, made this his home. Years later Mr. Shelley and Mr. Smalley were engaged in making saddle-trees for the Confederate Army — an occupation which was brought to a close by the Federal Fleet.

Upon the death of Mr. Shelley his wife, Mrs. M. Shelley opened a small store several miles from town and this is conceded to have been the oldest mercantile business in Tensas Parish.

Waterproof is rather rich in early history, and some of its inhabitants were very closely connected with the Confederacy. Major Howell, brother of Mrs. Jefferson Davis lived here practically all his life and was buried near the town. Mrs. Kempe, whose family owned almost all the land from Waterproof to Saint Joseph, was a cousin of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

It is known that Gen. Zachary Taylor resided on a plantation two miles east of Waterproof, and it was here that he was making his home when notified of his election as head of the nation.

The large felt sombrero, worn by him during the Mexican War, was for many years in the possession of the Smyth family of "Wavertree" plantation, having been given to their grandfather, Elam Bowman—lifelong friend of General Taylor.

The Waterproof of that time, about two and one half miles south of the present site, is now well out into the Mississippi River. Since caving banks made moving imperative, the town was moved to the James Miller property, just outside the present levee.

Again in 1880 the old river went on a rampage and this time the town reached its present location on the McAlister property, owned by the ancestors of Mrs. Hallie McAlister Rhodes, who now lives here with her family.

Agriculture

As has been mentioned before Tensas is one of the most fertile parishes in the state of Louisiana, and it may be classed as being equal or perhaps superior to land in the heart of the Mississippi Delta.

The people here derive their living from agriculture and much progress has been made within the past two decades. At one time large plantations were operated on a share basis, having the mule and the Negro as the power for producing — primarily cotton. In those days laborers were often called "clodhoppers." The word originated, no doubt, because the rough and unprepared soil contained so many clods.

In the early 1930's there was an influx of white people coming from the poor hills of Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. They brought ideas and some new types of implements. Realizing the productivity of the soil of this wonderful Delta Parish, they were soon producing a bale to a bale and a half of cotton to the acre with enough corn to feed their livestock 12 months in the year.

That was the beginning of the migration of the Negro people who traveled both West and North. Again there was a fear that there could be little production of cotton —but not so.

The larger owners realized that a transition was taking place. Mechanical farming was discussed, both pro and con, and many agricultural leaders felt that mechanizing larger operations would be prohibitive. As time went on more machinery of various types was put into use and today some of the largest operations are carried on with less than 20 men. These men cannot be classified as laborers. They are machine operators, receiving operators' wages.

Today in Tensas to be a successful planter one must have or employ the knowledge of chemical engineers, agronomists, entomologists, and people with high training in the various fields that are essential to the production of cotton, corn, soybeans, and other agricultural crops.

Twenty years ago families were awakened at 4:30 a.m. by the ringing of the plantation bells by hostlers on each plantation. Today the sound of the plantation bell is as uncommon as the mule, the steel beam plow, and the double shovel. No longer is it necessary for a man to rise at 4:30 a.m. and wait until daylight to catch his mule. One man with proper equipment can do more in eight hours than 50 laborers and 50 mules in the days of the clodhopper.

Production has gradually stepped up to such a point that a bale per acre is considered a low yield. Change has been made from one crop a year to diversified agriculture. Much land is producing two crops per year: namely, soybeans following wheat; corn following wheat or small grain—and this has proved successful and profitable. It seems that the economy of agriculture has changed from fear to security. The day of a house to ten acres and a family in each house with a mule tied to the back steps has "gone with the wind." Instead of the mule a pick-up truck is found.

Since the high water of 1927, much progress has been made in livestock—cattle, hogs, and sheep. Prior to this time, the levees made the country vulnerable to overflows. These overflows have been eliminated to such an extent by the splendid work of the Mississippi River Commission and the U. S. Engineers that there is a feeling of security which almost makes one feel that the river is no problem now. Because of this condition improvements on the plantations are more permanent.

Livestock

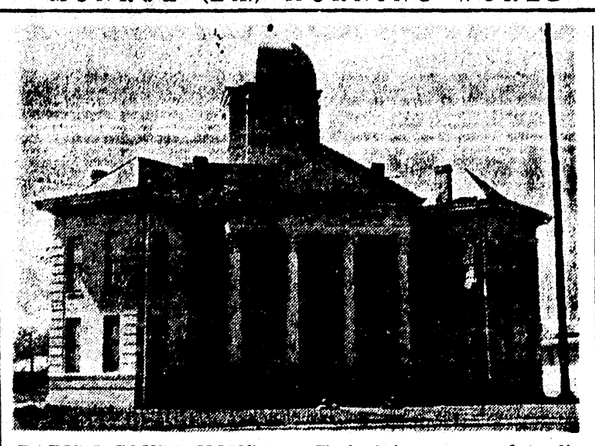
In the parish are a number of herds of pure bred cattle, namely: Angus, Aberdeen Angus, Hereford, Santa Gertrudis and Charbray. There are three registered Hereford cattle breeders, two registered Aberdeen Angus breeders, one registered Santa Gertrudis breeder and one of the outstanding breeders of Charbray cattle, which is a splendid breed for this area.

In addition to this, seven poultry flocks of 600 hens each have been established, from which eggs are sold locally and to an egg dealer in Baton Rouge. Twelve commercial dairies operate and sell milk to creameries in Winnsboro and Clayton. There are 22 sheep flocks in the parish, distributed among large and small farmers.

Change to mechanized farming necessitated the change of the cotton gins. Once a modern gin could be built for $20,000, including the power. Today a modern gin to handle mechanically picked cotton will cost from $150,000 to $200,000 and it is fortunate that there are a number of these gins in Tensas—3 privately owned and five public gins. Private gins are owned and operated by L. H. Cook, St. Joseph; Panola Company, Newellton; Somerset Plantation, Newellton. Public gins are as follows: Waterproof Burn Gin, operated by the Goldmans; Texas Road Gin, Truman James; St. Joseph Planters' Gin, J. D. Myers; St. Joseph Service, George Clarke; and Delta Gin Co., Burnside and McDonald. The time is here when often a lock of cotton is not touched by human hands.



PARISH COURT HOUSE — Embodying years of tradition, the Tensas Parish courthouse is the center of activity for the parish.

Irrigation

Production of soybeans has necessitated elevators and storage bins, four of which serve the parish, two in St. Joseph, one in Newellton, and one in Waterproof.

Much progress has been made in the clearing of Tensas woodland, and with proper drainage there will be no reason for having a bad acre of land in the parish. It is fortunate, too, that, in having the Mississippi as a border, water is not a great problem in irrigating, which is in its infancy. Wells can be drilled to a depth of not more than 140 feet and produce water, whereas in Arizona, California, and other arid areas wells have to go to a depth of 300 to 700 feet, which is expensive. This is mentioned because of the fact that irrigation will play a major part in the future production of Tensas.

The Northeast Louisiana Experiment Station began operation January 1, 1929. It was established in a rather interesting procedure in that the eleven parishes of northeast Louisiana bought the land and supplied money for the original buildings and equipment and gave it to Louisiana State University to be operated as an experiment station. The original tract of land consisted of 160 acres. Since the time of establishment Louisiana State University has purchased an additional 150 acres.

The work of the station attempts to solve the problems arising in the farming operations of the area, which consists of work with farm crops, soil improvement, soil management, pasture development, live stock, farm machinery, etc.

The present personnel is as follows: C. B. Haddon, superintendent; J. A. Hendrix, agronomist; S. A. Phillips, assistant agronomist; J. C. Carpenter, Jr., animal husbandman and L. W. Sloane, agricultural engineer.

Today the extension service is doing excellent work in research and in working cooperatively with those in all branches of agriculture.

Extension workers in Tensas Parish at this time are C. B. James, county agent; Mrs. Effie W. Lofton, home demonstration agent; Edward W. Dayton, assistant county agent; and Mrs. Orville E. Comer, extension secretary.

Better living in better homes is the objective of the home demonstration program in Tensas Parish. Educational work with women and girls is planned to help rural families get a vision of possible improvements in rural living and then to help them transform the vision into reality.

Work is conducted through seven to twelve home demonstration clubs each year, three junior and three senior 4-H Clubs, the Parish Home Demonstration Council, the Parish 4-H Executive Council, demonstrations, home visits, telephones, and office calls.

Approximately 200 women are enrolled in the home demonstration clubs and 400 boys and girls in the 4-H Clubs each year. In addition to conducting projects in home making and agriculture, 4-H club members participate in many activities that help to develop leadership, such as: National 4-H Club Week, Parish 4-H Club Achievement Day, 4-H Club camp, State 4-H Short Course, Junior Leadership Camp, Parish, district, and state livestock shows, tri - parish and state fairs, etc.

4-H Club members have done outstanding work and received many parish, state and national honors.

Schools

Although Tensas is blessed with many natural resources, which embrace valuable forests and minerals, rich alluvial land and live stock, the most important resource is its people, and the American way of living depends upon the way its citizens are educated. Quoting, "A state can be no stronger, no more intelligent, no more just and no more righteous than is the great body of its citizens. In a democracy public opinion tends to rule and public opinion can rise no higher than the beliefs and ideals of its citizens. The greatest and most permanent investment our people can make is in the field of education, for it is education that plays an important part in the development of its resources."

The early history of Tensas shows that from its beginning the people were interested in the education of their children. According to the late Mrs. Eli Tullis, an early citizen of Tensas Parish, who landed by boat at St. Joseph, July 18, 1853, private tutors and governesses and private academies were patronized when the children were older.

St. Joseph's first school was supposed to have been built in 1858 on the present site of the Episcopal Church, but the date cannot be verified. The public school system began about the year 1874. St. Joseph had the first high school established in the parish in 1905, but was not approved until May 28, 1906. The present school building, on ground purchased from the Panola Company, was erected in 1924 and named Joseph Moore Davidson High School in affectionate memory of the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Davidson, who was killed in the Argonne Woods, November 4, 1919?

In Newellton an old Grange Hall served as the only school house until 1886. In 1920 a $55,000 structure was erected, and by 1939 increased enrollment resulted in the erection of a modern high school building.

Waterproof claims several school sites. In the old town, classes were held in the Knights of Pythias Hall and the Winter's store. Later a two-room school was built, to which were added in 1905 or 1906 two large class rooms, an office, and three cloak rooms. As attendance increased two frame cottages were built behind the school.

The first record of an attempt to establish a high school was in 1896, but it was ten years later, 1906, before the school was operated as a high school. In 1923 plans were made to erect a modern school building at a cost of $60,000. This was completed in January, 1927 — just ahead of the terrible overflow of that year.

Now each of these high schools has a well equipped cafeteria and a modern gymnasium auditorium.

The people of Tensas parish can well be proud of their public school system. There have been outstanding developments in many phases of educational activities. The school system is composed of three white state - approved high schools with a total enrollment of 1146 pupils. The school board employs a staff of 52 teachers. Joseph M. Davidson High School has an enrollment of 263 pupils — 204 in the elementary and 59 in the high school department. Waterproof High School has a total enrollment of 276 with 215 in elementary and 61 in high school. Newellton has an enrollment of 607 — 477 in elementary and 130 in the high school department.

The organization of Negro schools in the parish is made up of 14 schools — 6 one-teacher and 8 consolidated schools. The parish has one state approved high school for Negro students — the Tensas Parish Training School. This school has an enrollment of 750 pupils with 340 in the high school department. The total enrollment in the elementary colored schools of the parish is 1907. Sixty teachers and one supervisor are employed to instruct children in the colored schools. The academic courses offered in the Tensas Parish Training High School are in the fields of industrial arts, home economics, and general.

The administrative personnel is composed of three persons: parish superintendent, V. C. Rives; combination supervisor - visiting teacher, Luther Hollingsworth; Negro supervisor, John Jackson.

Court House

In a visit to the Tensas parish court house one finds first the sheriff's office and Sheriff E. D. Coleman, who has faithfully served the parish from June, 1936 to the present. But this is not all. Mr. Coleman has really been in law enforcement work nearly 50 years, having served as deputy sheriff in former years, besides having been attached to the federal tax unit as revenue agent for a number of years. Here he did some very outstanding work.

Working with him are his able deputies, Miss Rosy Massony, who has been in office since 1936 and W. M. Seaman, who joined the office personnel in 1943. The office is furnished with modern equipment including a 2-way radio system and mobile units in all cars.

Mention must be made, too, of the jail yard, which is a mass of color with the splendor of blossoms growing in profusion on every available spot — roses of brilliant hue, gladioli, calendula, daffodils, iris, sweet peas, pansies, peonies, verbena. Truly a unique and beautiful sight.

On one occasion a visitor from London, England, was so impressed with the vision of so much loveliness near the jail that he made this comment, "The sight of so much beauty surrounding a prison will be one of the outstanding memories of my visit to America."

In the assessor's office one also receives a warm welcome as he is greeted by Assessor Albert G. Bondurant, who has so efficiently filled this important office for 10 years. Before that time he was deputy assessor for 15 years. Associated with him as deputy is R. E. Fulton. Mr. Bondurant's father, A. B. Bondurant, served as assessor from 1909 to 1944. Their father and grandfather was the Albert Bondurant who was the first white child born within the confines of what is now Tensas Parish.

Then to the office of the clerk of the court. From James A. Kitchen, clerk of the court and his chief deputy, Mrs. W. R. Hudnall, one receives the same cordial greeting and warm welcome.

Across the hall now to the office of James S. Johnston, secretary-treasurer of the parish police jury. Prior to 1940 the board employed a secretary and a treasurer. On July 9, 1940 the two offices were combined as secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Johnston was the first to hold that office.

Police Jury

Then when it comes to the work of the police jury, one can be sure of finding information in this office. Recently from a very old volume Mr. Johnston gleaned some interesting facts about the beginning of the police jury system in the parish. The first meeting on April 6, 1843, consisting of seven justices of the peace, called by the parish judge, J. W. Montgomery, was held at the home of Dugald McCall. The purpose was to lay off five and not more than seven wards. Justices present were Dugald McCall, Benjamin F. Dunlap, James G. Gordon, Ebenezer Miller, E. H. Dorsey, Benjamin Dorsey, and E. D. Newell.

After laying out the wards, the police jury convened on May 4, 1843 at Waterproof, that being the place appointed by the parish judge.

The first meeting in St. Joseph was on June 6, 1843. On October 16, 1843, another meeting was held, at which time duties of the police jury were decided on. A route for the construction of a lever was reviewed, first taxes were levied, surveying and laying off the town of St. Joseph were paid for. In olden days road districts were created and named, and hands of each person were to work in those districts. All males between the ages of 16 and 50 except ministers and physicians were suppose to work, and each police juror took the responsibility of his ward.

The present police jury consists of E. R. McDonald, Newellton, president; James S. Johnston, St. Joseph, secretary-treasurer. Members: Ward 1, Clyde B. Lee, Newellton; Ward 2, E. R. McDonald, Newellton; Ward 3, B. W. Berry, St. Joseph; Ward 4, Richard B. Lynch, New Light; Ward 5, Jack P. Mabray, Somerset; Ward 6, L. T. Collins, Waterproof; Ward 7, Robert E. Lancaster, Jr. Waterproof, Route 1.

It was under the presidency of the late F. H. Curry that the gravel road system was inaugurated in 1919.

The courthouse itinerary would not be complete without a visit to the office of the parish superintendent of education, V. C. Rives, where he and his secretary, Mrs. Charles Aly, are always ready to listen to the calls of those having problems along the line of the educational work in which they are engaged. The splendid work of this department has already been touched upon in this report.

Those serving on the Tensas Parish School Board are L. H. Cook, president, J. C. Wilkerson, T. T. Hargrove, John L. Maier, Jr., Fred Miller, Truman James, and Milford Wampold.

Leaving the courthouse a visit must be made to the beautiful new court house annex. Here in room one is found Mr. C. J. Rozier, Tensas Parish Service Officer in the department of Veterans' Affairs. The service office was opened in 1945 to serve veterans or their dependents by filing claims for any benefit which they may be entitled to receive from the Veterans' Administration. Although the office is in St. Joseph, the towns of Newellton and Waterproof are served one day each week on an itinerary schedule.

Mrs. Jane C. Evans, Examiner in the Drivers' License Division of the Department of Public Safety, has her office in Room 2.

Oil

An industry that has meant much to the parish was brought about by the discovery of oil in 1942 in the Lake St. John field, part of which is in Tensas. Later another discovery was made in the Holly Ridge field. The Lake St. John oil field was discovered in 1942. In 1947 the main producing reservoir, the Basal Tuscaloosa was unitized and pressure maintenance and gas cycling was started with the California Company as operator. Cumulative oil production by the Lake St. John Unit through 1953 has been approximately 40,000,000 barrels. There are now 117 employes engaged in field and plant operations at the Lake St. John Field with a monthly payroll in excess of $50,000.

These gave employment to many in the parish; and with the sudden influx of inhabitants came a building boom. Many new streets were opened and many new houses were erected. The recycling plant, built a few years later, gave quite an impetus to business of all kinds.

Lumber

The extensive forest resources in the parish have played an important part in its economic development. At present there are three large sawmills in operation; namely, Rogers Brothers Lumber Co., a few miles south of Waterproof, W. E. Parks Lumber Co. and Newellton Hardwood Co., both of which are located in Newellton.

Game

In Lake Bruen, near St. Joseph, fishing is excellent, catches being good the year round. Black bass and barfish (white bass) are there in abundance. Other popular spots are Lake St. John, Tensas River, Fletcher's Lake and Bayou L'Argent.

On both Lake Bruen and Lake St. John are found excellent camp sites for the sportsman and accommodations for boats and guides. For commerical fishing, will be found catfish, buffalo, spoonbill, crayfish and frogs.

The best big game section is found in the vicinity of Newellton, where deer, squirrels and wild turkey are plentiful although there is much game throughout the entire parish.

American Legion

The Davidson - Perry Post of the American Legion, located in Newellton has, since its beginning, been a power for good in all community affairs. All phases of community life have profited by its generous response to every need. Wherever a need was felt, the Legion came to the rescue. Underprivileged children have been cared for and school athletics have been sponsored in many ways. A fire truck was given to the town; a Legion hall was built and in 1952 was greatly enlarged. It is this hall which serves as a community center for many social activities.

Even when these things were being accomplished, there were in the minds of some of the members the vision of a great humanitarian project, which would benefit others besides the local population.

As the idea took shape, enthusiasm became so great that soon the Legion Memorial Hospital began to be the one goal toward which was attained when on October 6, 1948, the dream became a reality in the dedication of the modern and splendidly equipped Legion-Memorial Hospital.

For five years the hospital was operated by a board of directors, elected from the Davidson-Perry Post. Although this group of men had put in a great deal of effort, thought, and time, the hospital had been operating at a loss.

It was filling such a long-felt need in the central and northern end of the parish that it could not be allowed to fail. After much thought and much assistance in planning a solution, the Legion was successful in making a donation of the Legion - Memorial Hospital (which name was changed to St. Charles Legion-Memorial Hospital) to the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

March 1, 1954, marked one year since the change was made. The Sisters have endeared themselves to the entire community and the splendid work which they have done for the institution is little less than phenomenal. Great praise must be given to these splendid women, who are each day fulfilling their mission of service.

Churches

The most important factor in every community is the religious life of its inhabitants; and besides being proud of the many industrial and educational facilities, Tensas is blessed with its spiritual leadership. Baptist churches are found in Newellton, St. Joseph, Waterproof, Maryland, Monclove, and several rural sections. In St. Joseph and Waterproof are Catholic churches. Catholic services in Newellton are held in the chapel of the St. Charles Legion - Memorial Hospital. A Church of Christ is found in Newellton and one in St. Joseph. Methodist in St. Joseph, Waterproof, and Wesley; Presbyterian, St. Joseph and Waterproof. Episcopal churches in Waterproof and St. Joseph, and a Union Church consisting of both Methodists and Presbyterians, in Newellton.

Wesley Chapel

Wesley Chapel, the oldest church in the parish, located 12 miles due west from St. Joseph on Highway 48 is supposed to have been built in 1850. Native framing hewn and split out of various types of timber, found in the forest, was used and fastened with wooden pegs. Cypress and black locust were largely used.

It was built by a group of citizens in that community and several years elapsed before its completion. The names Nicholls, Guthrie, Harrison, Smith, and Chew figure largely in the history of this beautiful little church, where community spirit has always been so strong, and where the spirit of love and loyalty to each other and to the traditions of the early era still exist.

Within recent years the old church has been remodeled and changed because of change in the highway. Since the time of rural electrification lights and fans have been installed; and an electric Hammond organ is one of the recent additions.

Located as it is among the magnificent old forest trees, it inspires a feeling of reverence in all who come near this sacred spot.

Services are conducted twice a month by the Methodist minister from St. Joseph; and when weather permits, the traditional dinner on the ground is served.

The next oldest church in the parish is the Episcopal church in St. Joseph built in 1871. The first rector was Rev. T. T. Castleman, under whose supervision the building was constructed.

Tensas Library

In summing up the cultural influences of the parish the name of the Tensas Parish Library must not be omitted. After a year's trial using the many volumes furnished by the State Library, a record vote was cast, and the Tensas Parish Library became a reality in 1953.

Miss Mary Louise Giraud, the most efficient librarian, has been directing the affairs of the library from its beginning. Whatever type of reading is called for, Miss Giraud is prepared to furnish - and always most graciously.

A splendid new Bookmobile makes scheduled trips to the various schools and throughout the parish. The library is one of the finest acquisitions that could be desired and Tensas is most fortunate in having access to it.

Tensas Banks

Like the library, another institution which has always played an important part in shaping the affairs of a community and contributing to its prosperity, is a strong financial banking system; and Tensas is very fortunate in having men and women of the highest type of efficiency and integrity in carrying on these operations.

The original bank of the "St. Joseph Bank and Trust Co.," established in 1902, is the oldest bank in the parish, and in its operations exemplifies the thought in its slogan of "continuous, conservative, and conscientious" service. Ably conducting its policies are C. Reiber, president; J. T. Curry and Philip B. Watson, vice-presidents; J. C. Seaman, cashier; D. M. Lynch, assistant cashier; Mrs. Eunice Wilds, Mrs. Joy Grace, and Mrs. Norma Stiles, bookkeepers and tellers.

The Bank of Waterproof in 1924 became the "Waterproof Branch of the St. Joseph Bank and Trust Co." Here efficiently conducting the work are W. R. Graves, cashier; Miss Lydia M. Testa, assistant cashier, and J. C. Seaman, Jr., clerk.

In 1922 the Tensas State Bank of Newellton was established. Skillfully directing its operations are W. W. Burnside, president; T. T. Hargrove, executive vice-president; W. E. Hawkins, cashier; Mrs. Bessie L. Poe and Miss Tommy Jean Lee, bookkeepers and tellers. In all these banks loans for merchants, planters, cattle-raisers, etc., are available, and all operations are courteously executed in a business-like way.

Resources Help Spur Growth Of Tensas Parish

By ROSE GUICE

Tensas Parish, one of the most fertile parishes of Louisiana, lying along the west bank of the Mississippi river and containing approximately 450,000 acres, was established about 1845 during the administration of Andre' Bienvenu Roman. It was carved out of the northern or upper part of Concordia and received its name from the Taensas, or Taensa Indians, who lived in this section when it was first settled.

The French explorer, LaSalle, gives the first record of this tribe, the Taensas, which had its main village on a lake—"an ancient ox-bow formed by a Mississippi River cut off." This was Lake St. Joseph, on which the town of Newellton is located.

When Iberville made a trip up the Mississippi in 1700, Penicaut who was with him, wrote, "On the 27th of April we left Natchez, coasted along to the right for a distance of 12 leagues, and landed to visit a village situated four leagues to the interior. These Indians are called the Taensas."

At this time Iberville tried to persuade the Indians to locate along the river. They were reluctant to do this, preferring to wander over a considerable district west of the Mississippi, where they were constantly making war on the less fierce and warlike tribes.

Early Legends

The parish is rich in legends of the early days, which center around the occupation of the region by the ancient Indians and the subsequent days of Spanish rule by Spanish commandants from their old seat of government at Concordia—now Vidalia.

In the early days traders and chasseurs (hunters) from Canada, were the only visitors to this region; and, because of frequent inundations from the river, there was little incentive for settlement.

Apparently the first permanent residence established was that of John Densmore, who built a house and a store on the site of the present town of Saint Joseph. The place was known as "Densmore's Landing" and was a shipping center for a large section of country lying between the Mississippi and Tensas rivers. He also operated a ferry between his landing and Rodney, Mississippi. The Densmore store was located on the site of what was later the Farrar House of St. Joseph.

During the closing years of the 18th and the early years of the 19th century among others who took up land nearby were William Bantz, George West, Zenos Preston, Elam Bowman, James Bullen, Col. Isaac Harrison, Scott and Jeremiah Watson, J. W. Briscoe, Gen. C. H. Dahlgren, Rodney King, and James McGill.

Scott Watson developed the first plantation about 1812 on Lake Bruen; almost immediately after, Jerry Watson established the Panola plantation, north of Densmore's landing, and A. J. Watson settled on Lake St. Peter.

An important event, affecting the industrial and agricultural progress of the parish, occurred in 1834 when Edward D. Newell and his brother, Dr. Thomas Newell, came into this section and settled on Newell's Ridge near the present site of Newellton. The two Newells invented a cotton press, which contributed to the economic advantage of the planters of that region.

Edward Newell was one of several leaders of that community, who in 1852 bought a printing press and turned it over to Andrew Marschalk, who established the Tensas Gazette, which has been in continuous operation ever since, with the exception of the period during the Civil War.

It is timely here to pay tribute to the late Josiah P. Scott, who died June 9, 1953, at the age of 79, after fifty-nine years as the editor of the Tensas Gazette. At his passing Tensas lost one of its most dearly beloved citizens and chroniclers.

Newellton

The town of Newellton was settled by the Rouths in the early 19th century. A story is told of Edward D. Newell, a young merchant of Port Gibson, who fell in love with a beautiful girl and wished to marry her. Her father, a wealthy planter, withheld his consent on the grounds that young Newell was not a landowner.

Since no one in this section was willing to sell land at that time, this young man, with the aid of an old Indian Chief, was shown the present site of Newellton with its many acres of rich delta soil. It is recorded that young Newell, having obtained this information, went to the federal authorities in Monroe and acquired a tract of land of approximately 30,000 acres at $1.25 per acre. It was here that he brought his bride in 1845, thus marking the beginning of the town called Newellton.

St. Joseph

St. Joseph, the parish seat, so chosen because of its central location, is supposed to have been named by a Jesuit priest, who came down the Mississippi, viewed the unexplored territory, and applied the names of the patron saints to the series of cut-off lakes in this section — Lake St. Peter, Lake St. John, and Lake St. Joseph.

One of the first white children born within the confines of what is now Tensas Parish was Albert Bondurant in the year 1824. Afterwards Bondurant became Captain of the Tensas Rifles and served in the Civil War. His plantation know as "Pleasant View" was located on the Louisiana side of the Mississippi River just opposite Bruensburg, where Andrew Jackson at a much earlier period maintained a store and a race track for blooded horses.

As a measure of reprisal for the destruction of the cotton, the Union soldiers shelled the plantation home. However, the building was not destroyed and was used by Gen. Grant as his headquarters during the march to Vicksburg. Years later as the plantation caved into the river, it seemed likely that the ancestral home would approach a like fate. Capt. Bondurant then tore it down and moved the material to St. Joseph. It was then rebuilt and stands today, linking the past with the present. Within recent years it has been reconditioned and is now the attractive Rectory of the Episcopal Church. When the building was torn down, dozens of cannon balls were found lodged in the heavier timbers.

Waterproof

The name, Waterproof" is truly a misnomer and has been the subject of many jests in time of overflows, because on several occasions water has reached a depth of from two to three feet over the entire town.

He was standing one day, high and dry, on a strip of land, surrounded as far as eye could see by water, while waiting for a steamboat to land for its usual refueling of cordwood. As the boat landed, the jovial captain, surveying the scene, called out, "Well, Abner, I see you are waterproof." Pleased with this greeting, Mr. Smalley gave the name "Waterproof" to the many acres of land which he had acquired.

This, of course, was before the time of the levee system and the spot on which Mr. Smalley stood was said to have been the highest point of land on the west side of the Mississippi between Memphis and New Orleans.

Many, many years later the Literary Digest in commenting upon the drowning of a bus load of Negroes from Waterproof made this wise-crack. "A bus load of waterproof Negroes drown. How could this have happened?" This did not appeal to the community as being facetious, for many had lost some of their faithful colored friends in this terrible disaster.

Supposition of the early citizens places the first settlement of Waterproof at 1830 or earlier. Pioneers, coming down the river on flatboats or coming from the North and East by covered wagon, stopped on their way to Texas by the old Texas Road Trail.

Tired by their long journey and attracted by the rich fertility of the soil, they made homes here—some engaging in agricultural pursuits and others in trading. The father of R. D. Shelley was one who came by boat from Kentucky with the idea of going through to Texas.

On reaching Waterproof he found rather an enterprising little village, and, influenced by his uncle, Abner Smalley, made this his home. Years later Mr. Shelley and Mr. Smalley were engaged in making saddle-trees for the Confederate Army — an occupation which was brought to a close by the Federal Fleet.

Upon the death of Mr. Shelley his wife, Mrs. M. Shelley opened a small store several miles from town and this is conceded to have been the oldest mercantile business in Tensas Parish.

The names McAlister, McCullough, Goldman, Miller, Drake, Hunter, Stewart, Kempe, Gorton, Wailes, Seddon, Andrews, Shelton, Marron, Hays, Wise, Goldberg, Moore and Marks are closely associated with the town in its earlier years.

Waterproof is rather rich in early history, and some of its inhabitants were very closely connected with the Confederacy. Major Howell, brother of Mrs. Jefferson Davis lived here practically all his life and was buried near the town. Mrs. Kempe, whose family owned almost all the land from Waterproof to Saint Joseph, was a cousin of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

It is known that Gen. Zachary Taylor resided on a plantation two miles east of Waterproof, and it was here that he was making his home when notified of his election as head of the nation.

The large felt sombrero, worn by him during the Mexican War, was for many years in the possession of the Smyth family of "Wavertree" plantation, having been given to their grandfather, Elam Bowman—lifelong friend of General Taylor.

The Waterproof of that time, about two and one half miles south of the present site, is now well out into the Mississippi River. Since caving banks made moving imperative, the town was moved to the James Miller property, just outside the present levee.

Again in 1880 the old river went on a rampage and this time the town reached its present location on the McAlister property, owned by the ancestors of Mrs. Hallie McAlister Rhodes, who now lives here with her family.

Agriculture

As has been mentioned before Tensas is one of the most fertile parishes in the state of Louisiana, and it may be classed as being equal or perhaps superior to land in the heart of the Mississippi Delta.

The people here derive their living from agriculture and much progress has been made within the past two decades. At one time large plantations were operated on a share basis, having the mule and the Negro as the power for producing — primarily cotton. In those days laborers were often called "clodhoppers." The word originated, no doubt, because the rough and unprepared soil contained so many clods.

In the early 1930's there was an influx of white people coming from the poor hills of Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. They brought ideas and some new types of implements. Realizing the productivity of the soil of this wonderful Delta Parish, they were soon producing a bale to a bale and a half of cotton to the acre with enough corn to feed their livestock 12 months in the year.

That was the beginning of the migration of the Negro people who traveled both West and North. Again there was a fear that there could be little production of cotton —but not so.

The larger owners realized that a transition was taking place. Mechanical farming was discussed, both pro and con, and many agricultural leaders felt that mechanizing larger operations would be prohibitive. As time went on more machinery of various types was put into use and today some of the largest operations are carried on with less than 20 men. These men cannot be classified as laborers. They are machine operators, receiving operators' wages.

Today in Tensas to be a successful planter one must have or employ the knowledge of chemical engineers, agronomists, entomologists, and people with high training in the various fields that are essential to the production of cotton, corn, soybeans, and other agricultural crops.

Twenty years ago families were awakened at 4:30 a.m. by the ringing of the plantation bells by hostlers on each plantation. Today the sound of the plantation bell is as uncommon as the mule, the steel beam plow, and the double shovel. No longer is it necessary for a man to rise at 4:30 a.m. and wait until daylight to catch his mule. One man with proper equipment can do more in eight hours than 50 laborers and 50 mules in the days of the clodhopper.

Production has gradually stepped up to such a point that a bale per acre is considered a low yield. Change has been made from one crop a year to diversified agriculture. Much land is producing two crops per year: namely, soybeans following wheat; corn following wheat or small grain—and this has proved successful and profitable. It seems that the economy of agriculture has changed from fear to security. The day of a house to ten acres and a family in each house with a mule tied to the back steps has "gone with the wind." Instead of the mule a pick-up truck is found.

Since the high water of 1927, much progress has been made in livestock—cattle, hogs, and sheep. Prior to this time, the levees made the country vulnerable to overflows. These overflows have been eliminated to such an extent by the splendid work of the Mississippi River Commission and the U. S. Engineers that there is a feeling of security which almost makes one feel that the river is no problem now. Because of this condition improvements on the plantations are more permanent.

Livestock

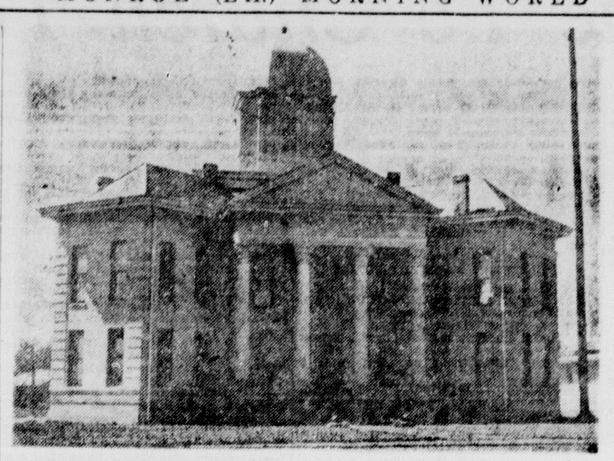
In the parish are a number of herds of pure bred cattle, namely: Angus, Aberdeen Angus, Hereford, Santa Gertrudis and Charbray. There are three registered Hereford cattle breeders, two registered Aberdeen Angus breeders, one registered Santa Gertrudis breeder and one of the outstanding breeders of Charbray cattle, which is a splendid breed for this area.

In addition to this, seven poultry flocks of 600 hens each have been established, from which eggs are sold locally and to an egg dealer in Baton Rouge. Twelve commercial dairies operate and sell milk to creameries in Winnsboro and Clayton. There are 22 sheep flocks in the parish, distributed among large and small farmers.

Change to mechanized farming necessitated the change of the cotton gins. Once a modern gin could be built for $20,000, including the power. Today a modern gin to handle mechanically picked cotton will cost from $150,000 to $200,000 and it is fortunate that there are a number of these gins in Tensas—3 privately owned and five public gins. Private gins are owned and operated by L. H. Cook, St. Joseph; Panola Company, Newellton; Somerset Plantation, Newellton. Public gins are as follows: Waterproof Burn Gin, operated by the Goldmans; Texas Road Gin, Truman James; St. Joseph Planters' Gin, J. D. Myers; St. Joseph Service, George Clarke; and Delta Gin Co., Burnside and McDonald. The time is here when often a lock of cotton is not touched by human hands.



PARISH COURT HOUSE — Embodying years of tradition, the Tensas Parish courthouse is the center of activity for the parish.

Irrigation

Production of soybeans has necessitated elevators and storage bins, four of which serve the parish, two in St. Joseph, one in Newellton, and one in Waterproof.

Much progress has been made in the clearing of Tensas woodland, and with proper drainage there will be no reason for having a bad acre of land in the parish. It is fortunate, too, that, in having the Mississippi as a border, water is not a great problem in irrigating, which is in its infancy. Wells can be drilled to a depth of not more than 140 feet and produce water, whereas in Arizona, California, and other arid areas wells have to go to a depth of 300 to 700 feet, which is expensive. This is mentioned because of the fact that irrigation will play a major part in the future production of Tensas.

The Northeast Louisiana Experiment Station began operation January 1, 1929. It was established in a rather interesting procedure in that the eleven parishes of northeast Louisiana bought the land and supplied money for the original buildings and equipment and gave it to Louisiana State University to be operated as an experiment station. The original tract of land consisted of 160 acres. Since the time of establishment Louisiana State University has purchased an additional 150 acres.

The work of the station attempts to solve the problems arising in the farming operations of the area, which consists of work with farm crops, soil improvement, soil management, pasture development, live stock, farm machinery, etc.

The present personnel is as follows: C. B. Haddon, superintendent; J. A. Hendrix, agronomist; S. A. Phillips, assistant agronomist; J. C. Carpenter, Jr., animal husbandman and L. W. Sloane, agricultural engineer.

Today the extension service is doing excellent work in research and in working cooperatively with those in all branches of agriculture.

Extension workers in Tensas Parish at this time are C. B. James, county agent; Mrs. Effie W. Lofton, home demonstration agent; Edward W. Dayton, assistant county agent; and Mrs. Orville E. Comer, extension secretary.

Better living in better homes is the objective of the home demonstration program in Tensas Parish. Educational work with women and girls is planned to help rural families get a vision of possible improvements in rural living and then to help them transform the vision into reality.

Work is conducted through seven to twelve home demonstration clubs each year, three junior and three senior 4-H Clubs, the Parish Home Demonstration Council, the Parish 4-H Executive Council, demonstrations, home visits, telephones, and office calls.

Approximately 200 women are enrolled in the home demonstration clubs and 400 boys and girls in the 4-H Clubs each year. In addition to conducting projects in home making and agriculture, 4-H club members participate in many activities that help to develop leadership, such as: National 4-H Club Week, Parish 4-H Club Achievement Day, 4-H Club camp, State 4-H Short Course, Junior Leadership Camp, Parish, district, and state livestock shows, tri - parish and state fairs, etc.

Schools

Although Tensas is blessed with many natural resources, which embrace valuable forests and minerals, rich alluvial land and live stock, the most important resource is its people, and the American way of living depends upon the way its citizens are educated. Quoting, "A state can be no stronger, no more intelligent, no more just and no more righteous than is the great body of its citizens. In a democracy public opinion tends to rule and public opinion can rise no higher than the beliefs and ideals of its citizens. The greatest and most permanent investment our people can make is in the field of education, for it is education that plays an important part in the development of its resources."

The early history of Tensas shows that from its beginning the people were interested in the education of their children. According to the late Mrs. Eli Tullis, an early citizen of Tensas Parish, who landed by boat at St. Joseph, July 18, 1853, private tutors and governesses and private academies were patronized when the children were older.

St. Joseph's first school was supposed to have been built in 1858 on the present site of the Episcopal Church, but the date cannot be verified. The public school system began about the year 1874. St. Joseph had the first high school established in the parish in 1905, but was not approved until May 28, 1906. The present school building, on ground purchased from the Panola Company, was erected in 1924 and named Joseph Moore Davidson High School in affectionate memory of the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Davidson, who was killed in the Argonne Woods, November 4, 1919?

In Newellton an old Grange Hall served as the only school house until 1886. In 1920 a $35,000 structure was erected, and by 1939 increased enrollment resulted in the erection of a modern high school building.

Waterproof claims several school sites. In the old town, classes were held in the Knights of Pythias Hall and the Winter's store. Later a two-room school was built, to which were added in 1905 or 1906 two large class rooms, an office, and three cloak rooms. As attendance increased two frame cottages were built behind the school.

The first record of an attempt to establish a high school was in 1896, but it was ten years later, 1906, before the school was operated as a high school. In 1923 plans were made to erect a modern school building at a cost of $60,000. This was completed in January, 1927—just ahead of the terrible overflow of that year.

Now each of these high schools has a well equipped cafeteria and a modern gymnasium auditorium.

The people of Tensas parish can well be proud of their public school system. There have been outstanding developments in many phases of educational activities. The school system is composed of three white state - approved high schools with a total enrollment of 1146 pupils. The school board employs a staff of 52 teachers. Joseph M. Davidson High School has an enrollment of 263 pupils — 204 in the elementary and 59 in the high school department. Waterproof High School has a total enrollment of 276 with 215 in elementary and 61 in high school. Newellton has an enrollment of 607 — 477 in elementary and 130 in the high school department.

The organization of Negro schools in the parish is made up of 14 schools — 6 one-teacher and 8 consolidated schools. The parish has one state approved high school for Negro students — the Tensas Parish Training School. This school has an enrollment of 750 pupils with 340 in the high school department. The total enrollment in the elementary colored schools of the parish is 1907. Sixty teachers and one supervisor are employed to instruct children in the colored schools. The academic courses offered in the Tensas Parish Training High School are in the fields of industrial arts, home economics, and general.

The administrative personnel is composed of three persons: parish superintendent, V. C. Rives; combination supervisor - visiting teacher, Luther Hollingsworth; Negro supervisor, John Jackson.

Court House

In a visit to the Tensas parish court house one finds first the sheriff's office and Sheriff E. D. Coleman, who has faithfully served the parish from June, 1936 to the present. But this is not all. Mr. Coleman has really been in law enforcement work nearly 50 years, having served as deputy sheriff in former years, besides having been attached to the federal tax unit as revenue agent for a number of years. Here he did some very outstanding work.

Working with him are his able deputies, Miss Rosy Massony, who has been in office since 1936 and W. M. Seaman, who joined the office personnel in 1943. The office is furnished with modern equipment including a 2-way radio system and mobile units in all cars.

Mention must be made, too, of the jail yard, which is a mass of color with the splendor of blossoms growing in profusion on every available spot — roses of brilliant hue, gladioli, calendula, daffodils, iris, sweet peas, pansies, peonies, verbena. Truly a unique and beautiful sight.

On one occasion a visitor from London, England, was so impressed with the vision of so much loveliness near the jail that he made this comment, "The sight of so much beauty surrounding a prison will be one of the outstanding memories of my visit to America."

In the assessor's office one also receives a warm welcome as he is greeted by Assessor Albert G. Bondurant, who has so efficiently filled this important office for 10 years. Before that time he was deputy assessor for 15 years. Associated with him as deputy is R. E. Fulton. Mr. Bondurant's father, A. B. Bondurant, served as assessor from 1909 to 1944. Their father and grandfather was the Albert Bondurant who was the first white child born within the confines of what is now Tensas Parish.

Then to the office of the clerk of the court. From James A. Kitchen, clerk of the court and his chief deputy, Mrs. W. R. Hudnall, one receives the same cordial greeting and warm welcome.

Across the hall now to the office of James S. Johnston, secretary-treasurer of the parish police jury. Prior to 1940 the board employed a secretary and a treasurer. On July 9, 1940 the two offices were combined as secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Johnston was the first to hold that office.

Police Jury

Then when it comes to the work of the police jury, one can be sure of finding information in this office. Recently from a very old volume Mr. Johnston gleaned some interesting facts about the beginning of the police jury system in the parish. The first meeting on April 6, 1843, consisting of seven justices of the peace, called by the parish judge, J. W. Montgomery, was held at the home of Dugald McCall. The purpose was to lay off five and not more than seven wards. Justices present were Dugald McCall, Benjamin F. Dunlap, James G. Gordon, Ebenezer Miller, E. H. Dorsey, Benjamin Dorsey, and E. D. Newell.

After laying out the wards, the police jury convened on May 4, 1843 at Waterproof, that being the place appointed by the parish judge.

The first meeting in St. Joseph was on June 6, 1843. On October 16, 1843, another meeting was held, at which time duties of the police jury were decided on. A route for the construction of a levee was reviewed, first taxes were levied, surveying and laying off the town of St. Joseph were paid for. In olden days road districts were created and named, and hands of each person were to work in those districts. All males between the ages of 16 and 50 except ministers and physicians were suppose to work, and each police juror took the responsibility of his ward.

The present police jury consists of E. R. McDonald, Newellton, president; James S. Johnston, St. Joseph, secretary-treasurer. Members: Ward 1, Clyde B. Lee, Newellton; Ward 2, E. R. McDonald, Newellton; Ward 3, B. W. Berry, St. Joseph; Ward 4, Richard B. Lynch, New Light; Ward 5, Jack P. Mabray, Somerset; Ward 6, L. T. Collins, Waterproof; Ward 7, Robert E. Lancaster, Jr. Waterproof, Route 1.

It was under the presidency of the late F. H. Curry that the gravel road system was inaugurated in 1919.

The courthouse itinerary would not be complete without a visit to the office of the parish superintendent of education, V. C. Rives, where he and his secretary, Mrs. Charles Aly, are always ready to listen to the calls of those having problems along the line of the educational work in which they are engaged. The splendid work of this department has already been touched upon in this report.

Leaving the courthouse a visit must be made to the beautiful new court house annex. Here in room one is found Mr. C. J. Rozier, Tensas Parish Service Officer in the department of Veterans' Affairs. The service office was opened in 1945 to serve veterans or their dependents by filing claims for any benefit which they may be entitled to receive from the Veterans' Administration. Although the office is in St. Joseph, the towns of Newellton and Waterproof are served one day each week on an itinerary schedule.

Mrs. Jane C. Evans, Examiner in the Drivers' License Division of the Department of Public Safety, has her office in Room 2.

Oil

An industry that has meant much to the parish was brought about by the discovery of oil in 1942 in the Lake St. John field, part of which is in Tensas. Later another discovery was made in the Holly Ridge field. The Lake St. John oil field was discovered in 1942. In 1947 the main producing reservoir, the Basal Tuscaloosa was unitized and pressure maintenance and gas cycling was started with the California Company as operator. Cumulative oil production by the Lake St. John Unit through 1953 has been approximately 40,000,000 barrels. There are now 117 employes engaged in field and plant operations at the Lake St. John Field with a monthly payroll in excess of $50,000.

These gave employment to many in the parish; and with the sudden influx of inhabitants came a building boom. Many new streets were opened and many new houses were erected. The recycling plant, built a few years later, gave quite an impetus to business of all kinds.

Lumber

The extensive forest resources in the parish have played an important part in its economic development. At present there are three large sawmills in operation: namely, Rogers Brothers Lumber Co., a few miles south of Waterproof, W. E. Parks Lumber Co. and Newellton Hardwood Co., both of which are located in Newellton.

Game

In Lake Bruen, near St. Joseph, fishing is excellent, catches being good the year round. Black bass and barfish (white bass) are there in abundance. Other popular spots are Lake St. John, Tensas River, Fletcher's Lake and Bayou L'Argent.

On both Lake Bruen and Lake St. John are found excellent camp sites for the sportsman and accommodations for boats and guides. For commerical fishing, will be found catfish, buffalo, spoonbill, crayfish and frogs.

The best big game section is found in the vicinity of Newellton, where deer, squirrels and wild turkey are plentiful although there is much game throughout the entire parish.

American Legion

The Davidson - Perry Post of the American Legion, located in Newellton has, since its beginning, been a power for good in all community affairs. All phases of community life have profited by its generous response to every need. Wherever a need was felt, the Legion came to the rescue. Underprivileged children have been cared for and school athletics have been sponsored in many ways. A fire truck was given to the town; a Legion hall was built and in 1952 was greatly enlarged. It is this hall which serves as a community center for many social activities.

Even when these things were being accomplished, there were in the minds of some of the members the vision of a great humanitarian project, which would benefit others besides the local population.

As the idea took shape, enthusiasm became so great that soon the Legion Memorial Hospital began to be the one goal toward which was attained when on October 6, 1948, the dream became a reality in the dedication of the modern and splendidly equipped Legion-Memorial Hospital.

For five years the hospital was operated by a board of directors, elected from the Davidson-Perry Post. Although this group of men had put in a great deal of effort, thought, and time, the hospital had been operating at a loss.

It was filling such a long-felt need in the central and northern end of the parish that it could not be allowed to fail. After much thought and much assistance in planning a solution, the Legion was successful in making a donation of the Legion - Memorial Hospital (which name was changed to St. Charles Legion-Memorial Hospital) to the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

March 1, 1954, marked one year since the change was made. The Sisters have endeared themselves to the entire community and the splendid work which they have done for the institution is little less than phenomenal. Great praise must be given to these splendid women, who are each day fulfilling their mission of service.

Churches

The most important factor in every community is the religious life of its inhabitants; and besides being proud of the many industrial and educational facilities, Tensas is blessed with its spiritual leadership. Baptist churches are found in Newellton, St. Joseph, Waterproof, Maryland, Monclove, and several rural sections. In St. Joseph and Waterproof are Catholic churches. Catholic services in Newellton are held in the chapel of the St. Charles Legion - Memorial Hospital. A Church of Christ is found in Newellton and one in St. Joseph. Methodist in St. Joseph, Waterproof, and Wesley; Presbyterian, St. Joseph and Waterproof, Episcopal churches in Waterproof and St. Joseph, and a Union Church consisting of both Methodists and Presbyterians, in Newellton.

Wesley Chapel

Wesley Chapel, the oldest church in the parish, located 12 miles due west from St. Joseph on Highway 48 is supposed to have been built in 1850. Native framing hewn and split out of various types of timber, found in the forest, was used and fastened with wooden pegs. Cypress and black locust were largely used.

It was built by a group of citizens in that community and several years elapsed before its completion. The names Nicholls, Guthrie, Harrison, Smith, and Chew figure largely in the history of this beautiful little church, where community spirit has always been so strong, and where the spirit of love and loyalty to each other and to the traditions of the early era still exist.

Within recent years the old church has been remodeled and changed because of change in the highway. Since the time of rural electrification lights and fans have been installed; and an electric Hammond organ is one of the recent additions.

Located as it is among the magnificent old forest trees, it inspires a feeling of reverence in all who come near this sacred spot.

Services are conducted twice a month by the Methodist minister from St. Joseph; and when weather permits, the traditional dinner on the ground is served.

The next oldest church in the parish is the Episcopal church in St. Joseph built in 1871. The first rector was Rev. T. T. Castleman, under whose supervision the building was constructed.

Tensas Library

In summing up the cultural influences of the parish the name of the Tensas Parish Library must not be omitted. After a year's trial using the many volumes furnished by the State Library, a record vote was cast, and the Tensas Parish Library became a reality in 1953.

Miss Mary Louise Giraud, the most efficient librarian, has been directing the affairs of the library from its beginning. Whatever type of reading is called for, Miss Giraud is prepared to furnish - and always most graciously.

A splendid new Bookmobile makes scheduled trips to the various schools and throughout the parish. The library is one of the finest acquisitions that could be desired and Tensas is most fortunate in having access to it.

Tensas Banks

Like the library, another institution which has always played an important part in shaping the affairs of a community and contributing to its prosperity, is a strong financial banking system; and Tensas is very fortunate in having men and women of the highest type of efficiency and integrity in carrying on these operations.

The original bank of the "St. Joseph Bank and Trust Co.," established in 1902, is the oldest bank in the parish, and in its operations exemplifies the thought in its slogan of "continuous, conservative, and conscientious" service. Ably conducting its policies are C. Reiber, president; J. T. Curry and Philip B. Watson, vice-presidents; J. C. Seaman, cashier; D. M. Lynch, assistant cashier; Mrs. Eunice Wilds, Mrs. Joy Grace, and Mrs. Norma Stiles, bookkeepers and tellers.

The Bank of Waterproof in 1924 became the "Waterproof Branch of the St. Joseph Bank and Trust Co." Here efficiently conducting the work are W. R. Graves, cashier; Miss Lydia M. Testa, assistant cashier, and J. C. Seaman, Jr., clerk.

In 1922 the Tensas State Bank of Newellton was established. Skillfully directing its operations are W. W. Burnside, president; T. T. Hargrove, executive vice-president; W. E. Hawkins, cashier; Mrs. Bessie L. Poe and Miss Tommy Jean Lee, bookkeepers and tellers. In all these banks loans for merchants, planters, cattle-raisers, etc., are available, and all operations are courteously executed in a business-like way.

The bank in each town is attractively housed in a modern building, excellently equipped, and standing as an ornament to any community.

Realizing, as they do, the character of those who safeguard their deposits and investments, the people of the parish have a deep feeling of satisfaction and security.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: I am a business man who will be forty on my next birthday. I have been fairly successful in my business, have been able to provide well for my own little family, but I am inwardly dissatisfied. I would like to be out doing things for God like you are doing. I am seriously contemplating giving up my business, going to Bible school, and then out into the ministry. D. I. G.

ANSWER: It may be that the restlessness of your heart is indicative of God's call to you to be a preacher of the gospel. Be sure that it does not mean that you are just dissatisfied with life itself, and want to shift from one job to another. Some men have been called at your age and have become very effective in the gospel ministry. More likely, however, your usefulness could be as a Christian layman—active and energetic in your local church, helping build up the Sunday School, assuming civic responsibilities for good government in your community, identifying yourself with some aggressive group of lay Christians, such as the Christian Business Men, the Gideons, or Fishers of Men. Very likely your restlessness of heart is caused by your over concentration upon your business. By continuing to be diligent in business, but also giving an increased amount of time and effort to Christian work as a layman, you will find that restlessness to be completely overcome. Remember the Bible says, "He satisfieth the longing soul and filleth the hungry soul with goodness."

A quick way to warm up leftover rice is to pour boiling water over it, cover, let stand several minutes and then drain. If you want the rice steaming hot, bring to a boil over high heat after it has stood in the hot water but do not let it cook.

We are taught to pray, and we should pray. Prayer is food for the soul. It brings guidance from God, and it gives us light and strength for our every need. But there is a prayer that we make thoughtlessly and without realizing what we are really saying when we pray "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." This will be our text for today's sermon.
We are a friendly church with a strong Christian message, and you are most cordially invited to worship and serve with us.
The Seniors and Pioneers will meet in Lexington School at 6:00 this evening.

Brownville Methodists Complete Seven Years

The seventh anniversary of the Brownville Methodist Church will be celebrated Sunday, May 16, with special services and with an old-fashioned dinner served on the grounds at noon.

This church was organized May 22, 1947, under the leadership of Rev. W. H. Giles, then district superintendent here. The first pastor was Rev. Isaac Patton, Jr. Rev. C. K. Brooks was assigned as pastor and served until June 1, 1948 when the June conference assigned Rev. Louis Arkema who served until the next September.

On September 29, 1948, Rev. T. A. Brown was assigned as pastor in which he is still serving.

Honor Badges To Adventist Group

Honor badges and awards were conferred upon seven members of the Junior Missionary Volunteer Society of the Monroe Seventh-day Adventist Church Saturday morning, May 15, at a special investiture program of the society.

Martin C. Shain the pastor presented the tokens of achievement in recognition of work done in the various classes of the young people's organization. Those receiving awards and pins of the society are: Dennis Lea Facundus and Danny Purcell received the "Busy Bee" pin, Dolores Moore and Ray Purcell III received the "Helping Hand" pin, Ronnie Lambeth received the "Friends" pin, Qwendolyn Lambeth and Lewis Hardy received the "Companion" pin.

"In order to qualify for any Missionary Volunteer pin, one must meet certain requirements in memory work and prove himself proficient in specific fields such as handicrafts, practical arts, nature study, gardening, first aid, knot tying, woodsmanship, and swimming," explained Pastor Shain.

"In view of the fact that more than 40 per cent of the time of childhood and youth up to the age of 18 is spent outside the home and school," Pastor Shain added, "Seventh - day Adventists have planned a program that will help their young people to make the best use of this time."

The Junior Missionary Volunteer classwork has been carried on by the denomination for nearly 30 years. Recently Pathfinders Clubs for youngsters 9 to 15 years of age have been organized. These are under the guidance of older Missionary Volunteer and provide opportunity for members to develop leadership.

Presbyterians Plan Students Center In Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Negotiations for the purchase of property on which to build a Presbyterian student center at Louisiana Tech are nearing completion. The Rev. W. H. McFadden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe and chairman of the Red River Presbytery's Louisiana Tech student center committee, has announced that the Illinois Central railroad has agreed to sell two lots a block east of the Tech campus on Louisiana Avenue.

The Monroe minister also announced that a Ruston architect, George Lomax, had been engaged to prepare preliminary plans for the proposed building.

Rev. McFadden said that money for the purchase is available and that the transaction would be completed as soon as the title to the property is cleared and the deed is prepared.

West Monroe 1st Baptists Boost Budget To $217,000

The First Baptist Church of West Monroe is completing plans for a gigantic celebration of the pastor's fifth anniversary. Rev. Jaroy Weber came as pastor of the church in May, 1949, and during this five - year period marked progress has been made. According to Melvin A Bradley, minister of education, 1,448 new members have been added to the church roll during this period; 693 by Baptism and 755 by transfer of membership. Tithes and offerings have risen from $65,000 during his first year to $217,589 on his fifth year.

The Sunday school has increased in average attendance in 1949 from 800 to 1150 this year. The training union has also shown improvement with an increase from 300 to 500 in average attendance.

Bradley stated that goals for attendance on Sunday are set as follows: Sunday school 1,500 and Training Union, 700. In order to boost the work on the $500,000 auditorium now under construction members of the congregation are being asked to "move up" on their pledges and contribute $13,000 next Sunday. With the completion of the auditorium value of the church property will have been increased by $550,000. Just three years ago a $250,000 educational plant was occupied.

REV JAROY WEBER

A reception for Rev. Weber and his family will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 in the banquet hall Sunday afternoon. Friends in the twin cities are invited to join the host who will extend greetings on this occasion.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: I am a business man who will be forty on my next birthday. I have been fairly successful in my business, have been able to provide well for my own little family, but I am inwardly dissatisfied. I would like to be out doing things for God like you are doing. I am seriously contemplating giving up my business, going to Bible school, and then out into the ministry. D. I. G.

ANSWER: It may be that the restlessness of your heart is indicative of God's call to you to be a preacher of the gospel. Be sure that it does not mean that you are just dissatisfied with life itself, and want to shift from one job to another. Some men have been called at your age and have become very effective in the gospel ministry. More likely, however, your usefulness could be as a Christian layman—active and energetic in your local church, helping build up the Sunday School, assuming civic responsibilities for good government in your community, identifying yourself with some aggressive group of lay Christians, such as the Christian Business Men, the Gideons, or Fishers of Men. Very likely your restlessness of heart is caused by your over concentration upon your business. By continuing to be diligent in business, but also giving an increased amount of time and effort to Christian work as a layman, you will find that restlessness to be completely overcome. Remember the Bible says, "He satisfieth the longing soul and filleth the hungry soul with goodness."

A quick way to warm up leftover rice is to pour boiling water over it, cover, let stand several minutes and then drain. If you want the rice steaming hot, bring to a boil over high heat after it has stood in the hot water but do not let it cook.

This will be our text for today's sermon.

Brownville Methodists Complete Seven Years

The seventh anniversary of the Brownville Methodist Church will be celebrated Sunday, May 16, with special services and with an old-fashioned dinner served on the grounds at noon.

A special invitation is extended to all members and members in times past to attend.

This church was organized May 22, 1947, under the leadership of Rev. W. H. Giles, then district superintendent here. The first pastor was Rev. Isaac Patton, Jr. Rev. C. K. Brooks was assigned as pastor and served until June 1, 1948 when the June conference assigned Rev. Louis Arkema who served until the next September.

On September 29, 1948, Rev. T. A. Brown was assigned as pastor in which he is still serving.

Honor Badges To Adventist Group

Honor badges and awards were conferred upon seven members of the Junior Missionary Volunteer Society of the Monroe Seventh-day Adventist Church Saturday morning, May 15, at a special investiture program of the society.

Martin C. Shain the pastor presented the tokens of achievement in recognition of work done in the various classes of the young people's organization. Those receiving awards and pins of the society are: Dennis Lea Facundus and Danny Purcell received the "Busy Bee" pin, Dolores Moore and Ray Purcell III received the "Helping Hand" pin, Ronnie Lambeth received the "Friends" pin, Qwendolyn Lambeth and Lewis Hardy received the "Companion" pin.

"In order to qualify for any Missionary Volunteer pin, one must meet certain requirements in memory work and prove himself proficient in specific fields such as handicrafts, practical arts, nature study, gardening, first aid, knot tying, woodsmanship, and swimming," explained Pastor Shain.

"In view of the fact that more than 40 per cent of the time of childhood and youth up to the age of 18 is spent outside the home and school," Pastor Shain added, "Seventh - day Adventists have planned a program that will help their young people to make the best use of this time."

The Junior Missionary Volunteer classwork has been carried on by the denomination for nearly 30 years. Recently Pathfinders Clubs for youngsters 9 to 15 years of age have been organized. These are under the guidance of older Missionary Volunteer and provide opportunity for members to develop leadership.

Presbyterians Plan Students Center In Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Negotiations for the purchase of property on which to build a Presbyterian student center at Louisiana Tech are nearing completion. The Rev. W. H. McFadden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe and chairman of the Red River Presbytery's Louisiana Tech student center committee, has announced that the Illinois Central railroad has agreed to sell two lots a block east of the Tech campus on Louisiana Avenue.

The Monroe minister also announced that a Ruston architect, George Lomax, had been engaged to prepare preliminary plans for the proposed building.

Rev. McFadden said that money for the purchase is available and that the transaction would be completed as soon as the title to the property is cleared and the deed is prepared.

West Monroe 1st Baptists Boost Budget To $217,000

The First Baptist Church of West Monroe is completing plans for a gigantic celebration of the pastor's fifth anniversary. Rev. Jaroy Weber came as pastor of the church in May, 1949, and during this five - year period marked progress has been made. According to Melvin A. Bradley, minister of education, 1,448 new members have been added to the church roll during this period; 693 by Baptism and 755 by transfer of membership. Tithes and offerings have risen from $65,000 during his first year to $217,589 on his fifth year.

The Sunday school has increased in average attendance in 1949 from 800 to 1150 this year. The training union has also shown improvement with an increase from 300 to 500 in average attendance.

Bradley stated that goals for attendance on Sunday are set as follows: Sunday school 1,500 and Training Union, 700. In order to boost the work on the $500,000 auditorium now under construction members of the congregation are being asked to "move up" on their pledges and contribute $13,000 next Sunday. With the completion of the auditorium value of the church property will have been increased by $750,000. Just three years ago a $250,000 educational plant was occupied.

REV JAROY WEBER

A reception for Rev. Weber and his family will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 in the banquet hall Sunday afternoon. Friends in the twin cities are invited to join the host who will extend greetings on this occasion.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 16, 1954.

The Golden Text is: "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit." (Rom. 8:5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortal man is

THE HOME SHIFT—

With Mildred Swift

Fertilize Lawn After Long Rain

As the weather gets warmer, you'll need shade for small transplanted annuals. A box or newspaper will serve the purpose for a few days. A starter solution helps them off to a successful start. A tablespoon of 5-10-5 to a quart of water is a good proportion. Pour this around the small plant, and water it in well.

Now is the time to start changing the color of your hydrangeas, if you want them changed. Add sulphur to acidify the soil for blue flowers, lime for alkaline soil for pink ones. Repeat this again next year. It takes two years to completely change the color.

While day lilies are in bloom is the time to select the varieties you want in your garden. The wine colored ones are really lovely. Some gardeners like all yellow.

May is the month that Japanese iris bloom. They are beautiful with their large, flat saucer - like blossoms and vivid colors. They like lots of water at the blooming season. Divide and reset right after blooming. They like soil rich in compost and lots of moisture. They grow well at the edge of a pool. This iris has a sort of fleshy root instead of a rhizome.

You can plant gladiolus bulbs any time. If you're planning for a wedding, allow ninety days from planting date to flowering date. Coleus is a very satisfactory foliage plant to take you through the summer. It does best in semi-shade and you can carry out most any color scheme with this plant. There are shades of red to light pink, green and white and brown.

If you have any broken limbs as a result of winds and storms, saw them off and seal the wound with tree paint.

After all this rain the lawn could stand another feeding with a complete fertilizer or just plain nitrate of soda. Lots of the nitrogen is leached out in heavy rains.

Is there a gardener who has paper plants you'll share with others? So many have called and said the plant sounds attractive but they can't find a start. Call me at 3-251 if you'll share some plants.

The prettiest magnolia I've ever seen is in Mrs. O. M. Grisham's yard, 1908 Riverside. You can get a good view by driving down the street as the very old tree is in the corner of the front yard.

If your rose buds dry up before they open, or if open blossoms become dry and discolored before shattering, look for thrips. They're so small that many people don't notice them. Five per cent DDT will control them. Spray entire plant. Burn old blooms and buds.

Sewing Hints

I notice that dacron thread will soon be on the market. It serves the same purpose as nylon — that is, it keeps the seams from puckering and drawing when stitching on the synthetic materials.

I've been sewing on some cotton voile and I'll tell you my observations — you need a wider hem in the skirt, wider facings for sleeves and neck (if you have no collars and cuffs) than on heavier materials. A thin dress just seems to need that weight. Organdy interfacings are needed for collars, cuffs, pockets and facings. I saw a lovely gray voile made with three large tucks above the hem.

You can wash your plastic rain coats and aprons in your washing machine. Use mild soap and wash only for three minutes. Wipe off all moisture with a dry cloth and hang on the line to dry.

Strawberry Preserves

Strawberries are cheaper now. Maybe you'd like to make a few jars of preserves. Here is a recipe I've used several years. Marguerite Gordon brought it with her from Alabama.

Put one quart of clean dry strawberries in a shallow pan and add three tablespoons of lemon juice. Cook three minutes. Add six cups of sugar and cook six minutes. (Count the minutes from the time the mixture starts boiling.) We in extension offer these further instructions if you want to avoid spoilage, especially mold. Always allow any preserves to stand over night in the syrup. Pack cold in sterilized jars. Seal — water bath for twenty-five minutes at simmering temperature, being sure the water completely covers the jars.

We're having lots of calls for instruction for freezing strawberries. Why not just call 3-2251 and let us send you a bulletin? Of course, this is a free service from your L. S. U. Agricultural Extension Department.

Other Food Notes

Lots of research has been done on angel food cakes. They find that volume of egg white decreases rapidly as egg stays in storage. If you don't know the age of your eggs, it's best to use a recipe that calls for eggs by measure. Fresh eggs make better cakes, researchers found.

Good news! The Brazilian coffee crop is one-half million bags more than predicted. Maybe we'll have a drop in coffee prices some day.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Plant Now For August Flowers

The new tradescantias are very fine plants for the perennial garden. They are tough, disease resistant and permanent plants which increase from year to year without getting out of hand. One thing you must remember about them, however, is that they will close up and give no color in the afternoon. On cool days and on cloudy or rainy days, they will remain open all day, but the ordinary sunshiny day of late spring and early summer just shuts them right up, and you will have nothing but a beautiful clump of clean grassy foliage from about noon on. There are many named varieties of these tradescantias. Some are pink, some lavendar and some are white, but most of them are different shades of blue. They are really best seen in somewhat shady gardens in quantities with the wild flowers. Wild flowers are really just what they are, for they are native to our part of the country. John Tradescant, for whom they were named was gardener to Charles 1st. In a former column, we have given a biographical sketch of this man's life. The name "spider-plant" was given to these perennials because of the spidery effect created by the green bracts or leaves in a cluster about the heads of flowers. Even when the flowers are gone, this foliage is quite clean and good looking.

Tradescantias are not the only plants in the garden which have opening and closing and other peculiarities. Oxalis closes on the cool days when the tradescantias are open. A good many plants turn their flowers all to the south and are no good for show from a pathway if they are planted on the south side of it. Of course, many plants turn a high percentage of their flowers toward the South.

Daffodils are really best seen from the south side for this reason. There are not many cool days in the summer when oxalis will be closed up. The white form of any type of oxalis makes an elegant edger for beds of summer flowers. Be careful not to use too much pink oxalis. It will dominate your color scheme whether you intend for it to or not!

Now is the time to plan for your August flowers. August is perhaps the hardest month in which to have an abundance of flowers in the South, an abundance of them, because there are not as many kinds that bloom in that hot month as in others. Let us start off with the very most important August flowers because of their ability to deal with heat and drouth. Salivia farinacea must come first because it will bloom the month through, if kept cut back a little now and then, after having been in flower most of the late spring and early summer. You can take this perennial up at any time and divide it and water it, and it will go right into action again! Perhaps we should list Veronica longifolia subsellis next because of its spectacular deep blue spikes in hot weather. Next will come ceratostigma which used to be listed as a plumbago. This perennial makes a gorgeous deep bright blue edger in the garden. Remember that the leaves will go to sleep in winter so that you must use something in conjunction with it if you want evergreen leaves in your edging. Next on our list of August flowers is the perennial aster called Wonder of Staffa. The plants will cover nearly a square yard when they are a few years old. In the perennial border, they form a huge mound of blue violet daisy shaped blossoms with yellow centers like our common field daisies. The foliage is eaten by several chewing insects, and leaf miners get into the leaves, too, but the plants seem to survive these ravages and go right on blooming. This wonderful perennial came into our Southern gardens fifteen or twenty years ago and was tested out by gardeners in Virginia and Georgia. Why people have not caught on to it is hard to say. Once they see it, they do not rest until they have it in their gardens because of its great appeal to the eye. There is not another perennial aster that will compare with it for length of blooming season. We have written about it numerous times in the column, but since it does not seem to be showing up in the flower shows, we repeat this information.

For that deep bright pink which looks so fresh in late summer, you should have the variety of Sedum spectabile called "Brilliant." The leaves are handsome throughout the drouths of summer, and then the bright heads flower at a time when not much else is going. We mentioned last year that a few colchicums of the variety Autumn Queen or The Giant planted right next to a clump of sedum makes a breath taking picture. Do not count on the sedum to bloom very long. It does not last more than ten days before the hard rains of late summer may dull it. Cone flowers, the rose, Mrs. B. R. Cant, the annual cleomes and Vinca rosea are still other August flowers about which we have written. If you have the old numbers of the column, you will find fuller information about each of these in them. In the shade, Anemone hupehensis is a pretty magenta pink. Hall's Amaryllis (Lycoris squamigera) can be bought shortly and set out to bloom for you in August.

Life And History Of Trees

The goal for the National Council of State Garden Clubs for the year 1954 is "Conservation of our soil and natural resources." All clubs are urged to study and present programs on this vital necessity for the preservation of our beautiful country. To quote W. R. Thompson, pasture specialist, Mississippi State College, "Conservation is not a problem today, it is an opportunity. There is plenty of information available for all through our colleges, county agents and other sources. All we have to do is get that information and put it to work."

Along these lines, a book that every American should read is the "The Triumph of the Tree" by John Stewart Collis. This book is a history of trees. It is also a history of earth and of man, of mythology, music, agriculture and industry. It falls roughly into three sections: the first deals with the overwhelming importance of the tree in the economy of nature; the second with man's attitude to trees as expressed in his myth, folklore and customs; and the third the wholesale slaughter of trees in our own time and its violent aftermath. This is a beautiful and frightening book. Read it and heed it.

The Iris Garden Club of Delhi provided our flower show this week. Mrs. A. L. Barnes was awarded first place in the arrangement division for a delightful vertical arrangement of pink and purple gladiolus in a soft grey container lined with pink. Second place to Mrs. Raymond Barrios for a crescent design in a low grey bowl using juniper and calendulas in shades of orange and gold. Third place to Mrs. G. B. Bryan. With a pale blue wooden shoe as a container Mrs. Bryan created a triangular sail-like arrangement of yellow calendulas and white daisies. The figurines of Winken, Blinken and Nod completed this charming and whimsical study.

In the horticulture classes, ribbons were awarded to Mrs. W. T. Barrios for gladioli, Mrs. Bob Bradberry for nasturtium, and Mrs. Tom Hall for daisies. Our fifth district director, Mrs. E. B. Knotts and garden center chairman, Mrs. Rupert Scott, both of Wisner Garden Club attended the safety council meetings in Baton Rouge recently.

BETTER JOB, LESS PAY

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)— Miss Virginia Wellford has quit a full-time job with pay in a real estate office to accept one where the salary check is nil. She said it was too big a job to be president of Richmond's Junior League while employed.

"Being president of the Junior League is equivalent to a four-hour-a-day job — only it stretched out all during the day and into the night," Miss Wellford said.

It is a good idea to buy marjoram in powdered form; this way its fine flavor is quickly absorbed and thoroughly distributed through the food on which it is used. Try sprinkling little powdered marjoram over snap beans or green peas.

THE HOME SHIFT—

Fertilize Lawn After Long Rain

As the weather gets warmer, you'll need shade for small transplanted annuals. A box or newspaper will serve the purpose for a few days. A starter solution helps them off to a successful start. A tablespoon of 5-10-5 to a quart of water is a good proportion. Pour this around the small plant, and water it in well.

Now is the time to start changing the color of your hydrangeas, if you want them changed. Add sulphur to acidify the soil for blue flowers, lime for alkaline soil for pink ones. Repeat this again next year. It takes two years to completely change the color.

While day lilies are in bloom is the time to select the varieties you want in your garden. The wine colored ones are really lovely. Some gardeners like all yellow ones.

May is the month that Japanese iris bloom. They are beautiful with their large, flat saucer - like blossoms and vivid colors. They like lots of water at the blooming season. Divide and reset right after blooming. They like soil rich in compost and lots of moisture. They grow well at the edge of a pool. This iris has a sort of fleshy root instead of a rhizome.

You can plant gladiolus bulbs any time. If you're planning for a wedding, allow ninety days from planting date to flowering date. Coleus is a very satisfactory foliage plant to take you through the summer. It does best in semi-shade and you can carry out most any color scheme with this plant. There are shades of red to light pink, green and white and brown.

If you have any broken limbs as a result of winds and storms, saw them off and seal the wound with tree paint.

After all this rain the lawn could stand another feeding with a complete fertilizer or just plain nitrate of soda. Lots of the nitrogen is leached out in heavy rains.

Is there a gardener who has paper plants you'll share with others? So many have called and said the plant sounds attractive but they can't find a start. Call me at 3-251 if you'll share some plants.

The prettiest magnolia I've ever seen is in Mrs. O. M. Grisham's yard, 1908 Riverside. You can get a good view by driving down the street as the very old tree is in the corner of the front yard.

If your rose buds dry up before they open, or if open blossoms become dry and discolored before shattering, look for thrips. They're so small that many people don't notice them. Five per cent DDT will control them. Spray entire plant. Burn old blooms and buds.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. One survey showed only one woman out of 100 thought this the most important quality. "Being a good provider" led the list by 62 percent. Next in order were "Faithfulness," "Kindness," "Consideration," "Good company." Only 3 per cent said "love and devotion," and one per cent suggested "Good father." Maybe they assumed these qualities required intelligence.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. True — billions. Over 60,000 teachers since 1946 left for better paid jobs. Pupils have increased by millions. The only way to correct this is to pay teachers more money and give them rooms to teach in. Otherwise we'll go on raising ignorant, inefficient citizens. California, as one example, is short 13,000 teachers.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, numerous studies show this. In one study of over 1,400 married persons in America and Sweden, more husbands who had been engaged twenty months were happy than those engaged only fourteen months. Women engaged nineteen months had happier marhappier than those engaged only fourteen months.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: We have been married for six years and have three children. A month before our third child was born someone told me that my husband had had an affair with a girl while I was in the hospital having the second baby. He denied it, and I believed him.

Later, however, when I had more proof, he admitted it, begged forgiveness and promised to be a good husband. In a weak moment I agreed to forget it. However, three months have passed and whenever we argue about something it comes back to me and I get mad and hurt all over. Then, I want to take the children and leave. He becomes very angry and says that I do not want to forget it; that I will always hold it against him.

He doesn't realize that he has had several years to forget it while I just learned of it. Do you think he can really love me, or should I leave?—Mrs. J. V.

You, your husband and I are all in perfect agreement that he was a stinker. But, let's face it — many husbands have been as bad and far worse. And, now he is right. It is water over the dam regardless of the precise moment you learned of it.

Just make up your mind, tootsie, to stop hanging on to it once and for all or ruin your life, your marriage and the futures of your children. The important thing, right now, is hanging on to your marriage — not your grievance. You just think you can walk out on your husband.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a happily married woman with no children and have a good job. I'll have to admit for the benefit of those who think working is more important than a family that after three years I'm still praying for the happy day I can leave my job to take care of my own child!

Now, my problem is this: My husband's brother is marrying my girl friend. Since my parents have known both the girl and boy and their families for a long time, which side of the church should they sit in? Also, is it proper to have a wedding breakfast and not invite brothers and sisters?— M. L. S.

This is a wedding your parents are attending — not a fight. They don't have to choose sides! With eyes only for one another I don't think the bride and groom will care on which side of the church your parents sit. Since they are not related to either and have been friends to both, they can take their choice.

If others are being invited to the breakfast, the sisters and brothers should be included. If this is a breakfast for the wedding party after the ceremony and before the public reception, the brothers and sisters are not necessarily among those present.

Dear Ann: I am 18 and quit school when I was 16. Everyone said I would be sorry, and I am very sorry that I didn't finish. I had three years to go. If I go back, now, I would be too old when I finished. What do you think? — Troubled.

What difference does it make how old you are when you finish high school? The important thing is to be graduated. Ten years from now it will not matter at what age you were graduated. Certainly, go back and finish. Or go to night school or an extension school. Drop in to see the principal and let him or her advise you.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

By Josephine Lowman

This is the time of year we begin to dream of travel and vacations.

Want To Take Trips? Leave Work Behind

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This is the time of year when we all get an itching foot and begin to dream of travel and vacations. The message which "Why Grow Old?" brings you each year is even if you can't go abroad or on an expensive, extensive trip, take a vacation of some kind.

Many persons go along year after year with no change of scenery or pace. They feel that they simply cannot afford the money or the time. No one is indispensable and you have only one life on this earth. Make it as pleasant and as long as you can!

With more and more persons dying of heart and circulatory troubles, we should heed nature's warning. Human beings must have some rest. They cannot stand the strain of constant tension and hurry and worry. All sorts of physical troubles are being chalked up to emotional factors.

Leave Work at Home

And, when you go on your vacation do not take your work and responsibilities along with you. Leave them strictly at home. Lots of folks feel that they must take some work along with them, or if this is not the case, they at least take it along in their minds. They never completely forget it. They never get completely into the holiday mood.

The holiday mood alone is a vacation. How long has it been since you felt completely free of responsibility? Manage to snatch a couple of weeks from this year, weeks to call your own. You will come back refreshed in mind and spirit and body.

Weigh All Factors

Take time to think carefully about what you want to do, about what will give you the greatest pleasure. Weigh all of the factors involved before laying your plans.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 69, "Tricks in Camping," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of Morning World.

SHAPELY FIGURE OF FASHION IN COUTURE PATTERN BY CABANA

PATTERN A741
A CABANA ORIGINAL
by Isabel Dobson

PROMINENT DESIGNER—"The HIT OF MY COLLECTION—it's the Empire-princess line," American designer Isabel Dodson declares. "Simple as can be—but oh, that wide-away neckline above the petticoat skirt does marvelous things for any woman's femininity—and figure!" This young designer with a sparkling approach to fashion thinks a brief sleeve is more flattering than the bare-arm look. We're sure most of you agree with her. We certainly do! Miss Dobson's Original for Cabana is a print pique in turquoise on white. "I'd like to see it," she says, "in icy white or dramatic black—or any one of the sparkling sea and sun colors." Home dressmakers might make their version in linen, taffeta, or faille as well as cotton is the advice of this leading designer to you, our readers.

Pattern A741 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 requires 5¼ yards 35-inch fabric.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. One survey showed only one woman out of 100 thought this the most important quality. "Being a good provider" led the list by 62 percent. Next in order were "Faithfulness," "Kindness," "Consideration," "Good company." Only 3 per cent said "love and devotion," and one per cent suggested "Good father." Maybe they assumed these qualities required intelligence.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. True — billions. Over 60,000 teachers since 1946 left for better paid jobs. Pupils have increased by millions. The only way to correct this is to pay teachers more money and give them rooms to teach in. Otherwise we'll go on raising ignorant, inefficient citizens. California, as one example, is short 13,000 teachers.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, numerous studies show this. In one study of over 1,400 married persons in America and Sweden, more husbands who had been engaged twenty months were happy than those engaged only fourteen months. Women engaged nineteen months had happier marhappier than those engaged only fourteen months.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: We have been married for six years and have three children. A month before our third child was born someone told me that my husband had had an affair with a girl while I was in the hospital having the second baby. He denied it, and I believed him.

Later, however, when I had more proof, he admitted it, begged forgiveness and promised to be a good husband. In a weak moment I agreed to forget it. However, three months have passed and whenever we argue about something it comes back to me and I get mad and hurt all over. Then, I want to take the children and leave. Marine Corps Is Sponsor Of Toni Arden Radio Show

Miss Toni Arden, called "America's dramatic song stylist," is now on a 13-week transcribed series for the United States Marine Corps and will be heard in the Monroe area at 9:15 p.m. each Wednesday. The program, called the "Toni Arden Show" is a bright all music show being emceed by Joe King.

The meteoric rise of popular songstress Toni Arden was no accident. Toni's father, a one-time Metropolitan Opera singer, took charge of Toni's musical training when she was still quite young. Toni's received the best training avilable, and learned foreign languages as part of her vocal schooling.

That her early training was time well spent became apparent when Toni landed a spot with Al Trace on a network radio show at age sixteen. From there she moved on to become vocalist with Shep Fields.

Toni's big break came with a appearance on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" show. That appearance marked Toni Arden's arrival as a singing star. She signed a Columbia records contract and proceeded to record some of the nation's outstanding song hits, among them "Kiss of Fire" and "Never."

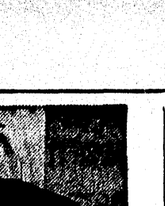
ACT OF LOVE—A sensational story of love that dared the maelstrom and moralities of war-inflamed France involves Kirk Douglas and the new French star, Dany Robin, in this scene from Anatole Litvak's "Act of Love" now at the Paramount Theatre.

In Hollywood



By Jimmy Fidler

Woman Producer

By HARRIET PARSONS
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, May 15 — Being a woman motion picture producer is the nearest thing to being a woman in a man's world that is imaginable. In other professions the woman has taken her place in competition to men and in most instances has more than held her own. In the motion picture production field, however, not more than a handful of women have successfully faced the male competition and managed to hold on.

There has always been a place for the woman producer and there always will be. In my opinion, a woman has just as much chance to reach the producer status as does a man — in some instances perhaps even more. I would honestly say that most women do not aspire to become producers, primarily because of the long hours, hard work and male resistance to women bosses. Women have just as much ability as do the men.

Invariably, when I meet someone I am asked how it happened that I became a film producer.

It didn't happen. I wanted to be a film producer and I set out to become one. I served my years of apprenticeship learning the million - and - one details that a producer's job entails. I spent hours studying and breaking down old budgets to analyze the whys and wherefores. I practically lived in the cutting rooms, camera and property departments, mills and miniature shops. I spent endless hours with unit production managers and assistants. In short, I spent years in learning the trade.

Once I felt "armed" with knowledge, I sold Columbia on letting me produce a series of short subjects, "Screen Snapshots," which were no more than a series of feature-type newsreels on the lives of the movie stars. But to me, this assignment gave me a chance to put my ideas and theories to work. They worked well.

Next I branched out into feature production, making a Judy Canova picture, "Joan of Ozarks." It was a success. I next moved to RKO, where I still am. I have made several films here including "The Enchanted Cottage," "Night Song," "I Remember Mama," "Never a Dull Moment," "Clash by Night," and most recently, "Susan Slept Here" which will be released to the public early in July.

Another phase that pleased about this film was that I got several newcomers to do important roles and several top rated actors to do bit parts.

Most prominent of these newcomers is Alvy Moore, a young comedian, whom you'll be seeing plenty in the days to come. Among the top players and stars doing bits are Ellen Corby, Benny Rubin and Red Skelton. Needless to say, the appearance of these big name players lend a pleasing and surprising touch to the picture.

During the months that I worked on "Susan," I spent 10-to-12 hour days at the studio. First there was the script, next the budget (always a major problem in these days when a producer has to squeeze the last penny's worth of value out of his inflated dollar), then came endless hour in approving set and dress designs and the follow through. Casting is a major problem and the endless hours with agents trying to work out salaries and billings.

Of course, the procedure is routine, but with a woman producer, each new picture is a new adventure for each time out she must face the problem of a new and different technical crew — most of whom are men and, never having worked with a woman boss before sometimes resent the intruder. It's up to the woman producer to understand this, face it, and then set out to win over each man in her crew so that all will be in there pitching to get a good picture. So far I have been fortunate in securing intelligent men who, after a brief stand-offishness, decided that I knew what I was talking about and from there on in worked whole heartedly.

To become a successful woman producer, a woman has to want to be a producer more than anything else in the world. She has to give the job everything she's got every working hour. If she's fairly intelligent and willing to do that, she has a pretty fair chance of making her dreams come true.

There's nothing more exciting in the world than to start with an idea and see it develop into a good motion picture and when it comes to ideas, the men haven't any corner on the market.

OMAHA, Neb. — Leave your child alone and he'll walk soon enough, advises the president of the National Assn. of Chiropodists. Dr. Stewart E. Marine Corps Is Sponsor Of Toni Arden Radio Show

Miss Toni Arden, called "America's dramatic song stylist," is now on a 13-week transcribed series for the United States Marine Corps and will be heard in the Monroe area at 9:15 p.m. each Wednesday. The program, called the "Toni Arden Show" is a bright all music show being emceed by Joe King.

The meteoric rise of popular songstress Toni Arden was no accident. Toni's father, a one-time Metropolitan Opera singer, took charge of Toni's musical training when she was still quite young. Toni's received the best training avilable, and learned foreign languages as part of her vocal schooling.

That her early training was time well spent became apparent when Toni landed a spot with Al Trace on a network radio show at age sixteen. From there she moved on to become vocalist with Shep Fields.

Toni's big break came with a appearance on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" show. That appearance marked Toni Arden's arrival as a singing star. She signed a Columbia records contract and proceeded to record some of the nation's outstanding song hits, among them "Kiss of Fire" and "Never."

Ransom School Presents Outdoor Opera Of Charm

The speaking parts were well done by Johnny Patrick as Chief Hollyhock and his two assistants, Newton Campbell and Joe Martin; Flora Halsey as Page Pansy; Johnnie Rae Warren as Boston Daisy; Ila Kay Guraedy as Madam Goldenrod; Nickie Rodgers as Cottonblossom; and Louis Whitlock and Gayle Pinckard as magnolias.

Each class had chosen a nation to represent with a flower, a flag bearer, and a group of dancers in colorful native costumes. The flowers of the nations truly looked like flowers in their costumes made to resemble flowers. These children were the soloists for the operetta. They included Myra Vancleave as a fleur de lis of France; Annette Frazier, a violet of Russia; Dianne Bennett, Pomegranate of Spain; Gay Monroe, edelweis of Switzerland; Jerry Kirkland, thistle of Scotland; Beth Lasyone, cornflower of Germany; Lillie Mae Shell, rose of England; Pat Guraedy, American beauty rose; Linda Fletcher, narcissus of China, and Judy Simmons, tulip of Holland.

The flag bearers were: Russia, Charlie Hatten; France, Jimmy Frost; Spain, Jimmy Tripp; Switzerland, Jerry Duff; Scotland, Ronnie Robicheaux; Germany, Eugene Windham; England, Janelle Bartnette; Holland, Benita Brooks; China Jimmy Purdy; America, Dennis Pinckard.

The American beauty rose represented by Pat Guraedy, was chosen as the most beautiful flower in all the world. She was crowned queen of the flowers by Chief Hollyhock. Her costume, an original creation designed by her mother, was truly a great work of art. The skirt, designed to resemble an American beauty rose, was made of satin petals while the bodice was tightly fitted and sprinkled with rhinestones to resemble dew drops. Her glittering slippess were of an exact shade of the dress.

A dramatic climax was reached as the spotlight followed Dennis Pinckard, carrying a huge American flag; Morgan Weston dressed as Uncle Sam; and Johnette Osborn as the Statue of Liberty down the long isle to the platform. During this tableau, Mrs. Clark led the entire assemblage in singing "God Bless America." A colorful recessional followed.

NOW! NEW COLGATE DENTAL CREAM CONTAINS GARDOL (*SODIUM N-LAUROYL SARCOSINATE)

5 Proof that Brings New Hope to Millions for LIFETIME PROTECTION AGAINST TOOTH DECAY

5 QUICK FACTS FROM THE READER'S DIGEST ARTICLE "What About Anti-Enzyme Toothpastes?" December, 1953

1. Reader's Digest says—The most effective anti-enzyme toothpaste ingredient tested was developed in the Colgate laboratories. (It's Colgate's miracle ingredient Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate)—found in no other leading toothpaste!)

2. Reader's Digest says—One of the foremost dental authorities in the world proved that this ingredient binds itself effectively to the tooth—holds acid formation below the decay level in 95 per cent of cases tested. (Unlike ordinary toothpaste ingredients, effective only for minutes, this protection won't rinse off — won't wear off—all day or all night!)

3. Reader's Digest says—Even 12 hours after brushing, this new Colgate anti-enzyme discovery continues to guard against the enzymes that cause tooth decay. (Thus, regular morning and night use guards against decay-causing enzymes every minute of the day and night!)

4. Reader's Digest says—In full-year clinical tests, X rays showed far fewer cavities for those people who used New Colgate's with Gardol! No new cavities for 4 out of 5. (Distinguished dentists examined this evidence and agreed—New Colgate's with Gardol gives the surest protection against decay ever offered by any toothpaste!)

5. Reader's Digest says—New Colgate Dental Cream is the only toothpaste with clinical proof of such effectiveness in actually reducing the formation of new cavities.

Reader's Digest Reports:

NOW! NEW COLGATE DENTAL CREAM CONTAINS GARDOL

5 QUICK FACTS FROM THE READER'S DIGEST ARTICLE

"What About Anti-Enzyme Toothpastes?" December, 1953

1. Reader's Digest says—The most effective anti-enzyme toothpaste ingredient tested was developed in the Colgate laboratories.

2. Reader's Digest says—One of the foremost dental authorities in the world proved that this ingredient binds itself effectively to the teeth—holds acid formation below the decay level in 95 per cent of cases tested.

3. Reader's Digest says—Even 12 hours after brushing, this new Colgate anti-enzyme discovery continues to guard against the enzymes that cause tooth decay.

4. Reader's Digest says—In full-year clinical tests, X rays showed far fewer cavities for those people who used New Colgate's with Gardol! No new cavities for 4 out of 5.

(Distinguished dentists examined this evidence and agreed—New Colgate's with Gardol gives the surest protection against decay ever offered by any toothpaste!)

5. Reader's Digest says—New Colgate Dental Cream is the only toothpaste with clinical proof of such effectiveness in actually reducing the formation of new cavities.
